Stocks closed steady with net changes trivial though losses predominated.

Chief feature to the trading in wheat yesterday was the general selling of December, which closed 1-2 to 5-8c lower. Corn and oats were each up 1-4c. Provisions closed 2 1-2 to 10c higher.

Dry goods are not declining in strength, but the financial situaion is causing a slight inclination to an increase of conservatism.

JAPAN CALLS MORE TROOPS TO THE FIELD

Situation in the Far East Seems To Be Tending to War.

IMMEDIATE RUPTURE NOT THOUGHT LIKELY

But All the News Indicates That Russia and Japan Will Settle Their Differences by an Appeal to the Sword.

Yokohama, October 22.—It is currently reported that the check in the negotiations is due to the Japanese demand for equal railway rights in Manchuria, but it is believed that a more serious difficulty exists.

The feeling of popular unrest is growing. The ashaf of Tokio announced today that a preliminary mobilization order had been issued to the thirteenth army division. Though this was officially denied, the report coincides with much open preparations against contingencies.

Thirteen vessels of the Japanese squadron are engaged in gun practice off Sascho, 25 miles from Nagasaki.

No Fear of Immediate Rupture.

London, October 22.—A dispatch from Reuters Telegraph Company from Tokio says:

"It is said that another conference of the elder statesmen will be convened tomorrow when decisions having important bearings on the future course of events are expected, although there is no fear of an immediate rupture. In the meanwhile precautionary preparations are progressing.

"It is reported from Pekin that M. Lessar, the Russian minister, has addressed a long note to Prince Ching, head of the Chinese foreign office, saying that Japan's interference in the Manchurian question will compel Russia to adopt final measures and threatening China with severe punishment if she sides with Japan. This action, while the negotiations are pending, has caused deep umbrage."

Russia's Eastern Squadron.

St. Petersburg, October 22.—A request of the Associated Press today for a statement from the foreign office indicating Russia's position in connection with the Far Eastern question elicited only the significant reading of a less reassuring dispatch from Tokio.

The newspapers here say the Russian Pacific squadron consists of fifty-four warships, including six battle ships, eight first-class and five second-class cruisers, seven seagoing gunboats, two torpedo cruisers, two torpedo transports and twenty-four torpedo boat destroyers, having an aggregate of 750 officers and 13,200 men. There are now on the way to the Far East two battle ships, three first-class cruisers and eleven torpedo boats of various classes with 164 officers and 3,284 men.

The Novoe Vremya declares that many of the most influential Japanese papers are subsidized by Americans and Englishmen.

Attitude of Viceroy.

Berlin, October 22.—It has been announced that the Russian viceroy of the Far East, Admiral Alexieff, is opposed to the opening of the Manchurian towns to foreign trade. This has excited no surprise here. The treaty of commerce between the United States and China recently signed at Shanghai provides that suitable concession be given at Moukden and An-Tung for the residence of foreigners and for their commerce. Russia's latest proposals to China, which embody Viceroy Alexieff's policy, stipulate that such concessions be given only to Russians.

The officials of the Japanese legation here say that the negotiations at Tokio between Russia and Japan are proceeding satisfactorily.

Gunboats Are Ready.

London, October 22.—The Tien Tsin correspondent of The Standard say that three American, Russian and British gunboats are preparing to go into winter quarters at New Chwang. Similar preparations on the part of Japanese gunboats were stopped by telegraphic orders from Tokio.

EWING CHARGE WAS IGNORED.

Mississippi Diocesan Committee on the Controversy.

Jackson, Miss., October 22.—(Special.)—The standing committee of the Episcopal diocese of Mississippi met here tonight and discussed the transfer of Rev. Quincy Ewing, of Greenville, to the Church of the Advent, at Birmingham, which was made the subject of such controversy a short time ago on account of the refusal of Bishop Beckwith to approve the transfer, for the reason that Mr. Ewing was chaged with having performed a marriage ceremony in violation of the divorce laws of the church.

After a lengthy discussion the committee reaffirmed its former action, ignoring the charge. As Bishop Beckwith has since given his consent this closed the incident.

Slump in Coke Trade.

Connellsville, Pa., October 22.—The coke trade continues to slump and each day is adding to the list of idle ovens. There was nearly 1,000 ovens blown out last week. The idle list is now over 7,000 in the Connellsville region and about 1,000 in the New Masontown field.

Sale of Clay's Home.

Richmond, Ky., October 22.—Whitehall, the famous home of the late General Cassius Marcellus Clay, was sold at public auction today, by Warfield Bennett, a grandson of the "Sage of Whitehall." The estate proper, containing 350 acres, was sold for a total of $29,225.

BE VERY CAREFUL OF YOUR KISSES

That Is the Advice Prophet Dowie Gives to New Yorkers.

Elijah Says That Gladstone Never Kissed a Woman Outside of His Family—Some of the Crusaders Are Ready To Quit.

New York, October 22.—Two hundred of the followers of John Alexander Dowie indicated that they were tired of the work of reforming New York city and wanted to return to Zion City when the "general overseer" invited all who wanted to give up the work and give others a chance to take it up to step forward at the early meeting in Madison Square Garden today.

Dowie at that meeting said he should endeavor to convert the pope. He added that he had received many bogus checks since coming to New York, but that others had been good.

"There is no need for followers to rush back to Zion," said he, "because of these suits by merchants of Chicago. They are against me personally and not against Zion."

Turning his attention to kissing, Dowie said people should be careful of their kisses, and use them carefully even in the family.

"Why, my son Gladstone never kissed a woman outside the family," he said.

William A. Brady, the theatrical manager, who, with Lorenzo Winter, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct in the crowd about Dowie's meeting in Madison Square Garden last night, was discharged in police court today.

Mr. Winter was paroled to give him an opportunity to bring witnesses to testify to the brutality and bad judgment of the police.

At the forenoon meeting, Dowie announced that he would join his wife in Adelaide, Australia, in April. He spoke moderately for a while. About a thousand of the audience left the hall. A group of young men added to the disturbance by yelling and pounding on the side doors of the garden. Dowie closed the service suddenly.

NEGRO GREETED BY ROOSEVELT

He Congratulates President of Black Republic on His Election.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, October 22.—United States Minister Powell delivered yesterday at the national palace an autograph letter from President Roosevelt congratulating General Wos y Gil upon his election as constitutional president of the republic.

Mr. Powell, in the course of his remarks, referred to the kind wishes of the president and people of the United States for the prosperity of the Dominican republic, adding that if the Dominicans desired to maintain this friendship it was necessary for the government of Santo Domingo to live up to its obligations and carry out fully its agreements. Mr. Powell pointed out that the Washington government did not seek to destroy the autonomy of this republic and was ready in case of necessity to protect its territorial rights. But the United States would not interfere to protect Santo Domingo against its lawful creditors.

President Gil replied that Santo Domingo intended to act in complete accord with its powerful neighbor, and said it was the government's intention to settle all differences amicably. He thanked the American minister for the kind words conveyed to him from President Roosevelt and said he was glad to know Mr. Roosevelt desired the prosperity of Santo Domingo and its people.

BIG MINING SUIT SETTLED.

Property Valued at $10,000,000 Goes To Augustus Heinze.

Butte, Mont., October 22.—Judge Clancy, in the district court here today, decided the famous Minnie Healy mining suit in favor of F. Augustus Heinze, whose claims to the mine have been opposed by the Boston and Montana Mining Company, one of the allied amalgamated copper corporations.

The value of the mine is estimated at $10,000,000. The case previously was decided in Heinze's favor by Judge Harney, of Butte, but was sent back by the supreme court for trial for alleged improper conduct by Judge Harney during the pendency of the case in his court.

The decision rendered prevents the Boston and Montana from paying any dividend and it is stated will tie up that concern until the injunction is dissolved. The Boston and Montana, next to the Anaconda, is the most valuable property the amalgamated copper company owns.

CHIEF JOYNER WILL SHAPE IT.

Accepts Invitation To Organize Jackson Fire Department.

Jackson, Miss., October 22.—(Special.)—Chief Joyner, of the Atlanta fire department, has accepted the invitation of the city officials of Jackson to assist in the organization of a paid fire department here and promises to undertake the work in November.

Collieries To Be Idle.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., October 22.—Beginning on Mitchell day, October 29, all of the collieries operated by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company in the Wyoming region will be idle for one week. It is announced tonight that other collieries of the various coal companies will also shut down for the week and that suspension of operations for the week will be general throughout the entire anthracite region.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

W. R. HEARST IS GUEST OF ATLANTA TODAY

Distinguished Guest Will Be Royally Entertained During His Visit Here---Is Guest of Fair Association.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST will be royally entertained in Atlanta today from the time he reaches the city at 11:40 o'clock this morning until his departure at midnight. Urgent engagements in Washington and New York have made it impossible for Mr. Hearst to remain in Atlanta longer than Friday evening; his time of arrival here was made later than was intended owing to a wreck in the west, which delayed his train.

Upon their arrival in Atlanta the Hearst party will be met at the depot by President E. C. Peters, of the fair association, and a committee of fair directors, to be named by President Peters. Mr. Hearst will be the guest while in Atlanta of the fair association, and he will be greeted by officials of the association. A committee from the Young Men's Democratic League will also be on hand to welcome him in behalf of the democracy of the city.

The party will proceed to Piedmont park shortly after arriving in Atlanta and the Georgia editors who will be present at the fair will be given an opportunity to meet Mr. Hearst personally. This reception will be of a very informal nature.

At 2 o'clock at the fair grounds the barbecue will be served. This is a special compliment to Mr. Hearst and the visiting newspaper men by the fair association. The barbecue will be prepared and served under the direction of such culinary artists as Chief W. R. Joyner, Captain Dick Rust and Howlett Oyner. The barbecue will be served promptly at 2 o'clock in order to give Mr. Hearst an opportunity to make a thorough inspection of the Georgia School of Technology during the afternoon.

Leaving the fair grounds, the party will proceed to the Tech and the institution will be thrown open for Mr. Hearst's inspection. He has made a large donation to the school, and is greatly interested in its success.

From 6 to 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the Piedmont hotel, Mr. Hearst will be tendered an informal reception by the Young Men's Democratic League. The reception will be a public affair, and those who are anxious to meet the distinguished editor will be given an opportunity to do so at this time.

Dinner by Newspapers.

At 8 o'clock in the evening at the Capital City Club the Hearst party will be entertained at dinner by The Constitution, The Journal and The News. On account of the departure of Mr. Hearst Friday night, other functions that were planned for his entertainment and in his honor have been canceled.

At a meeting of the reception committee of the Young Men's Democratic League, held in the office of President Madison Bell, in the Century building, yesterday morning, it was decided to tender a public reception to Mr. Hearst at the Piedmont hotel, between the hours of 6 and 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. Various forms of entertainment were suggested, but the committee was anxious to have a big popular gathering in honor of the distinguished democrat, so as to enable all members of the league, the public generally and the ladies especially, to meet and greet the New York editor.

A committee composed of all those present at the meeting was appointed by the chairman to meet the Hearst party upon the arrival of their special train in the city. The members of the committee and of the league will bear a bright red ribbon bearing the letters, "Y. M. D. L."

The reception in the evening will be given just after the return of the Hearst party from an inspection of the Georgia School of Technology, and will occupy about an hour and a half. The spacious reception room of the Piedmont on the first floor of the hotel, will be used and will be specially decorated for the occasion. An orchestra will discourse popular patriotic airs during the progress of the reception. Madison Bell, president; John Corrigan, chairman of the reception committee, and Albert Howell, Jr., chairman of the executive committee of the league, will look after the details of the entertainment. Mr. Bell will arrange to have Editor Hearst say a few words of greeting to the ladies and gentlemen present at the reception, if practicable to do so.

Other Prominent Guests.

Among the prominent public officials and distinguished men who have been invited by the league to be their guests at the same time are Governor Joseph Terrell, Mayor Evan P. Howell, Hon. Hoke Smith, Judge William T. Newman, Judge John S. Candler, Judge T. J. Simmons, Judge Andrew J. Cobb, Judge H. M. Turner, Judge Joseph Lamar, Judge J. H. Lumpkin, Judge H. M. Reid, Judge Andrew Calhoun, Judge Nash R. Broyles, Attorney General John Hart, State Treasurer R. E. Park, Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens, Comptroller General W. A. Wright, Secretary of State Phil Cook, State School Commissioner W. B. Merritt, Judge J. D. Turner, Tom Eason, General Clement A. Evans, State Geologist W. S. Yeates, ex-Governor Northen, Judge T. P. Westmoreland, Judge R. T. Dorsey and Colonel A. J. West.

The members of the reception committee to meet the guest of honor and assist at the entertainment in the evening are Shepard Bryan, William M. Goodwin, Hugh M. Dorsey, Frank Weldon, Russell Hopkins, J. W. English, Jr., Sewell Black, Dr. L. P. Stephens, Hooper Alexander, Colonel J. K. Ohl, Hon. John Temple Graves, Hon. Clark Howell, Judge Ernest Kontz, Walter Dean, Jerome Jones, W. T. Newman, Jr., James R. Gray and H. T. West.

WIFE'S BRAINS WERE SHOT OUT

Old Shotgun Goes Off While Young Farmer Was Handling It.

Villa Rica, Ga., October 22.—(Special.) Claud Smith, a young farmer living out near Wesley Chapel church, 3 miles from town, accidentally shot his wife's brains out today about 1 o'clock by carelessly handling an old shotgun. Mrs. Smith is yet alive, but there is no chance for her recovery. The couple had been married only two months.

Young Smith says if his wife dies he will kill himself also.

Memphis Jockey Kills Himself.

St. Louis, Octooer 22.—Avery Kelly Ferguson, of Memphis, a jockey, shot himself through the head in the presence of his brother and a little girl Monday night, dying from the wound Tuesday. Ferguson had been ill of typhoid fever for some weeks and it is believed he shot himself because of despondency resulting from his illness.

Dr. McGlaughlin Talks.

Washington, October 22.—The biennial session of the general convention of the Universalist church began here today. Rev. W. H. McGlauflin, of Atlanta, talked about the influence of the home. The boarding house and the hotel may have a choice menu, he said, but it is in the home that the Lord chooses to spread the table of spiritual bounties.

EYES OF POLITICIANS TURNED ON HEARST

Much Interest Manifested at Washington in Editor's Atlanta Visit.

FRIENDS OF THE EDITOR ARE ACTIVE EVERYWHERE

An Interesting Fight in Mr. Hearst's Behalf Is On in the District of Columbia—Gossip About Judge Jim Griggs.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, October 22.—(Special.)—Politicians here in Washington are watching with very considerable interest the visit of Hon. W. R. Hearst to Atlanta and the south. The significance of that visit may be, in a sense, magnified, for Washington is prone to attribute political importance to every move which any public man makes; but there are a great many people here who seem to believe that Mr. Hearst's visit to Georgia is only part of a well-defined plan to cultivate a friendship which may materialize in the shape of delegates to the next democratic national convention. While of course no such purpose appears on the face of things, his recent tour of the territories and his trip through the southern states are regarded here as having their chief inspiration in the very natural presidential aspirations of the young man who has achieved such notable success in the creation of great newspapers in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, which stand preeminently for the interests of the democratic masses.

It will never be possible to convince Washington that there was anything else than politics in the visit of Judge Parker to Georgia during the summer. That there was no Parker "boom" as the result of that visit does not in the least affect the conviction in the mind of the average Washington politician that the inspiration of that visit—either in the mind of the eminent jurist or of some of his Georgia admirers—was political. And in the same direction is Mr. Heart's present visit taken as of particular significance.

Hearst Men Very Active.

There is an abundance of evidence tending to show that the friends of Mr. Hearst are just now active in many different directions. Of course he is not an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination at this stage of the proceedings; but he would not be human if he did not feel that to be selected as standard bearer of a great political party is an honor to be coveted; and while he may not be an avowed candidate, he is willing for his friends to be helping along the idea that he is one of the most available men, if not the one most available. And these friends are just now doing more active work in his behalf than is being done in behalf of any of the other eminent gentlemen who may properly be regarded possibilities.

This fact has manifested itself in a number of different directions, but nowhere has it taken a more interesting turn than here in Washington, where there is a very active Hearst movement headed by Mr. Cotter T. Bride. The particular significance of Mr. Bride's prominence in this movement lies in this gentleman's having gained such distinction as he has through being recognized as "the closest personal friend and chief political lieutenant" of Mr. Bryan in the District of Columbia. When he was a member of congress, Mr. Bryan lived at the home of Mr. Bride up on Capitol Hill, a short block from the capitol, and ever since then Mr. Bride has lost no opportunity to display the Bryan trade-mark.

Says Hearst Leads.

Of late he and his political friends have been quietly at work organizing in the different old legislative districts in Mr. Hearst's behalf, and now he declares: "There is more enthusiasm among district democrats for Mr. Hearst than was ever shown for a presidential candidate prior to the convention, within my knowledge. I feel absolutely certain we will carry the primaries and elect a decisive majority of delegates to the city convention which will select the delegates to the national convention. I figure now that at least half of the twenty-two districts are committed to Hearst and that within the next two weeks we will show where we have at least two-thirds."

There are always two factions in the District of Columbia democracy, and heretofore the faction with which Mr. Bride has affiliated has been on the minority side in most of the contests which have been chiefly for representation upon the national committee; but if conditions are as he pictures them, he has stolen a march upon those who have usually opposed him.

Mr. Hearst's recent tour of the territories is looked at here as a shrewd move to make himself popular with the democrats living in those political divisions of the country which are clamoring for statehood. He had as his guests upon that tour a number of democratic fellow members of congress who went primarily to study the conditions bearing upon statehood, which is sure to again become an issue before congress. The one thing nearest the hearts of democrats and republicans in Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Indian Territory is statehood; and he who contributes to the upbuilding of statehood sentiment in either party is sure to have their friendship and support.

Territorial Delegates Are Valuable.

The question may be asked: Of what value these political moves in the territories when the residents there have no vote in the presidential election?

The value becomes manifest when it is recalled that each of the territories is given the same representation in the national conventions of both the great parties as is accorded a state which has a single member of the lower house of congress—six for each territory. The votes of these delegates from the territories are as valuable, according to numerical strength, as votes from any of the states. Sometimes a good deal depends upon the vote of a representative from one of the territories. It will be recalled, for instance, that the deciding vote in the platform committee of the Kansas City convention was that of Prince David, the Kanaka nobleman, who, by what seems a peculiar irony of fate, represented Hawaii on that committee. The silver plank of the platform of 1900 was adopted by the aid of the votes from the territories.

These things are all being pointed out in the discussion over the visit of Mr. Hearst and his party to the territories.

Hearst and Griggs.

One phase of the present discussion which has particular interest to Georgia is that which connects the name of the popular congressman from the second district, Judge Jim Griggs, with the Hearst developments. Here and in New York Judge Griggs is looked upon as Mr. Hearst's chief political adviser. It is taken for granted that should Mr. Hearst be nominated for the presidency, Judge Griggs would almost certainly be selected as chairman of the national committee. The excellent results obtained by the congressional committee under the Georgian's management, when the republican majority in the house was very materially reduced, have made him a marked man in the political world; and it is by no means improbable that he will be the next chairman of the national committee no matter who may be nominated for the presidency.

There is nothing to indicate that Judge Griggs is taking any active part in the present Hearst movement except to lose no opportunity to express his personal friendship for the gentleman from New York; but wherever there is presidential talk, the names of the two men are linked together.

GLADDEN GIVES CREDIT TO SOUTH

For What It Has Done To Elevate the Negro.

Discussing the Race Problem, He Urges the American Missionary Board To Active Work. Refers to South's Franchise Laws.

Cleveland, October 22.—The closing meeting of the American Missionary Association was held tonight.

Dr. Washington Gladden, of Columbus, made an address on the negro problem, in which he said the solution of the question was further away today than it was at the close of the civil war; that the task of helping the negro to manhood is increasing in complexity, and that the people of the south deserve great credit for what they have done for the negro. The American Missionary Association has funds amounting to more than a million dollars, he said, the income of which it is required to spend in the southern field for negro education. Other societies have similar trusts. They cannot be transferred, they must be conscientiously administered to sustain missionary work. To suspend missionary work in the south would check the forward movement of what is proving to be very helpful in its results.

The negro in the greater part of the south was declared to be disfranchised and "he is no longer a free and responsible citizen; he is a subject, must pay taxes and has little or no share in determining how these taxes shall be expended."

In conclusion, Dr. Gladden said:

"The American Missionary Association was born to bear witness to the truth that black men are men, they they have not only hands but souls, and for them there must not only be bread, but a kingdom, hope, outlook and opportunity, a clear path to the height of manhood."

HOOSIER MOB USES TORCH

Family Forced To Flee and the House Is Burned.

Vernon, Ind., October 22.—A mob today marched to the four houses occupied by the Bushfield families and ordered them to leave. The Bushfields, after moving their household goods into the street, were ordered to go south, which they did. The mob then set fire to the four houses.

It is supposed that the action of the mob was taken out of resentment at the light penalty imposed by the court on Len Bushfield, who, as charged, attempted to kill Frank Van Please on August 24.

PARADE OF BABES DREW BIG CROWD

Feature of the State Fair at Macon Yesterday.

Lovely Little Ones in Beautifully Decorated Carriages Compete for Prize—Grand Competitive Military Prize Drill Today.

By E. C. Bruffey.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—The second day of the Georgia state fair opened under auspicious conditions. The exhibits in the different departments are being arranged into definite position, and as the work approaches completion their character and quantity prove that the present state fair is far away ahead of anything ever presented before. All available space is occupied. Immense as it is, the exhibitors are begging for more room.

In the agricultural department, fourteen counties, with their exhibits, besides the individual and one-horse farm exhibits, show a greater amount and variety of agricultural products than has ever been assembled at a state fair before.

The display of cattle, swine and goats will also be large. Several large exhibits have been placed and more are on the way.

The feature of today's programme was the celebration of North Carolina day, and the unique and beautiful children's pageant and baby parade. Thousands of people thronged the park and formed a living wall, which lined the half mile track, to look at the beautifully decorated equipages that carried winsome-faced children and little ones, or to note the mother's darlings that were carried in the arms of neatly dressed nurses, who were also competing for the prize.

The park at night promises to be the attraction for the next eight days. Lighted by innumerable electric lights, the grand arcade, faced by its imperial arch, presents a scene never to be forgotten by an onlooker.

Senator A. O. Bacon visited the fair today for an inspection of the agricultural exhibits. He stated that he would wire Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, at Washington, that there was assembled at the Georgia state fair the greatest array of agricultural products and the greatest variety ever installed at any southern fair, and if he wished to learn what Georgia farmers could do, to come down and investigate what was to be seen at the Georgia state fair.

Competitive Military Drill.

Tomorrow the grand competitive military prize drill, with hundreds of the Georgia state troops participating, will be the feature, backed by automobile races.

Reports from all sections of the state indicate that a host of people are preparing to come to Macon during the next eight days, and that in all probability there will be a greater crowd assembled here than has ever been at any previous fair.

Harry Tamplet, of Louisville, Ky., a well-known business man of that city, visited the state fair today and pronounced it superior to anything ever seen in the Blue Grass State.

From 125 to 130 horses will be stabled by Sunday night, in readiness for the races, which will commence Monday, October 26.

Second Georgia Ordered Out.

Ten of the companies composing the Second Georgia regiment will be in line tomorrow when the State fair opens for its third day.

Colonel Huguenin, commander of the Second Georgia regiment, last night sent out orders to the companies directing them to appear in Macon Friday morning in full uniform. The first battalion of the Second Georgia is under command of J. H. Smith, of Griffin. It is composed of companies from Griffin, Captain Daniel; from Thomaston, Captain Awaten; from Barnesville, Captain Grey, and from Forsythe.

The Second battalion is commanded by Major Turner, of Tennville. It is composed of companies from Tennville, Captain Prichard; from Perry, Captain Cater; from Hawkinsville, Captain Pearce, and from Eastman, Captain Edwards.

The Third battalion is under command of Major Harris, of Macon, and is composed of the Volunteers, Captain Hazelhurst; of the Floyd Rifles, Captain Steel; of the Huzzars, Captain Wheeler, and the Jackson Rifles, Captain Franklin.

The Second regiment is one of Georgia's crack commands and whether on dress parade or in field is sure to make a good record for itself.

Macon, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—On Poplar street, at Second, the confederate veterans of Macon have erected a large tent within which are scattered chairs and couches for visiting soldiers who fought for their southland. Veterans from every section of the state have been congregating under that canvas all day, and many is the reminiscent story of the early sixties which has been recited. The veterans seem glad to meet old comrades in arms once more, and to live over the days of that unpleasant period in the history of the nation.

Yellow Fever Report.

Laredo, Tex., October 22.—The decrease in the number of yellow fever cases in the city, which began yesterday, continues. The bulletin issued tonight is as follows: New cases, 12; deahts, 1; total cases to date, 498; total deaths, 39.

Farewell to Mark Twain.

New York, October 22.—A farewell dinner was given this evening by George Harvey, president of Harper & Brothers, to Samuel L. Clemens, who will sail on Saturday with his family for Florence, Italy, where he will reside for an indefinite period.

CANUCKS KICK, AND KICK HARD

They Say Alaskan Boundary Decision Was Not Judicial.

Sir MacKenzie Bowell, Questioning the Senate About the Matter, Says That Canada Has Been Worsted by the Diplomats.

Ottawa, Ontario, October 2.—In the senate today Sir Mackenzie Bowell, leader of the opposition, asked for information concerning the Alaska boundary award.

Mr. Scott, for the government, replied that the most important reason why the Canadian commissioners did not approve of the award was that it was not a judicial decision. Lord Alverstone had, in the first instance, agreed that the center of the Portland canal should form the boundary lines. The four islands should have gone to either the one country or the other, depending on the position of the line through the Portland channel, consequently Lord Alverstone deflected the line so as to throw two of the islands into the United States and two into Canada, that is Wales and Pearse islands went to Canada and the two smaller to the United States.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said it was unfortunate that in every case when negotiations have taken place between the United States and England, where Canada was affected, the United States diplomats had succeeded in securing islands which command most important points of the dominion. There was the island right opposite the harbor of Port Arthur. In case of difficulty, he said, that island would have to be secured by the British people for, if fortified, it would command the entrance to that harbor. Unless that was done the United States could secure it and with the guns they have at present would be able to destroy the whole connection between east and west. It was the same with the island of San Juan, another secured by treaty negotiations.

"Now," said Sir Mackenzie, "the United States will command Fort Simpson. In every case Canadian interests were sacrificed."

Senator McMullen said the decision would create as much dissatisfaction in Canada as there was in the Transvaal and Ireland.

HAVE YOU ANYTHING FOR SALE

The October 26th Edition of The Weekly Constitution Will Reach the Homes of 200,000 Buyers Throughout the South.

Do you want to sell your farm, your cattle, seed of any kind, implements—anything which appeals to the best class of farmers in the south? Have you a bargain of any kind in household or farm goods to offer? If so, you should have an advertisement in The Weekly Constitution of October 26, which will be 200,000 copies and which will completely cover the southern states from Virginia to Texas, included. To send one postal card to each of 200,000 homes would cost you $2,000 for the cards alone, to say nothing of the labor and expense of addressing them. You can put a three-line advertisement in this edition and have the assurance that it will go into each of 200,000 homes—the best in the south—at a cost of only $2.25. Should you want more space, add 75 cents for each additional line. Seven words count a line. One inch of space, single column, will cost you $10.50 for insertion. More space in exact proportion. October 26 is not far off. Rush your copy, together with money to pay for same. Remember, we guarantee that you will reach 200,000 homes throughout the south. There is no better section than the south, financially speaking. People in the southern states have more money this fall than they have had in over twenty years.

CAPTAIN AND THE COLONEL.

Sensation in the Military Circles of Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—The Oglethorpes were inspected tonight, and turned out with twenty-two men, besides commissioned officers, and made a very satisfactory showing.

The publications today of the failure of Captain Renkl and the German Guards to report for inspection last night, elicited the statement today from Captain Renkl that he had seen Colonel Obear in advance, and notified him that the company could not report for inspection at this time. That while Colonel Obear went through the formality of calling out the company at the armory, he knew the Guards would not be present.

Colonel Obear concedes this much, but neither he nor Captain Renkl offer any public explanation of the reason Captain Renkl was not present with his company.

Military men insist that unless Colonel Obear had announced at the time that he understood Captain Renkl's absence and had consented to it, it was a gross breach of military discipline on Captain Renkl's part; that the company was called for inspection by Colonel Obear, and so far as the public knew, was absent in wilful disregard of orders.

Colonel Obear was seen by newspaper men, after the inspection, and made no statement that he knew Captain Renkl would not be present.

The matter continues to be a matter of gossip and sensation in military circles.

MADE HIS FINE DURING NIGHT

How a Negro Gambler Got Money To Pay Fine at Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—Tom Johnson, a negro gambler, upon whose person were found several packs of cards and a handful of "loaded" dice, was arrested by the police Tuesday night on the charge of disorderly conduct. The money on his person, $27.47, was taken charge of by the police sergeant. Johnson made bond and asked the sergeant for $1.25 of his money, saying that he would have to have that much to pay for food and lodging. It seems that between the time of his release and the hour of court next morning he improved each shining hour, for when Recorder Grimes fined him $10 yesterday morning he ran his hand into his pocket and pulled out $9.45 in nickels and dimes, the result of his gambling operations the night before. It appeared that he had used the $1.25 to good advantage.

McCONNELL USED HIS KNIFE.

Student at Athens Stabs Another Young Man.

Athens, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—This afternoon at 5 o'clock on College avenue Grove McConnell, of Cornelia, a member of the junior class of the University of Georgia, stabbed and badly wounded a young boy named Jack Matthews, a collector for the real estate office of John T. Anderson. Matthews was cut under the left arm and the brachial vein was severed. He came near bleeding to death before he could get to a doctor, but when the physicians finished with him he was all right except for the loss of a great deal of blood.

McConnell says that Matthews had been telling a young lady things that he was charged with having said about her and that he went to him and denounced it as untrue and slapped his face. He says that Matthews followed him out upon the street and struck him with a heavy stick and that he cut him in self-defense.

Matthews says that he was attempting to explain to McConnell that he was mistaken as to what he had said and that McConnell then slapped him. He struck him with the stick and McConnell, who had his knife in his hand all the while, cut him.

Matthews' coat had four gashes in it, and one of them was directly over the heart, but the knife was turned by a note book in the coat pocket. McConnell gave himself up and was released on security. The wounds of Matthews will not prove fatal. McConnell is a son of J. C. Co[illegible], formerly sheriff of Franklin county, and now a prominent citizen of Cornelia.

WANTS CHURCH FOR AMERICANS

Sensational Addrsss By Bishop Gailor at Washington.

He Says the Episcopal Church Should Eschew Its Anglican Leanings, Change Its Name and Be a Church for the Americans.

Washington, October 22.—At the morning session of the Pan-American conference of bishops Rt. Rev. Frank Gailor, the bishop of Tennessee, advocated the development of the Episcopal church in the United States along national lines with a view to the creation of a distinctively American church. Bishop Gailor took the ground that the United States did not need the church of England but the church of America. He was opposed to the Episcopal church being called a branch of the church of England, and also to the introduction of English forms and customs into the American church.

Bishop Gailor is in favor of a change of name from the Protestant Episcopal church to a more appropriate title. He quoted a prominent Presbyterian clergyman as saying that unity of the Presbyterian and Episcopalian churches would be certain but for the name Episcopal. Bishop Gailor said that the church needed to be Americanized not Anglicized. His address aroused great enthusiasm.

The general subject of discussion was the attitude of the Protestant Anglican church toward the Protestant communions around her.

Of the development of a distinctly American church, Bishop Gailor said:

"We ought to emphasize the fact that this church is not the church of the middle ages nor the church of England, but an American church. The problems we have to solve and the difficulties we have to encounter are in a peculiar sense our own. For us to import into this church the manners and customs, the prejudices and parties of the established church of England, seems to be a mistake. Romanism has tried in vain to be Roman in the United States, and is now attempting to convince people that it is the American Catholic church. No body of Christians ever had the splendid opportunity that we have to demonstrate that 'Catholicity' does not mean Roman and that 'American' is not synonymous with class individualism; but we shall not do it as a branch of the church of England, only as an American church."

Bishop Gailor urged the encouragement of sympathy between the Episcopal church and the other protestant churches by the maintenance of our American spirit and American independence in custom and worship and government."

A committee of bishops has been appointed to consider and to report to the conference upon the expediency and practicability of putting into effect Bishop Gailor's suggestions.

Peachtree Merchants Complain of Slowness of the Work

Two Declare That the Work Is Being Delayed Too Much and One States That He Has No Cause For Complaint.

From the junction of Pryor street to the intersection with Edgewood avenue, a distance of five blocks, almost in the very center of Atlanta, Peachtree is now absolutely impassable for vehicles. There appears to be no prospect for early relief.

The frame of mind in which the merchants have been endeavoring to transact business since the work began has not improved. There are no signs that those who ride on the street cars out Peachtree way will discontinue their complaints. The directors of the Southern Interstate Fair Association still believe that many persons are being kept away from that attraction because of the condition of the main thoroughfare which leads to it.

City officials still believe that the work is progressing as rapidly as could be expected. Chief Engineer Clayton stated yesterday that the work was being done satisfactorily at present and that everyone appeared to be anxious to complete the work as soon as possible.

Mayor Howell renewed his statement of the previous day that he believed the contractors were doing everything possible to finish the work.

Three prominent merchants of the street were interviewed yesterday regarding the street work. One was of the opinion that the work is progressing as rapidly as could be expected, the second stated that he had until yesterday believed the work was progressing with a satisfactory degree of speed and the third announced that he knew of no reason for the delay and declared that his business was being seriously interfered with because of the delay in the work.

J. W. Rice, of the firm of Delbridge & Rice, stationers, was the first of the merchants to express an opinion.

"Of course," he declared, "we are anxious for the contractor to complete his work as soon as possible because we do a large carriage trade, and many of our customers cannot reach us. We believe, however, that the contractor is doing his work as rapidly as could be expected. We have no complaint to make. It appears to us that the work is being done quite as rapidly as could be expected."

Causes Inconvenience.

Randolph Rose, of the firm of R. M. Rose & Co., wholesale liquor dealers, believes the work is being done much too slowly.

"We have been put to great inconvenience," declared Mr. Rose. "We make about 200 shipments by express every day and receive about five calls from the express wagons. Because of the fact that they are laying a sewer in our alley the express wagon cannot come in the back way and the condition of the street prevents the use of the front door.

"The result is that the express wagon stops on Auburn avenue and it is necessary for us to carry our goods from our front entrance to the wagon. This is an inconvenience, a loss of time and a constant possibility of damage to goods.

"I can't understand why there has been so much delay. It appears to me that if the contractor wanted to complete the work he could rig up some electric lights and work at night. Let him do it anyway he wants to, but I hope he will soon have done with delay and give us the use of the street again."

F. C. Wilkerson, grocer, whose store adjoins that of the R. M. Rose Company, stated that he had not been a kicker in the past, but that he was going to become one.

"They have put the street in such condition now," he said, "that when we want to deliver goods to customers west of here we have to go either to Ellis street or to Marietta street in order to reach the western side of Peachtree street. It seems to me they might have left a way open across the street.

"I have not paid very much attention to the work in the past and I have not been a kicker until today, but it does seem to me that the contractor is not treating the merchants with due regard. The work, it appears to me, could be hurried in order to allow us to do business again."

HATCHER-McGEHEE.

Columbus, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—At the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Everett Strupper, Miss Vera Hatcher, of Columbus, was married, at 7:30 o'clock, to Mr. Charles C. McGehee, of Atlanta. Dr. Roy, of St. Paul Methodist church, performed the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Marie Stevens, of Macon; Miss Nina Jones, of Waynesboro; Miss Rosina Thomas, of Athens; Miss Pauline Shepard, of Columbus, while Mr. Frank Orme, of Atlanta, was the best man.

The bridal couple left on a wedding trip north. On their return they will make Atlanta their home.

Cleveland, Ohio, October 22.—The closing meetings of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers were held today. A president was elected and Chattanooga was selected as the place for next year's meeting.

The committee on resolutions, among other things, recommended as follows:

"That it is the sentiment of this association that whenever it is deemed wise to revise the tariff such legislation should be made with the advice of implement men, and that we favor the appointment by the president of a nonpartisan tariff commission consisting of business men, such commission to pass on any suggested tariff changes, the result of its deliberation to be submitted to congress in order that any consideration of the revision of the tariff may give place to practical legislation."

Mobile, Ala., October 22.—The Southern Steamship Company has been reorganized with capital of $150,000, but it is announced that this will soon be increased to $300,000. Among the stockholders are prominent Mobile and New Orleans merchants and several large fruit importers throughout the country. The company has chartered a new steamer, the Freke, and has secured an important concession of 90,000 acres of fertile banana land in the Pearl lagoon section, and also the exclusive right to export bananas from that port for fifteen years, and other valuable and important considerations, making this one of the most liberal concessions ever granted by the Nicaraguan government. The company will make the Pearl lagoon accessible to vessels and put the lands into shape for the cultivation of bananas, which grow wild there.

Grand Duke Dines Meyers.

Rome, October 22.—United States Ambassador Mr. and Mrs. Meyer lunched today with the queen mother at Turin. Her majesty greeted the Americans cordially, expressing admiration of American and said it was a pleasure for Italy to participate in the St. Louis exposition. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer dined with the duke of Aosta, the heir apparent to the Italian throne.

Sugar Trust Closes Refinery.

New York, October 22.—The American Sugar Refinery Company closed its refinery in Jersey City today. The National Sugar Refining Company closed its big plant in Yonkers. The national company's refinery, it is said, will be closed for only a few days, while other establishments may not reopen for some time.

They Are Indicted Eleven Times.

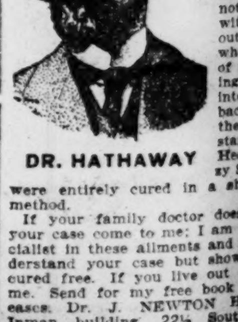

Phoenix, Ariz., October 22.—[illegible] joint indictments were found against Hugh H. Price, the recently deposed surveyor general of Arizona, and his chief clerk, W. E. Murphy. They are charged with conspiring to defraud the government by the acceptance of bribes and extortion.

Diaz Will Settle Quarrel.

Panama, Colombia, October 22.—[It is] reported that the differences between Colombia and Nicaragua, growing out of the aid the revolutionists of both countries received during the recent revolutions, will be arbitrated by President Diaz, of Mexico.

SCHWAB BLOCKED PLAN OF NIXON

Further Evidence as to Wreck of Shipbuilding Trust.

According to Nixon's Testimony. Schwab was Playing All the Time To Get the Best of the Deal—A Mysterious Check.

New York, October 22.—Lewis Nixon occupied the witness chair again today at the hearing before an examiner of the United States shipbuilding case and gave much valuable testimony covering the finances and general affairs of the corporation. He testified that he had opposed the Sheldon reorganization plan, and had as a counter proposition urged that the stock be assessed in order to raise the amount necessary to save the combination from default and bankruptcy. His plan of assessment was opposed by Charles M. Schwab, holder at that time of $20,000,000 of the stock, who, according to Mr. Nixon, declared that the stockholders would not pay the assessment.

Mr. Schwab, so Mr. Nixon swore, declined to put up any more unless the Bethlehem bonds were given preference as a lien upon the shipbuilding plants to the first-mortgage bonds.

Mr. Nixon's testimony also developed the fact that there was a wide discrepancy as to estimated earnings in letters written by Treasurer Gary to members of the reorganization committee, and Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the bondholders, asked if it did not show that there had been an attempt to minimize the value of the shipyards and magnify the value of the Bethlehem plant, but the witness would not say so.

Much time was taken up with an unsuccessful effort to get at the history of a mysterious check for $250,000 found at the Trust Company of the Republic. It was drawn to "Lewis Nixon or ourselves," on the same day the checks were made out for the payment of the cash given to the vendors for their plants and property. Mr. Nixon swore that he had never seen the check before, and that he knew nothing of its history. Both sides disclaimed knowledge of its history and the destination of the amount of money for which it was drawn, and the only explanation offered from any source was that it had been made out by mistake and had simply been put through the banks by the Trust Company of the Republic. The effort to get the history of the check will be renewed later in the hearing.

ALABAMA AGRICULTURISTS.

Annual Meeting at Montgomery Last Night.

Raleigh, N. C., October 22.—(Special.)—At the annual meeting of the State Agricultural Society tonight at the capital President James A. Long, who has served two years, presided. Ashley Horne, of Selma, was elected president; Joseph E. Pogue was reelected secretary, and Claude Denson, treasurer.

By request, Commissioner of Agriculture Patterson spoke on cattle interests and quarantine, and State Chemist Kilgoree, on the Texas boll weevil.

James A. Bryan, of Newbern, spoke on the urgent need of securing farm labor for eastern North Carolina, to restore abandoned farms.

An interesting discussion followed by J. S. Carr, Richard M. Battle, J. H. Currie, C. J. Patterson and S. B. Alexander, and a committee of ten was raised to suggest ways and means for securing immigration of farm labor to North Carolina.

PREPARING FOR PRIMARIES.

Meeting of Alabama Democratic Executive Committee.

Birmingham, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—The democratic state executive committee met here today upon the call of the chairman to formulate a uniform plan for holding the county primaries next spring. It was decided, however, to defer action on the matter until during the early part of next January. George W. Jones, of Montgomery, and State Examiner Sedberry, of Elmore, were elected to the vacancies on the committee from the second and fifth districts, respectively.

The committee meeting developed three candidates for the presidency of the rail road commission—Hon. John V. Smith, the incumbent; Robert J. Lowe, chairman of the state executive committee, and Hon. E. W. Booker, of Elmore, former convict inspector.

STRIKE FOR GOOD FOOD.

Claimed That Matron of Military Hospital Furnished Tainted Meat.

Philadelphia, October 22.—Twenty-four men and five girls employed at the military hospital are on strike for nourishing food and higher pay. The force is crippled and physicians are acting as ambulance drivers. The strikers include waitresses, laundry girls, ward maids, yardmen, gatemen and drivers. They claim that Emma Gilliams, the matron, furnishes them with tainted meat, half cooked sausage and hard potatoes.

ALL CADETS TO BE FURLOUGHED

Typhoid Fever Breaks Out in the Virginia Military Institute.

Richmond, Va., October 22.—Typhoid fever has broken out at the Virginia Military institute, Lexington, Va., nine cases having been reported to the state board of health here. The report was made by General Scott Shipp, superintendent of the institution, who stated that only two of the cases were considered dangerous.

Lexington, Va., October 22.—It appears that the typhoid fever trouble at the Virginia Military Institute has extended to Washington and Lee university, where seven students are ill with the fever. There have been thirty-four cases in all in the town of Lexington since the 1st of the present month.

Dr. J. M. Upshur, of this city, a member and the chief medical adviser of the Virginia Military Institute board of visitors, is said to have wired General Shipp, the superintendent of the Virginia military institute, after a consultation with other members of the board, recommending that the institute be closed and the cadets furloughed for an indefinite period. It is believed this recommendation will be adopted.

MORE TROUBLE FOR BILL PHYLE

National Association at St. Louis Will Consider His Case.

St. Louis, October 22.—Eighteen baseball organizations, comprising the National Association of Professional Leagues, were represented by delegates in the convention which met here this afternoon, with President Powers in the chair. The case of William Phyle, of the Memphis club, who is charged with unprofessional conduct, will be considered. The player will be given an opportunity to appear before the association and defend himself. The Western League and the American Association are looking to the National Association to adjust any conflict of schedule between the two leagues, especially at Milwaukee and Kansas City.

Today's session was occupied by hearing reports from President Powers, of New York, and Secretary J. H. Farrell, of Albany, N. Y., and the reelection of all the officers and members of the board of officers. Tonight a banquet was held at the Southern hotel. The convention will be in session several days.

HAD TO HANG HALL TWICE

Rope Slips and Man Was Let Down and Strung Up Again.

Birmingham, Ala., October 22.—Felix Hall, alias Henry Jackson, colored, was hanged in the jail yard here at noon today for the murder of Norwood Clark, a young white man, who was clerk at a commissary at a construction camp on the Ensley Southern railroad. The crime occurred two years ago.

Hall walked on the scaffold protesting his innocence, claiming that he had never worked on the Ensley Southern railroad and did not know Clark. He also said he was in Mississippi when the crime occurred. When the drop fell the rope slipped and the man breathed heavily for ten minutes, when he was hauled up and hanged a second time. This time the fall broke his neck. All efforts to have Hall confess the crime failed and his last act before leaving his cell was to write out a declaration of his innocence for the newspapers, in which he claimed that his name was Henry Jackson. After Hall's conviction he was respited by the governor to give him a chance to prove an alibi and witnesses were brought here from Mississippi, but Judge Greene was not satisfied with their identification. Norwood Clark was shot to death one night while sleeping in a tent at the railroad camp. It was claimed that Hall had a grudge against him. Will Miller, Hall's alleged accomplice, was arrested in Atlanta yesterday and will be brought back here.

Condemned Convention's Action.

Mobile, Ala., October 22.—The republican executive committee of Mobile county, at a meeting held last night, with C. W. Allen in the chair, indorsed Roosevelt for president. They condemned the action of the state convention, at Birmingham last year, when negro delegates were denied seats in the assembly.

SHAFT IN MEMORY OF DEAD HEROES

Monument to Confederate Dead Unveiled at Greenwood, S. C.

Dedicatory Address Delivered by Judge William T. Gary, of Augusta—Description of and Inscriptions on the Monument.

Greenwood, S. C., October 22.—A monument, dedicated to the confederate soldiers from the state of South Carolina who fell in the war between the states, was unveiled here this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Judge William T. Gary, of Augusta, Ga. He said in part:

"History will erect a monument to the patriotism, the heroism, the chivalry and bravery of the confederate soldier, but how can gratitude sufficiently honor the noble women of the south who made that unequal war possible.

"No nation can be truly great which is not a nation of noble mothers.

"There was but one mother of the Gracchi; but in the south every mother was the mother of a confederate soldier. Tell it to your children, and to your children's children, that not one of the noble women who shared their privations and their sorrows, who nerved their brave hearts and bathed their fevered brows, who bore uncomplainingly not only the burdens of war, but also those, more grievous, of defeat, ever refused to welcome the worn-out confederate soldiers back to desolated homes and loyal hearts.

"Our monuments are not reared to commemorate our triumphs, not to recount domestic calamities, not to feed the hostilities of hate, not to perpetuate civic discord. Our monuments are reared to our convictions, and are consecrated to the memory of our dead.

"This monument we unveil today is not an enforced charity, but a voluntary offering of love to the living, a testimonial to the cause which confederate soldiers and confederate women made immortal, a monument to the noble dead who have made it sacred, a silent epitaph of the members of this association, which future generations will gaze upon with pride and with gratitude."

Description of the Monument.

The monument is 35 feet in height, the die on which the inscriptions are cut being from granite quarries of Vermont. The remainder of the granite is from South Carolina. On the east side of the monument is the following inscription: "Our Confederate Soldiers." On the north side: "1861—1865. Patriots who, animated by the same faith, actuated by the same love of country; beset by the same trials and dangers; endowed with the same fortitude, and who fought as heroically to maintain self-government as did the colonial fathers to attain the same, and who with them are immortalized in the same halo of glory."

On the west and south sides of the monument are inscriptions commemorating the valor of deeds of those who sacrificed their lives to the cause of the confederacy.

SAMUEL PARKS SURRENDERS.

Walking Delegate Refused Bail and Sent to the Tombs Prison.

New York, October 22.—Samuel J. Parks, walking delegate of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's union, who was indicted on a charge of perjury Tuesday, and was to have appeared in court yesterday, surrendered himself today. He said he had been in New Jersey on business connected with the union.

Parks was sent to the Tombs prison, his offer to give $2,000 cash bail being refused. The district attorney argued that Parks' appearance in court had vitiated the $18,000 bail furnished by John J. Byrne, Devery's nephew.

MORTUARY.

Deaths at Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mattie Lockhart Toomer died today of typhoid fever. She was married about two years ago and is survived by her husband and infant child. She was the eldest daughter of Fred T. Lockhart.

Today two confederate veterans died—Jordan Bottom and Henry S. Todd. Jordan Bottom will be missed at the reunion. He was leader of the drum corps that has been popular at former reunions and parades of the confederate veterans.

Mrs. Latimer, Greenville, S. C.

Greenville S. C., October 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hattie Latimer died this afternoon at 4 o'clock, her husband, Dr. J. H. Latimer, having died about ten days ago. The following children survive—Miss Lula Latimer Mrs. Willbur, Gent and Brent Latimer.

Will Go To Jacksonville.

Columbia, S. C., October 22.—J. O. Lafontisee, representing the Jacksonville Trades Carnival Association, called at the governor's mansion tonight, in company with Alexander Love, secretary, and Captain Robert Mills, superintendent of the Carolina state fair, and extended an urgent invitation to Governor Heyward to be present military day of the carnival. Governor Heyward stated that he would take great pleasure in visiting Jacksonville on that day, and that he would be present, unless unforeseen matters occurred. His staff will accompany him, and they will arrive in Jacksonville on the morning of November 4, traveling in a special car over the Southern.

WALTER ORMOND IS APPOINTED

Nomination of Grand Jury Confirmed by Judge Lumpkin.

Judge Lumpkin yesterday appointed Walter Ormond, the nominee of the Fulton county grand jury, as justice of the peace in the place declared to have been resigned by Justice Walter Venable.

Justice Venable announced yesterday, however, that he would not vacate the office until forced to do so, and an interesting legal controversy may yet grow out of the disagreements in regard to this office.

Clifton Porter, a 12-year-old boy, yesterday filed a suit in the name of his mother and next friend, Mrs. Alice Porter, against the Niall-Herrin Company for $5,000. It is alleged that he went to work for this company on October 16 and that the same day he was badly injured by a machine known as a "sander." The suit was filed by Eb. T. Williams.

Alleging that the builders of the Empire building failed to erect a temporary party wall of proper soundness during the erection of that building, J. M. Morris, proprietor of the Maine hotel and restaurant, yesterday filed suit for $864 against H. M. Atkinson, W. H. Aspinwall and Samuel Carr, trustees of the Empire building trust. Morris claims that the temporary party wall between his hotel and the embryonic Empire building was so poorly built that rain and snow leaked through it and damaged his furniture, though, he says, the constructors of the building had contracted to make this wall sound. The suit was filed by W. H. Terrell.

William Turner, by his next friend, Eliza Turner, yesterday filed a suit for $2,000 against the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company, alleging that on September 30 he was struck by a train on the road of the defendant at the Bellwood avenue crossing, he being at the time in a buggy. The suit was filed by John B. Hutcheson.

The following property transfers were yesterday filed for record with Alex Dittler, deputy clerk of the superior court:

Quit Claim Deed—Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company to Floyd W. McRae, for $10, 137 feet on Peachtree road.

Loan Deed—William G. Odum to Mrs. C. E. Hanye, for $200, lot on Newport avenue and lot on Chestnut street.

Warranty Deed—Germania Savings bank to James Rich, for $500, lot corner Sims and Gardner streets.

Warranty Deed—South Atlanta Land Company to W. A. Spiva, for $520, lot on Thayer avenue.

Warranty Deed—Mrs. Myrtle Brittain to Isaac Smith, for $350, lot on Fraser street.

Administrator's Deed—B. H. Bollmann, administrator, to Mrs. Eugenia Lowe, for $2,830, lot on Tabernacle place, near Marietta street.

Warranty Deed—Catherine E. M. Trouton to Atlanta Banking and Savings Company, for $382.23, lot on McDonald street.

Warranty Deed—Hollywood Cemetery Company to John W. Nelms, for $15, a cemetery lot.

Warranty Deed—Adelle Leach to James H. Pittman, for $55 and other considerations, lot in Battle Hill.

Warranty Deed—S. B. Spencer, mayor, to Cynthia E. Woodruff, for $20, a cemetery lot.

Warranty Deed—R. P. Horton to National Lumber Company, for $1,400, lot on Howell Mill road.

Loan Deed—Mrs. Jennie Grady to Germania Savings bank, for twenty-three notes for $13 and one note for $14, lot on Greensferry avenue.

Warranty Deed—John M. Shannon to Hibernia Savings, Building and Loan Association, for $2,500, lot on Luckie street, near Foundry street.

Loan Deed—Mrs. M. E. McWilliams to Germania Savings bank, for twenty-four notes for $22.50 each, lot on Kirkwood avenue.

Warranty Deed—E. G. Willingham to Germania Savings bank, for $1,100, lot corner Bryan street and Berean avenue.

Warranty Deed—American Trust and Banking Company to A. P. Morgan, for $1,000, lot corner Robbins and Wells streets.

Warranty Deed—Katherine W. Graves to Louis Gordon, for $450, lot corner Garibaldi street and Georgia avenue.

Warranty Deed—Mrs. Ella Baer to Mrs. A. L. Firkins, for $850, 5 acres on West Lake avenue.

Philadelphia and New Orleans.

Philadelphia, October 22.—The local Traders' League today announced that the board of trade of New Orleans had selected this city as the northern terminus of the proposed steamship line from the southern city. Within six or eight weeks the line will probably be in operation. Two boats, carrying passengers and freight, will ply between New Orleans and this city.

FLITTING KRATZ TAKEN AT LAST

Alleged St. Louis Boodler Captured in Mexico.

Kratz Jumped a Bond for $20,000 in Order To Escape Trial and Fled to Mexico—He Says He Is Willing to Return.

Guadalajara, Mexico, October 22.—Charles Kratz, a member of the St. Louis city council, indicted on a charge of bribery, who jumped a $20,000 bond, was arrested today by the local authorities on orders from the federal government at the City of Mexico.

St. Louis, October 22.—Mr. Folk expects to have Kratz back in St. Louis within ten days. The papers necessary for the extradition are all in the state attorney's possession and he will dispatch a man tomorrow morning to Mexico for Kratz.

The papers were signed in St. Louis by Governor Dockery and the local officials some weeks ago and were then forwarded to Washington. There the necessary signatures of the federal officials were attached and the papers returned. They are now in the state attorney's safe.

Charles Kratz, former member of the city council, was indicted February 5, 1902, by the grand jury on the charge of bribery in connection with the Suburban street railway franchise deal, in which $135,000 was placed in a safe deposit vault to be used to pay for the passage through the council of a franchise asked for by the Suburban company. This money has been recovered and is now in the hands of Circuit Attorney Folk. Kratz was released on bonds of $20,000, and on April 4, 1902, left the city before his case went to trial. He went to Mexico, where he has remained ever since. On April 7 his bond was forfeited.

The arrest of Kratz was brought about at the request of the state department of the United States after several conferences held by City Attorney Folk with Secretary Hay, in which Mr. Folk endeavored to secure the return of the fugitive under the treaty recently signed by both governments. A heavy reward still stands for Kratz.

THEATERS.

"The Professor's Love Story," which will be the play that Harry Beresford will present at the Grand tonight and Saturday, has met with a warm welcome wherever it has been presented. This is due to the fact that it starts out with a successful appeal to the sentimental side of human nature. Mr. Barrie's comedy, for the author of "The Little Minister," "Quality Street," "The Admirable Crichton" and "Little Mary" is responsible for "The Professor's Love Story" also, and can easily place its abundant triumph to its artistic merits. Mr. Beresford is said to give his conception of Professor Goodwillie a novelty and a charm that is not at all common in recent stage productions. Few men and no women are untouched by the softening sentiment of love and Mr. Beresford's buoyant humor with its quaint turns will be found irresistible; his tenderness and pathos blend naturally and will diffuse a genial warmth and gladness around his conception that will be found most endearing. This young actor has scored in the larger cities of the north and west and is now touring the south for the first time.

A matinee is announced for Saturday afternoon.

Adelaide Thurston in "Polly Primrose."

"Polly Primrose" is the dainty and alluring title of Paul Wilstach's new comedy, in which Adelaide Thurston has made a recent triumph and the play in which she will be seen at the Grand opera house on Monday and Tuesday nights, October 26 and 27, with a special matinee on Tuesday. It is a play of forty years ago in quaint and interesting old Georgetown, just outside of Washington City.

Hoopskirts and pegtop trousers, satin waistcoats and dainty bonnets, flowered shawls and frilled shirts are the fussy and fascinating millinery of this delicious comedy. The men were clippers in those days and the girls cut a pace in didoes which their ingenuous simpers and drooping lids did not betoken.

Miss Thurston's Polly is said to be as mischievous and pretty, gay and arch as the old-fashioned name implies.

"Not Guilty."

"Not Guilty," filled to the brim with sensations and hairbreadth escapes, is the attraction at the Bijou theater this week.

"Not Guilty" is not burdened with dialogue. A melodrama to be successful must have plenty of action, and this is the sort of play "Not Guilty" is.

The principal characters in the drama are natives of Sheldon's Corners, Pa., where the scenes of the first and last acts are laid. In the first act the villain murders his benefactor and falsely accuses another man, who, unfortunately, is found with the body, of the crime. The accused passes through many persecutions before he is freed from guilt and resumes his honorable station in society.

"Her Marriage Vow."

"Her Marriage Vow," which is described as a sensational melodrama, will be the offering at the Bijou for a week, beginning Monday.

The play is said to be interspersed with delightful bits of comedy of a kind rarely witnessed on the melodramatic stage, while the scenic equipment is very elaborate and true to locality.

Assaulted Express Messenger.

Albany, N. Y., October 22.—Arthur Carpenter and Frederick Avery, of this city, New York Central trainmen, are under arrest here charged with assault and robbery of Express Messenger Miller in his car, while the train was nearing Schenectady today. Miller was badly beaten, but continued on to New York and the men were held here awaiting his return.

Has not our country advanced in civilization enough to pay attention to impressions and the luxuries of life?

Grandfather boasted of the simplicity of his sartorial requirements, but would acknowledge the conventionalities of today and see that dress is a factor in business no less than in society. Proper and correct dress is never extravagant. Dress only becomes an extravagance when an attempt is made to follow every fad and foible in watch fobs, jewelry, ultra jackets, etc.

ONLY TWO LEFT OUT OF FOURTEEN

Twelve Men Lose Lives by Schooner Striking the Rocks.

Newport News, Va., October 22.—On the Newport News schooner John K. Kirkman, which arrived here tonight, are two seamen of the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner J. T. Williams, which went to pieces on a reef off Cape Cod light in the storm last Friday morning. They are probably the only survivors of the fourteen men on board when the schooner struck. The rescued men, Walter J. Harris, of Bangor, Maine, and Charles Keeler, of New York, were picked up last Friday night 60 miles east of Cape Cod, after clinging nine hours to the bottom of the dory in which they escaped.

HALL'S ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE

Will Miller, Colored, Will Be Taken to Birmingham for Trial Today.

Will Miller, colored, alleged accomplice of Felix Hall, the negro hanged yesterday in Birmingham for the murder of Norwood Clark, a white man, of Newnan, Ga., and who is now in the Tower in this city, will be taken back to Birmingham today to stand trial.

Miller was arrested last Saturday night in Cobb county, just across the Chattahoochee river, by one of the bosses on the work on the new line of the Seaboard Air Line railroad. The prisoner denies that he is Will Miller, and protests that his name is John Wright. He has been identified, however, as Will Miller, the identification having been made by means of a bullet, which is lodged just over his eye. A negro convict at the Chattahoochee camps has also identified the prisoner, stating that he and Miller were in the chaingang together in Baldwin county some time ago.

The killing of Clark occurred about two years ago in a railroad camp on the Ensley Southern railroad, near Birmingham. He was commissary for the road, and was shot to death one night while asleep in a tent. Felix Hall was arrested for the crime, was convicted, and sentenced to hang. He claimed that he was in Mississippi at the time of the killing, and made a hard fight for freedom, the governor of Alabama respiting him three different times.

The one dollar round trip rate to Athens by the Seaboard Air Line will be taken off after next Sunday, October 25th.

RIDGELY TALKS OF THE CURRENCY

Comptroller Gives Advice to the Bankers of United States.

He Discusses the Financial System Before the Convention of Bankers at San Francisco—Tells Where Weak and Where Strong.

San Francisco, October 22.—The second day's session of the American Bankers' Association was late in assembling today. President Hardy called the assemblage to order and Rev. George C. Adams, of the First Congregational church, offered a prayer.

After discussion of minor matters came the paper of Hon. William B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, his subject being "The Currency."

Paper of Mr. Ridgely.

Mr. Ridgely said in part:

"During the years of very active and prosperous business which we have had since the country began to recover from the depression following the panic of 1893, there has been a very marked improvement in the fundamental condition of our people and the amount of both capital and wealth they have produced and saved. This is especially true among the farming and producing classes, who have not paid off a vast amount of debt, but have accumulated money and property of all kinds to a greater extent than ever before. There has been a great increase in the volume of money in circulation among the people and there is more money in the banks to their credit. Since 1896, there has been a greater increase in the amount of money in circulation than during any other like period and about 80 per cent of this increase has been in gold. We are continuing to add about eighty millions a year to our gold in circulation and about one-half of all the currency in circulation is gold. Our prosperity in business has been based on the very best foundation. It has been the result of the most legitimate causes, and forces, and all these are not only still in operation, but give every evidence of continuance.

"As is always the case, however, in such times, this movement of activity has been accompanied by a large amount of speculation, not only in stocks, bonds and securities, but in many other lines, and credits have become more and more expanded. In stock speculation and promotion especially we have gone too fast, with the inevitable result of a serious collapse, and such a decline in prices that people are becoming alarmed and beginning to ask if this may not end the whole movement of prosperity. This causes doubt and increasing hesitation in business circles. There is also a demand for financial and currency legislation, or governmental aid in meeting the situation as it exists at the present time. While these important questions are all more or less connected and interwoven, the business situation is not to any very great extent due to currency or financial causes, and it is not to legislation we should look for permanent relief. If we had a better, and especially a more elastic, currency system, we might have been spared from some disturbances. If the surplus revenues of the government had not been taken out of general circulation, there might not be so much fear of a tight money market. But, on the other hand, if there has not been the most absolute confidence in the soundness of our currency, the disturbances in the markets for securities of the past two years would probably have spread very much farther, and doubtless ended in a serious crisis with severe industrial and commercial depression.

Changes Suggested.

"We should make such a change in the collection and disbursement of the national revenues as will prevent the withdrawal of vast sums of money from business just when most needed. There is nothing so sacred about government funds that they should not be handled through the banks like other people's funds so they would produce the least possible derangement of business. If any of the great corporations should handle its funds as the treasury of the United States does and lock up such a vast sum of cash in its own vaults, legislation would immediately be demanded to stop it. We should at once pass such legislation as is needed to have the treasury stop it and let money and business alone as much as possible. The less the government has to do with business and business with the government, the better for both.

"I am a thorough believer in currency and agree with those who wish to see the greenbacks retired, the silver withdrawn down to the point which it is practically subsidiary coinage or currency, having nothing in circulation but gold, as coin or certificates, and a real bank note circulation by gold reserves with such regulations for issue and redemption that it would be a matter of indifference to the banks whether their credits remained with them as deposits or were circulating as notes. This is the only true solution of our currency matters, and I hope to see it some day accomplished. This, however, is a thing which can only be gradually done, and has little or no practical bearing on the present business situation. We have another very different system in force, and it is with it we have to meet and cope with our present problems. It has two very great advantages. Our people are used to it and have had no experience with any other. Only the veterans in business remember anything different. Its great advantage is, however, its absolute safety and soundness.

"This is no time for any feeling or discussion between different sections of the country, classes of people, or lines of trade as to who is most to blame or who can stand it best. We are all face to face with the situation and equally interested. It is no time for passion or excitement, panic or fear, but for quiet, calm consideration, courage and firm action based on good judgment and conservatism. Considering all the circumstances and the pace at which business has been going for the past few years, it is not so surprising that there has been such a decline in the prices of securities, but rather that the country has stood it all so well, and that there has been no panic, so little trouble with the banks and so few failures. There could be no clearer demonstration of the inherent strength of our conditions and of the absolute confidence in our currency and government finances.

"Beginning with the stock panic in May, 1901, there have been repeated and tremendous slumps in the prices of stocks and securities, collapses and failures in railroad and industrial syndicates, combinations and underwriting, any one of which, had our situation been less strong, would have produced a bad panic and a disastrious commercial depression. That we have stood it all so well is the best possible ground for the belief that it need go no further, and that there is no reason for its reaching into general business and producing any great depression.

Our Great Trade.

"During the last ten years the balance of trade in favor of the United States has amounted to over three and three-quarter billions of dollars. For the single year 1901 that was $679,000,000. Although the alarmists complain of a considerable falling off for the year 1902, it was still almost one-half a billion dollars, or about twice as much as it had ever been in any year of our history previous to 1898. The aggregate wealth of the country has increased fully 50 per cent since 1890. We are producing and adding to our stock of gold every year about $80,000,000, and almost an equal quantity of silver. The annual value of our farm products steadily increases and for the year 1903 it will be at least $5,000,000,000. The deposits of all banks in the United States have increased since 1895 from $4,900,000,000 to $9,525,000,000, almost double. The deposits of all banks in the state of Texas for this same period have increased from $35,000,000 to over $80,000,000, about 228 per cent. In the state of Iowa the increase has been from $78,000,000 to $211,000,000, over 270 per cent; in Kansas it has been from $35,000,000 to $84,000,000, or 250 per cent; in Nebraska from $35,000,000 to $84,000,000, or 228 per cent; in California from $200,000,000 to $406,000,000, or 203 per cent. In Oklahoma and Indian Territory, where, in 1895, the total deposits were considerably under $2,000,000, there are over $27,000,000 on deposit in the banks. The aggregate deposits in all the banks in the states west of the Mississippi river have increased from $701,000,000 in 1895 to $1,700,000,000 in 1903, or 242 per cent. The three states of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri have more bank deposits now than all the states west of the Mississippi had in 1890, and the states of Washington, Oregon and California have $40,000,000 more bank deposits than all the other states west of the Mississippi had in the year 1890."

The paper of J. F. McAshan, cashier of the South Texas national bank, of Houston, Tex., on "The Money Supply of the United States," was then read.

Under the call of the states, reports were received from various sections in relation to the general condition of the banking business.

IS THIS BODY OF YOUNG WENTZ

Nothing on Corpse of Young Man By Which To Identify Him.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 22.—The dead body of an unknown man was found today by a roadside near Clinton, Tenn., about 10 miles from the city. Nothing could be found to disclose his identity.

He wore a "K. A. E. O." pin. He was handsomely dressed and from his general appearance it was evident he had been a man of means. It had been suspected that the dead man may be E. L. Wentz, a young Philadelphia millionaire, who has been missing from Big Stone Gap, Va., for the past week.

DEATH OF MRS. JULIA DUPRE.

Estimable Lady of Marietta Breathes Her Last.

Marietta, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Julia Dupre died at her home in Marietta, Ga., this afternoon. Mrs. Dupre has been in bad health for several years. She was the daughter of the late W. D. Anderson, of Marietta; widow of the late C. W. Dupre, formerly of Gainesville, Ga., and sister of Hon. S. A. Anderson and J. T. Anderson and of the late D. M. Anderson. Mrs. Dupre was a most lovable and Christian woman, carrying sunshine wherever she went. She was a member of the Baptist church of Marietta. Besides her brothers she is survived by her three sons—C. W. Dupre, of the firm of Read & Dupre, and W. A. and Harry Dupre, of the firm of Anderson Bros., all of Marietta. The funeral will occur at her late residence at 3 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) afternoon.

ONE SOLID CAR LOAD
ANTI-TRUST TOBACCO.

We have this day received Twenty-one Thousand pounds of the Celebrated ANTI-TRUST

LIBERTY BELL TOBACCO.

This Tobacco has only been sold on this market for 14 months, and even now we find it necessary to buy only in Car Load lots, so as to be able to keep the rapidly increasing demand of these goods, promptly filled.

It is a well known fact that the best Tobaccos in the country are grown in Henry Co., Va. All famous brands generally originate in that county. The Liberty Bell is one of the famous Henry Co. plants.

Three reasons why there is such a great demand for LIBERTY BELL:

1st. It is not made by a Trust.

2d. Is made from old (Henry Co., Va.) Stock.

3rd. The Tags are redeemed by all merchants in cash, at one-half cent each. Please note the Tags do not have to be sent away for redemption, but any dealer will pay cash for Liberty Bell Tags.

Any out of town merchant who is not already on our regular mailing list, will do well to get into correspondence with us, as we only buy for spot cash in large lots, which enables us to make a low price regardless of other combination concerns. Look out for our four-leaf folder.

BLOODY RAID BY LADRONES

They Rush a Philippine Town and Kill Several Persons.

Manila, October 22.—The news has just been received here that a band of Ladrones surprised the town of Iriga, in the province of Ambos Camarinos, Luzon, and killed the wife and uncle of the presidente and three volunteers. Before retiring they captured nine guns. Ouofre, the leader of the Ladrones, was killed. The presidente says that he was betrayed by the Munsey.

ACCIDENT AT 'POSSUM HUNT.

W. C. Latimer Seriously Wounded Near Hogansville.

Hogansville, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—W. C. Latimer, Henry Matthews, Zach Reid and Herman Zachery went opossum hunting last night, and, after hunting till about 2 o'clock, they stopped to rest, when Henry Matthews went to sleep with his pistol in his hand.

After resting, Latimer went over to wake Matthews, when, in some way, the pistol was discharged, the ball entering Latimer's abdomen and making a very serious, if not fatal, wound. Physicians have grave fears of the result.

HAVE YOU ANYTHING FOR SALE

The October 26th Edition of The Weekly Constitution Will Reach the Homes of 200,000 Buyers Throughout the South.

Do you want to sell your farm, your cattle, seed of any kind, implements—anything which appeals to the best class of farmers in the south? Have you a bargain of any kind in household or farm goods to offer? If so, you should have an advertisement in The Weekly Constitution of October 26, which will be 200,000 copies and which will completely cover the southern states from Virginia to Texas, included. To send one postal card to each of 200,000 homes would cost you $2,000 for the cards alone, to say nothing of the labor and expense of addressing them. You can put a three-line advertisement in this edition and have the assurance that it will go into each of 200,000 homes—the best in the south—at a cost of only $2.25. Should you want more space, add 75 cents for each additional line. Seven words count a line. One inch of space, single column, will cost you $10.50 for insertion. More space in exact proportion. October 26 is not far off. Rush your copy, together with money to pay for same. Remember, we guarantee that you will reach 200,000 homes throughout the south. There is no better section than the south, financially speaking. People in the southern states have more money this fall than they have had in over twenty years.

LITTAUER SAVED BY LIMITATION

Attorney General Knox Passes on Case of the Congressman.

Washington, October 22.—The text of the opinion of Attorney General Knox in the Littauer case was made public at the war department today. A considerable portion of the opinion is devoted to the question asked by Secretary Root as to whether suit should be entered against Littauer for money paid for the gloves furnished, the point hinging on the construction of the word "advanced" in the section of the revised statutes, which authorized suit "for the recovery of any such sum of money so advanced."

The attorney general, after discussing the case in all its phases, says he is of the opinion that "no part of the consideration paid by the government is subject to a demand for repayment."

Secretary Root asked the department of justice whether any further action is called for on the part of the government, and upon this point the attorney general says:

"By 'any further action' you mean, I presume, criminal action. There is no occasion, however, for me to determine whether the transaction called in question, and which you say is the only one wherein there is any evidence of violation of law, presents sufficient ground for a criminal prosecution under section 3739 of the revised statutes, since the statutory period of limitation within which such a prosecution could be brought elapsed more than a year ago.

"No useful purpose, therefore, would be subserved by such determination. An affirmative opinion could not be followed by a vindication of the law, a negative one might be regarded as an affirmation of the validity and authority of the methods dealing with the government cases, where after all the form of the transaction is not to be so much considered as its substance."

SCOTT PAROLED BY GOVERNOR

Will Return to Penitentiary Directly After He Testifies in Court.

Montgomery, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—Governor Jelks today paroled Will Scott, of Sumter county, upon condition that he return to the penitentiary and serve out his time immediately after he gets through testifying against his brother, who is charged with murder in Sumter county.

Scott was convicted in 1901 of murder and sentenced to five years. The paroling of a convict under these conditions in Alabama has heretofore been unknown.

SCANDAL FALLS ON LANDVOIGT

Another Employee of Postal Department Forced To Resign.

Washington, October 22.—William H. Landvoigt, chief of the classification division of the postoffice department, today presented his resignation to Postmaster General Payne. The resignation was required by Mr. Payne as a result of the investigation by the inspectors of the charges growing out of the employment of Mr. Landvoigt's son in the general Manifolding Company of Franklin, Pa., which had a contract for supplying patented registry books to the department.

Mr. Landvoigt was chief of the registry division of the department prior to his comparatively recent transfer to take charge of the classification work of the department.

Postmaster General Payne tonight stated that Mr. Langvoigt's resignation had not been acted upon and would not before tomorrow.

Mr. Landvoigt submitted his resignation to the postmaster general in person. It was brief and merely called attention to the fact that the criticism of him was the employment of his son Arnold with the company. It was made to take effect at the pleasure of the postmaster general. Mr. Payne expressed his regret at the necessity for the action, but stated that the employment of the son with the company involves a principle which must be inforced.

Mr. Landvoigt has been in the postal service about twenty-nine years. He went to New York some years ago and reorganized the registry service of that city.

HIS VICTORY MEANT PRISON

Man Who Triumphed Over "Boss" Tweed Paid for It Well.

New York, October 22.—Suffering most of his life as a result of a victory over William M. Tweed in the days when that "boss" was at the height of his power, Vincent Cody is dead.

Cody was once a wealthy man. He died a watchman on the Rapid Transit subway and since the civil war, through which he fought, had served thirty-three years in state's prison all of which he declared was due to the fact that he succeeded in defeating Tweed's candidate for the assembly in the "boss'" own district, shortly after the war because he had not succeeded in getting his old political job when he returned from the front. He declared Tweed followed him up and that later when he was arrested because of an accidental shooting in which he was involved, he was convicted by a "packed" jury and sent to prison for life.

Cody's sentence was commuted by President Roosevelt, but he left the prison very much against his will.

BUSINESS MAN IS WANTED.

As Successor to Taft on the Philippine Commission.

Manila, October 22.—A committee appointed by the American chamber of commerce in this city appeared before the Philippine commission and submitted a cablegram to President Roosevelt recommending the appointment of a business man of the United States as a member of the commission on the retirement of Governor Taft. The commissioners present, while they raised no objection to the cable being forwarded to the president, declined to express any opinion on its merits.

There is a pronounced objection here to the proposal that the president appoint Beekman Winthrop, assistant secretary, to the vacancy, and several heads of the department say they will resign if Winthrop gets the position. It is said that the commission favors General George W. Davis.

Acme Company in Trouble.

Peoria, Ills., October 22.—The Acme Harvester Company, one of the largest manufacturers of agricultural implements, has been forced to place its affairs in the hands of a committee representing the creditors and ask an extension of time. The assets of the company, it is asserted, are nearly $4,000,000, and considerably in excess of their liabilities. The company employed 700 men, and their business was not limited to this country, but they had a large trade in South America.

BIG SEIZURE OF SPARKLERS

Frenchman Tries To Smuggle Diamonds, But He Fails.

New York, October 22.—What officials of the custom house declare to be the largest seizure of smuggled goods ever made from an incoming passenger was made today when diamonds and other jewels valued at $25,000 was taken from Captain S. Celat, a retired captain of the French marine service.

Captain Celat was a passenger on the Teutonic. He was arrested and the jewels were sent to the public stores. He insisted he was not a smuggler, but that he was bringing the stuff here for friends. In his declaration to the customs inspector he said he had nothing dutiable.

UNCLE SAM GETS THE SHIP.

He Takes Charge of the Chattanooga Nicholson and O'Brien.

Elizabethport, N. J., October 22.—The cruiser Chattanooga and torpedo boats Nicholson and O'Brien, which are under construction at the Crescent shipyards, today were towed by government tugs to the Brooklyn navy yard, where the work on them will be finished. The big government lighter carried away every piece of government property belonging to the cruiser and the gunboats.

Neither the sheriff nor any of his deputies were present and no remonstrance was made against the removal of the vessels. The cruiser and the two torpedo boats were replevined by the United States government from the control of the sheriff of Union county, who had held the Chattanooga on a libel for $40,000 on a claim made by Babcock & Wilcox, who supplied the boilers for the cruiser.

YOUNG MARTIN ACQUITTED.

Boy Tried on Charge of Assault With Intent to Murder.

Columbus, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—At the session of the Harris county superior court at Hamilton yesterday, Ernest Martin, a 14-year-old boy, was acquitted of the charge of assault with intent to murder. On June 7 last Martin shot in the back with a shotgun Green W. Harrison, and old man nearly 80 years old, residing in the western part of the county. It was thought at first that the wound would prove fatal, but the old gentleman recovered. The boy in his statement to the jury claimed that the shooting was purely accidental; that the gun chanced to be pointed in Harrison's direction when, in some accidental manner, it was unintentionally discharged.

Two white men of Harris county, Lee Clifton and Joseph Hyars, were fined $250 each by Judge Butt for selling whisky without license.

Two negroes, Jerry Anderson and George Walker, were convicted of committing murder at the Mount Olive baptist church, colored, and were both given life sentences in the penitentiary.

UNION MACHINISTS STRIKE.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 22.—Seventy-five union machinists employed at the Lonsdale shops of the Southern railway quit work today because non-union men were allowed to dismantle old engines.

BRYAN PLACED UNDER HOT FIRE

Sharply Questioned in Regard To Philo Bennett's Will.

Judge Stoddard, Attorney for the Widow, Forces Mr. Bryan To Go Into Details About That Bequest of $50,000.

New Haven, Conn., October 22.—William J. Bryan has again occupied the witness chair today when the hearing on the application for probating the will of the late Philo S. Bennett was resumed.

A great deal of the ground which was covered yesterday was gone over again during the cross-examination to which Mr. Bryan was subjected by Judge Henry Stoddard, counsel for Mrs. Bennett, the widow. Judge Stoddard spent considerable time in asking Mr. Bryan why it was that in the letter which was left for Mrs. Bennett by her husband, directing her to give Mr. Bryan $50,000 for himself and family, it was not stated that a certain part of the fund was to be given to Mrs. Bryan and part to the children.

Mr. Bryan replied that he did not know but that it was understood between himself and Mr. Bennett and that after Mr. Bennett's death he told Mrs. Bennett about the arrangements.

Judge Stoddard then asked Mr. Bryan if any one else was present besides himself and Mr. Bennett when they discussed that letter in which the bequest had been made to Mrs. Bennett. Witness answered that he did not remember, but thought that Mrs. Bryan was not present, although he afterwards wrote the two letters on a typewriter, one to Mrs. Bennett and the other to himself, relating to these points. Judge Stoddard also inquired why it was not stated in the letter to Mrs. Bennett that Mrs. Bryan knew the contents of this sealed letter, since that letter said that the writer preferred to have no one know it but Mrs. Bennett and himself.

Mr. Bryan replied that he had told Mrs. Bennett the details of the agreement when he came here, after Mr. Bennett's death. He added that he presumed that it had not occurred to either Mr. Bennett or himself to mention Mrs. Bryan in the letter. The witness was asked to explain why he had received $300 from Mr. Bennett at the time the will was drawn up, and stated that, while there was nothing said about it, he supposed it to be for drawing up the document.

Mr. Stoddard then questioned the witness regarding some offers he had made to Mrs. Bennett with regard to the $50,000 bequest to himself and family. Mr. Bryan said he had told Mrs. Bennett that he was willing to pay the inheritance tax on the entire $50,000 bequest to himself out of his $25,000 portion, and that he would give her $2,500 in trust for three persons who were her relatives, the balance to be invested by him in government bonds and the interest to be paid to Mrs. Bennett unless he should need it, because of broken health or

When Judge Stoddard asked the witness if Mr. Bennett had ever made any investments for him, Mr. Bryan replied that he had made investments of The Commoner fund, buying government bonds with the proceeds of the subscriptions which came in advance. He also said that Mr. Bennett had never made an investment for Mrs. Bryan.

Lawyer Newton then asked his client, Mr. Bryan:

"Was it ever suggested by yourself or Mrs. Bryan that he give you the $50,000?"

"No sir, we never suggested it. It came as a surprise to us when Mr. Bennett made the suggestion himself."

The witness then said that he had used a portion of a previous will which had been secured by Mr. Bennett in drafting the last one.

Mr. Bryan then made a statement which somewhat modified his answer that no money had been invested for Mrs. Bryan by Mr. Bennett. He said that when he received the royalties on his book "the first battle" he gave Mrs. Bryan, who wrote the biographical sketch, a sum amounting to about $4,000.

This was invested for her, he said, but he could not recall whether it was by Mr. Bennett or by a Chicago firm. The case was adjourned until Monday evening.

Special Trials at Anniston.

Anniston, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—There will be two special jury trials at the present term of the city court, those of LeCroy, white, charged with criminal assault, and Jerry McClelland, a negro, charged with the murder of John Williams, another negro. The circuit court, which convenes here next Monday, will hold one week and take a recess of two weeks in order to allow the United States court the use of the circuit court room.

Accused of Theft, He Killed Self.

New York, October 22.—Charles S. Hanaw, 26 years old, bookkeeper and confidential clerk for a wholesale clothing firm, has committed suicide at his father's home in this city, because he was accused of appropriating to his own use $43 belonging to his employers.

SOUTHERN GOT THE VERDICT

Suit Brought Against Railroad for $20,000 Damages.

Greenville, S. C., October 22.—(Special.) In the United States circuit court today Judge Simonton directed a verdict for the Southern railway company in the suit brought by William Davenport, administrator of William A. Davenport's estate, for $20,000. The testimony showed that Emma Davenport was killed on a trestle near Piedmont by being struck by a runaway car.

J. E. Hart was found guilty in the district court of robbing the Spartanburg postoffice, in which he was formerly employed. Judge Brawley sentenced him to one year's imprisonment in Atlanta prison.

WILL HE NAME LADY OR MAN?

Question Up to Roosevelt in Regard to North Carolina Postoffice.

Washington, October 22.—(Special.)—T. S. Rollins, chairman of the republican state committee of North Carolina, had an interview with the president this morning relative to the postoffice at Lincoln, N. C.

F. A. Barclay is the postmaster, and he has the backing of the organization for reappointment to the position. Mr. Rollins, who is the head of the republican organization in North Carolina since the appointment of Senator Pritchard to the bench of the supreme court of the district, is looked to by the president for the proper dispensation of patronage.

Mr. Rollins wants Mr. Barclay named to succeed himself as postmaster, but Mrs. William E. Shipp, widow of Lieutenant Shipp, who was killed in the battle of San Juan hill, is strongly backed for the position. The president knew Lieutenant Shipp personally and they breakfasted together the morning of the battle in which Lieutenant Shipp was killed. The president is said to be strongly desirous of giving the position to the widow of his old comrade. Mrs. Shipp is fully qualified for the place, being a highly educated and refined lady.

HAVE YOU ANYTHING FOR SALE

The October 26th Edition of The Weekly Constitution Will Reach the Homes of 200,000 Buyers Throughout the South.

Do you want to sell your farm, your cattle, seed of any kind, implements—anything which appeals to the best class of farmers in the south? Have you a bargain of any kind in household or farm goods to offer? If so, you should have an advertisement in The Weekly Constitution of October 26, which will be 200,000 copies and which will completely cover the southern states from Virginia to Texas, included. To send one postal card to each of 200,000 homes would cost you $2,000 for the cards alone, to say nothing of the labor and expense of addressing them. You can put a three-line advertisement in this edition and have the assurance that it will go into each of 200,000 homes—the best in the south—at a cost of only $2.25. Should you want more space, add 75 cents for each additional line. Seven words count a line. One inch of space, single column, will cost you $10.50 for insertion. More space in exact proportion. October 26 is not far off. Rush your copy, together with money to pay for same. Remember, we guarantee that you will reach 200,000 homes throughout the south. There is no better section than the south, financially speaking. People in the southern states have more money this fall than they have had in over twenty years.

Address all copy, with money for same, to ADVERTISING MANAGER CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA.

After the programme has been rendered the judges will make their decision and the presentation address will be made by Colonel E. F. Childress.

While the judges are deciding, people will be entertained with a recitation by Miss Nellie Lee, reading by Frank Lewis Eskridge and a violin solo by W. N. Pugin.

There will be a small admission of 10 cents charged. All are cordially invited.

CHILDRESS IS GIVEN PLACE.

Chairman State Legislative Committee, Jr. O. U. A. M.

E. F. Childress, the well-known attorney, yesterday received notice of his appointment as chairman of the state legislative committee of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

The appointment was made by State Councillor A. G. Martin, of Griffin. Mr. Childress is past councillor of Eureka council, of this city, and is a prominent figure in the ranks of the order.

WHIP AND WATER USED ON BAKER

New York Congressman Roughly Handled in Cincinnati.

Baker Was Speaking for Tom Johnson When He Was Whipped and Drenched by the Driver of a Sprinkling Cart.

Cincinnati, October 22.—Congressman Robert Baker, of Brooklyn; William Everett Hicks, of New York, and others, have been holding daily meetings here for some time in the interest of Mayor Tom L. Johnson's candidacy for governor.

Hicks was addressing a meeting near the postoffice building this afternoon when Anthony J. Scholer, a driver of a sprinkling cart, told the crowd to clear the way, and when the crowd did not move, he went ahead and came very near running over Congressman Baker, who protested, and then the driver used his whip on Baker, and turned on the water, to the discomfort of the crowd that was drenched.

An incipient riot followed, until the police arrested both Baker and Scholer, the latter having fought back. Baker was promptly released, and Scholer was held in bail.

NEGRO CONVICT IS MURDERED

Life Convict Kills Horse Thief Without Any Apparent Cause.

For the second time within a year a murder has been committed within penitentiary walls.

On Tuesday night, October 20, at the penitentiary camp of the Canada Lumber Company, at Worth, Worth county, Henry Tucker was stabbed to death by Ned Jack Ferguson. The cause of the killing is not known, and, indeed, there seems to have been little motive other than sudden anger from some imagined cause.

The coroner's jury, a report from which has been received at the office of the prison commission, declared the killing to be murder. Ferguson will be turned over to the Worth county authorities for trial.

Ferguson is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for murder. He was convicted in Talbot county in 1895. Tucker was serving a sentence of fifteen years for horse stealing, having been sent up from Sumter county November 12, 1902.

This is the second homicide of the kind that has occurred in the penitentiary within the last year. Less than a year ago Charlie Phillips, a negro who was serving a life sentence in the Dade county camp for murder, killed a convict named Davis with a pick. He was hanged within a little more than a month after the crime was committed.

TIGER SCORED BY M'LAUGHLIN

Brooklyn "Boss" Says He Will Not Support Tammany.

New York, October 22.—The action of the special committee of the democratic county committee of Brooklyn in recommending an indorsement of the whole democratic city ticket by the district associations led today to a sharp statement on the part of Hugh McLaughlin. McLaughlin said in part:

"Despite the action of the special committee I take back nothing that I have said and abate none of my desire to have the community roused in antagonism to all the evil with which Tammany is identified. I see in the present campaign that deeper than any political issue lies the great moral issue of decency against crime, purity of life against 'red lightism,' honest in public affairs against graft. It would be impossible for me to give any countenance to what Tammany is and is doing without being false to the people of Brooklyn, false to my own convictions and doubly false to the whole cause of good government."

Case of Promoter Wright.

London, October 22.—The case of Whittaker Wright, the company promoter, against whom the grand jury at the Old Bailey found a true bill October 20, on the charge of attempting to defraud the stockholders of the London and Globe finance corporation, was adjourned today until the November sessions on the application of Wright, whose defense is not ready.

IN THE REALM OF SUPERB MILLINERY

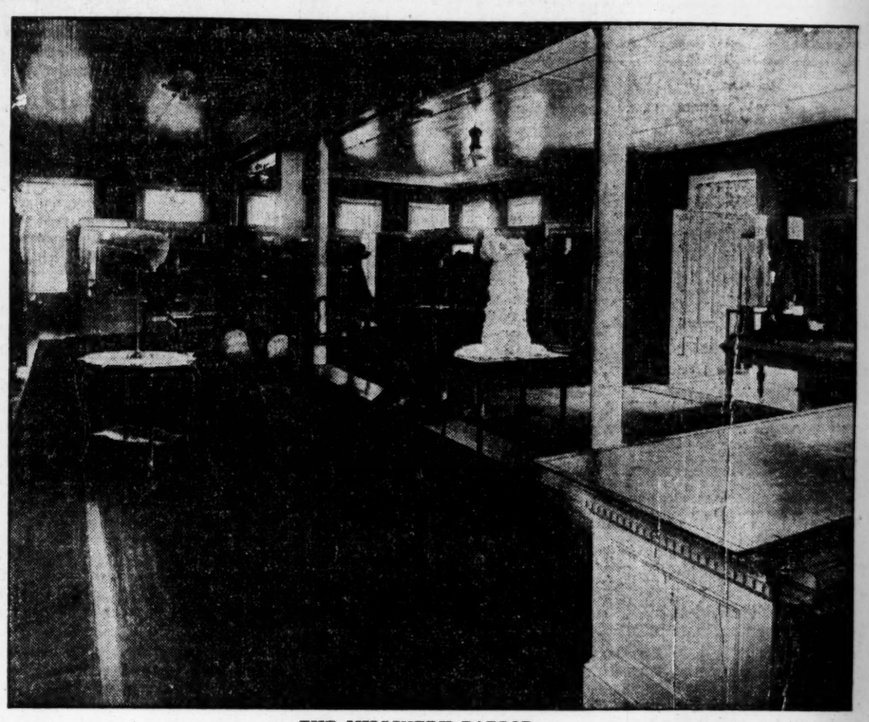

FALL HATS GALORE IN THE MOST STUNNING ARRAY AT CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DUBOSE COMPANY.

Hats from that Mecca of the millinery world—hats from Paris, and still more hats from this progressive house's own work room.

It is this work room that's the real power behind this millinery showing and every hat is correct with a correctness that sets the feminine heart in a flutter of admiration—correct because they are designed artistically by those who have had all the advantages. Every idea must be carefully studied, then it must be as carefully executed on the hat. 'Tis this very carefulness that makes the French creations par excellence the millinery measuring stick of the world.

A glance at this busy work room will show, even when overwhelmed with hats to be "gotten out," how painstaking every little thing is looked after to produce a perfect hat—a masterpiece of millinery each one of them.

Some forty-odd young ladies, all schooled in this subtle art of velvets and furs and feathers, produce these millinery wonders.

THE MILLINERY PARLOR.

Hats From This Work Room and From Paris.

For instance, one hat that's shown is a large black lace creation, elaborately trimmed with black tips clustered at the front. Simple enough, but it's in the knowing just how that gives the charm.

Another pink maline, Val lace and pink roses: A large picture hat in an exquisite soft pink effect.

Then a fur conceit, of beautifully marked Hudson Bay sable, with a bow of paradise plumes and facing of lavender French crepe.

Another is in lilac chenille, with pastel shaded roses. This, too, is a large picture hat.

These chenille hats are much to the fore—one high crowned design has silk braid combined with the chenille, a Madam Georgette hat. It is ornamented with a magnificent white plume with a Gainesborough sweep and a gold buckle.

Then a Madam Feurly picture hat of chiffon velvet outlined with mink and trimmed with pale pink sweet peas.

Then Virot—there's a charm in the name itself. One Virot hat is in black silk velvet, with a simple decoration of two great white plumes and a bow of gilt ribbon—but what contrast!

The next was a C.-J.-D. Co. hat, but ranking perfectly with its Parisian sisters. Made entirely of pink plaited taffeta with shaded pink to white plumes and shell weave pink ribbon. Another Virot—a turban in fur—the beautiful light gray water mole, with three real ermine around one side of the crown.

Mourning hats, like all the other hats, for that matter, are shown in a room by themselves where the buyer may enjoy the utmost privacy in the selecting.

In mourning this showing leads to the fact that smaller hats for mourning are the correct thing this year.

One mourning hat from this room was greatly admired in one of New York's leading shops upon a young Atlanta widow, but it's not to be wondered at when the careful study put upon them is considered. This hat in particular was a small bonnet effect of plaited crepe, braided about the brim, and finished with a full length box plaited veil.

Another hat for a young widow was a toque or roll tucked crepe, with long waterproof crepe veil to the bottom of the skirt.

Another, a little larger hat, was of folded crepe and full length box plaited veil—a hat for a still younger mourning wearer.

Then the hats without veils, of course—French models of plaited folded crepe.

Then hats, too, of shirred mourning silk, dull effects with crepe, not a detail is missing.

DECIDES SHE'S NOT A WIDOW.

Dorothy Thurmond Won't Fight For Cohen's Money.

Chicago, October 22.—Dorothy Thurmond has decided she is not the widow of the late Abraham H. Cohen, who died recently in a San Francisco sanitarium. Consequently she will not carry out her threat of seeking to establish her legal right. The decision is said to have followed a conference with her attorneys, whose advice was against her claim.

LOVE IS FOUND BY DETECTIVES

Savannah Man Denies That He Tried To Conceal Identity.

Denver, Colo., October 22.—W. S. Love, of Savannah, Ga., who has been missing from his home for several months, and who was reported to have been drowned, has been located in this city, where he has been working as a bookeeper.

An eastern insurance company in which Love held policies delayed payment upon them until an investigation into his reported death could be made. Jordan W. Garrison was detailed to make the investigation and while in Denver on other business accidentally met Love on the street and had recognized him. Mr. Garrison says that he does not believe that there was an attempt to defraud the company in Mr. Love's disappearance.

Mr. Love says he made no effort to conceal his identity since coming here, but used his real name and in seking employment gave the names of Savannah business men as references.

The Iowa idea is pie.

Justice or "the costs"—which?

Dowie is said to be pronounced Do-ie, with emphasis on the "do."

Japan declares that all she wants is peace with honor—a piece, in any event.

Confidentially, Kaiser Bill is gwine to benevolently assimilate South America.

The justice courts of Atlanta are expected to dispense justice, costs or no costs.

If Canada don't like it, she would make several fine states of our glorious federation.

General Uribe-Uribe, if still alive, should cable congratulations to General Boris Sarafoff.

The trust promoter may be out in the wet, but he's fixed for a rainy day, all right, all right.

Well, the administration has at last disposed of one scandal, that of the gloves. Statute of limitations.

Georgia Editors' day at the big Atlanta fair. "A chiel's among ye takin' notes, an', faith! he'll prent 'em."

Evidently Prophet Dowie doesn't like the kind of publicity the newspapers are giving his theocratic graft.

Anyhow, we are glad President Roosevelt was thoughtful enough to tell us what the extra session is for.

Thirteen and a half million barrels of oil in storage in Texas and Deacon Rockefeller still marking up the price.

The bailiffs are not the proper persons to be employed (on the side) as barkers and cappers for the loan sharks.

The "reasonable time" within which to take up the canal matter with Nicaragua is not after the lobby has fixed her.

Uncle Sam might subsidize the American merchant marine by buying out Patriot Morgan's shipbuilding trust stock.

We infer that the late Editor Gonzales was guilty of criminal carelessness in putting his hands in pistolless pockets.

Editor Hearst may sustain a shock to his modesty by hearing cheers for "our next president." The Atlanta spirit is so exuberant!

It must have been painful to Brother Parkhurst to have to subject his shrinking soul to the newspaperiety of an open letter to Brother Dowie.

Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, in which Pittsburg is located, has had fifty-one murders in the first nine months of the present year. It seems Kentucky isn't "the limit."

Of course, on their stumping tours, members of the president's cabinet would not think of saying anything that could possibly be construed as "offensive partisanship."

When the public land graft is conscientiously investigated by the interior department, the president will have a fat bunch of new land-office appointments at his disposal.

Senator Hanna referred to Grover Cleveland as "the greatest living democrat," and Mr. Bryan referred to Senator Hanna as "a son of the devil." The Ohio campaign is warming up.

If Mr. Cleveland were inclined to unkind puns, he might, after he was likened to a confidence man, have significantly referred to the esteemed editor of The Commoner as a "come-on-er."

Doubtless a republican congress will be disposed to regard Professor Langley's airship appropriation as a subtle blow at protection. The aerial smuggler would lead the customs officers a lively chase.

A woman of the "new thought," whose unfortunate hubby don't know psychic from physic, has given up trying to explain to him that "love between a man and a woman is, of itself, an insurmountable subjective obstacle (to happiness) evanescent in its very nature, and paralyzing to the conservation of soul-energy; and only when these subjective distortions are cast aside, and the higher potentialities of the spirit are educed, can the submerged mentality become transcendentally greater in scientific idealism, and the ego, vibrating to a dominate note in the thought atmosphere, become a finited spirit potentially whole."

The Visit of Mr. Hearst.

Why Atlanta should signalize the visit of Hon. William Randolph Hearst more than has been her custom with other journalists and congressmen is easily explained.

Atlanta is a city born and built of the energies of men who, without counting their birth and social status, have always lived up to the gospel of "work and unselfish service to the public good." Mr. Hearst is a notable exemplar of the same gospel. Born to riches, endowed with culture and wooed to the indulgences of ease, he refused their immunities and put himself and his great fortune into the mechanisms of creative and productive life. As the master of four popular journals, two in New York and one each in Chicago and San Francisco, he occupies a pre-eminence of opportunities and influence for national patriotism and righteousness.

Mr. Hearst has the distinction of standing for popular rights and a progressive nationalism. He believes in an individualized democracy of equal rights, embodied in a government aggressive enough to assert and maintain the people's rights. No one oppressed is so poor as to be spurned at his doors and none who oppress are so high as to escape his burning condemnations.

As a journalist he has been a pathfinder. Indeed, he can be said to have invented that new order of American journalism which unites the highest news enterprise with a perfect dignity of dispensation. The sincerest tribute to his success in the field he pioneered is the army of imitators who try to follow the track of his great quartet of exemplars.

In his character as worker, journalist and democrat he will receive in Atlanta the threefold welcome and appreciation that he has so richly earned from his sympathetic countrymen, especially those of the south.

A Chattel Loan Bank.

The recent discussion of the extortion practiced by some Atlanta money lenders should lead to at least one good result. There are plenty of men in Atlanta who have funds to invest for a good steady profit and it should be easy for enough of them to get together and establish a collateral loan bank, such as exists in European countries, in Massachusetts and other states, where the poor who can show good working reputations and honest dealings with their creditors can borrow money on their good credit or collaterals, in small sums and at the contract rate of interest. Such business usually prospers and pays handsome dividends, while not wasting and robbing the poor.

As an evidence that the plan will pay even where the interest charged is but half what may be legally asked here in Atlanta, we reproduce an advertisement that runs every day in the year in the Baltimore newspapers, and reads as follows:

THE CHATTEL LOAN ASSOCIATION, OF BALTIMORE CITY.
ORGANIZED IN 1898 TO SAVE BORROWERS FROM EXTORTION.
ROOMS 1 AND 2, NO. 12 ST. PAUL ST.

Money Loaned on Furniture, Pianos, etc. (without removal), at 6 per cent per year on Drop-Interest Plan, and charges as fixed by state law of 1902. Monthly installments, each payment reducing entire debt, the system originated by this Association.

F. S. Hambleton, Pres.; D. C. Ammidon, Vice Pres.; Dan'l W. Hopper, Treas.; W. N. Finley, Manager. Agent will call if desired.

WE HAVE NO BRANCH OFFICES.

The plan adopted by the above association, officered by leading citizens and holding out such inducements, would put nearly every loan shark out of business in Atlanta and accumulate to itself a large volume of safe and profitable business.

In France any person of family and good repute for honest dealing can go to the local branch of the Bank of France and borrow from five francs (one dollar) upward to reasonable sums on the same terms as to interest as the person who borrows ten thousand or a hundred thousand francs. This is one of the always named reasons for the honesty, frugality and saving power of the peasantry and shop-people of France.

The Constitution believes such a bank, as a private corporation or co-operative association, would be a great providence to the honest poor of Atlanta and a good dividend payer to those who humanely invest their money in it.

Good Roads Make Good Schools.

It is to be hoped that before the authorities of any county of consequence in the state decide definitely not to demand their quota of short term convicts for road building service they will debate the whole matter with impartial and business sense.

Most of the counties in Georgia need good roads quite as imperatively as they need money to support and enlarge their schools. Good roads inevitably save money to every user of them, enhance the value of adjacent properties and increase population, and these in combination make possible larger appropriations, local and general, for the county school systems.

Simply because the rate of convict hire is increased by the recent bidding and more money to the counties is promised from that source, should not weigh for a moment with truly patriotic business men against using the county short term convicts in the work of radiating the county with first-class and permanent roads.

In the end it will be found that the refusal to work these convicts in making good roads will prove a self-defeating policy. One county will grab for the money and rejoice in teaching its youth the full filigree curriculum prescribed by our modern mental healing doctors of pedagogy. Another county will build good roads, double the value of its farms, build up the commerce of its towns, find its revenues enlarged and its tax rate reduced—and the children of the first county, when school-fledged, will promptly move over into that other county and enjoy the good roads and their consequences that their own daddies denied them at home.

Indeed, it is hardly possible to specify a more unwise policy for any progressive county in Georgia to adopt than to sacrifice the advantages of the convict road-building act to the present greed for a few more dollars to be inconsequentially spent on the present school system. It is better to let both benefits grow together equally.

McLaughlin Again on Deck.

Whenever the republicans want the services of an acrobatic political economist to say things for them that smother sense with sound they call out Professor McLaughlin, of Chicago. And McLaughlin is again on deck, but for the life of us this time we cannot make out whether he is riding toward the trunk or the tail of the elephant.

The one understandable thing that he says is that if there is to be any change in the present tariff act it ought to be accomplished by revision instead of by reciprocity treaties. He thinks a dozen or so of those special conventions will only tend to confuse trade relations. Every time we want to sell a bill of goods to a foreign country he thinks it would be necessary to hire a Philadelphia lawyer to elucidate the special treaty conditions on which the trade could be safely consummated.

By omitting all reciprocity treaties, arranging for retaliatory rates against those nations that try to do us a scurvy trick, and then revising the tariff in the places needed to enlarge our own interests, the American can easily know how to conduct his foreign exchanges.

There is good sense in that part of Tariff Actuary McLaughlin's advice. But it is not good republican doctrine. It does not accord for a little minute with Uncle Mark Hanna's stand pat g. o. p. gospel. It does not gee with the late President McKinley's ideas. It is the doctrine now being denounced from all republican stumps as free trade in spots—an assault on the sacred schedules by flank movements!

Professor McLaughlin should retire and examine the contents of his ammunition chest. He will probably find that in the hurry of his rush to the relief of the stand pat pachyderm he has picked up a piece of democratic Greek fire that threatens to burn up the whole line of Dingley barricades.

That Fifteenth Appendix.

Our always esteemed and interesting contemporary, The Springfield Republican, takes up The Constitution's review of Mr. Braxton's monograph on the vagarious history of the fifteenth amendment. Of course, The Republican repudiates the whole contention that negroes can be excluded from holding office, because it says that though such an act by a state would not violate the fifteenth amendment, it would butt up against the fourteenth amendment, "which forbids a state from abridging the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States."

But how does our esteemed Springfield contemporary explain the bitter fight that Senator Wilson, afterwards vice president, "the Natick cobbler" of Massachusetts, made for the retention in the fifteenth amendment of the words "and hold office?" If that right was fully embodied in the terms of the fourteenth amendment, why was he and his colleagues favoring the amendment in toto so bent upon retaining those words?

Will our friend read the debates of the hour and tell us what it thinks of General Logan's argument, which prevailed in the conference committee, that "the right to say who should hold office was properly left, by the constitution, to the states, and they would never consent to surrender it!"

Does our contemporary also mean to ignore the historic fact that Daniel Webster, "the great expounder" of the constitution, said in the constitutional convention of Massachusetts in 1820, "that no man has the right to hold office, but the people have the right to define and make the terms and conditions upon which offices shall be held?"

Does it also dodge the fact that Senator Wilson, voting for the conference report, the fifteenth amendment as it now stands, said: "I am willing now to give them the right to vote, if I cannot get for them the right to be voted for. I will take that, if I cannot get any more!" It will find the words in the Congressional Globe, February 26, 1869, p. 1627.

Again, our esteemed contemporary is historically wrong in saying that Senator Edmunds held the words "and hold office" unnecessary to confer that right upon the negro citizen. The fact is that Senator Edmunds was the only member of the conference committee who objected to striking the words and disagreed to the report with them left out.

Equally out of concord with good authorities is The Republican when it argues that two-thirds of a quorum of either house can constitutionally pass an amendment to the constitution. Senators Garrett Davis and Thomas A. Hendricks protested the vote at the time. Senator Sumner, February 4, 1865, offered in the senate a joint resolution that two-thirds of the membership of both houses would be constitutionally necessary to adopt a proposed amendment. Senators Edmunds Morton and Pomeroy evidently thought the same thing and the two former refused to vote on the passage of the fifteenth amendment in the senate in order to make the vote on it a failure—the one because the negro was not given the right to hold office, and the other because the benefits of the amendment were not extended to women of voting age!

So, it seems to us, it is up to The Republican more than to Mr. Braxton to "try again!"

AN ISSUE OF ISSUES

(From The Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Our esteemed Louisiana contemporary, The New Orleans Times-Democrat, hits the nail squarely on the head when he says, "if something definite be not done for the construction of an Isthmian canal during the coming session of congress there is no reason why the building of an isthmian canal may not be made a paramount issue in the next presidential election." But why wait for the next congress? The Spooner act directs the president, in case Colombia rejects the treaty—which Colombia has done—to go ahead with negotiations for the building of the Nicaragua canal. If the president fails to do this, he makes himself the creature of the Transcontinental railway ring if not the suspect of the Franco-American combine. There is the biggest kind of an issue here. Upon it the democratic party can make a clean sweep of the Pacific states next year.

And, following this cue, we venture to beseech our esteemed contemporary, The Atlanta Constitution, to quit its chaffing and get down to business. The Courier-Journal needs its sympathy and support; if it will take the lead we will willingly follow it in the matter of the isthmian canal question. No greater issue of a material kind has presented itself to the gulf states of the south these five and thirty years.

The republican party, at once the creator and the creature of the Transcontinental railway trust, has during all these years played fast and loose with the canal proposition. When it could no longer escape, or evade the plain mandate of the people, it began to juggle. Out of this the senate hold-up of the Morgan-Hepburn bill had its emanation. Out of that the Panama job. Out of that the Hay-Herran treaty. Out of that the present scandalous situation

The president means to do nothing. He is the slave of the Transcontinental railway ring. The alternative clause of the Spooner act was never meant to be obeyed. It was the merest tub to the whale of public opinion.

The republican newspapers started out to browbeat The Courier-Journal because of its plain speaking. Failing in this, they began to bully-rag and ridicule. As to debating the question, not a bit of it. They dare not. They know too well the rottenness inside. But what is the matter with the democrats? In particular, where are the newspapers of the gulf ports, so deeply concerned by this business? All they have to do is to investigate for themselves.

Meanwhile, let the national democratic committee send a good man to Paris, where he will find material in plenty; for the Frenchmen, balked of their prey and cheated of their plunder, are ready to squeal. As to Washington, the time is near at hand when even its whispering galleries will be forced to open their ponderous portals and give up their deadly secrets. The gray wolves of the senate will have to come into the open, and the skunks of the lobby to slink into their holes, or show their heels. As to the two or three nasty little poodle dogs of the southern press that bark they know not why, they will with a final yelp and a whine drop back into the kennels where they belong.

Up to the front, Mr. Howell! Mr. Baker, of The Times-Democrat, has pointed the way; if you do not want to lead yourself, let both of us follow him. This is no laughing matter. It means justice to the south, the equality of all the sections, the redemption of the Pacific states from bondage, and a great American waterway to the other side of the world, or—in these default—millions to the boodlers, millions to the ringsters, millions to the gray wolves of the senate and millions for the vile skunks of the lobby!

STATE PRESS SIDELIGHTS.

If there is anything stronger than a good strong utterance, it is a sentient silence. The LaGrange Graphic notes that Arthur Pue Gorman "is keeping silent in four languages and twenty-three dialects."

In view of the recent emphatic editorial comments The Albany Herald thinks "Jim Tillman can't find much fun in reading the newspapers these days."

The Dawson News is quite indignant at some criticisms that have been leveled from the outside against that county's dispensaries, which have proved so beneficial to that county and says:

"Some meddlesome outsiders, including a paper or two, are very indignant because the Terrell county dispensaries are decently conducted and have made some money. They probably do not know the situation here, but if they do good sense and a spirit of fairness would cause them to cease their rantings."

According to The Dawson News the penitentiary problem is nearing a solution in Georgia, "when a part of the state's felons are building good roads and the remainder, under humane treatment, bringing into the state treasury more than twice as much money as heretofore."

A Wall street panic, according to The Rome Tribune, attracts about as much attention these days as a South American revolution—

Or a brand new G. O. P. scandal.

Griffin News: In Tom Dixon's new book, "The One Woman," occurs this bit of timely philosophy: "High above his mantel he had carved these words: 'I am an old man and have had lots of trouble, but most of it never happened.'"

If we would only be guided in the present by a regard for the future and in the future by a knowledge of the past, we would avoid much trouble all the time.

The LaGrange Graphic thus answers a young correspondent:

"No, Willie, the bread-winner and the loaf are not synonymous. And besides the latter is subject to the vagrant law."

Thomasville Enterprise: "A contemporary says that 'Senator Platt took time by the forelock.' And Time took Senator Platt's forelock and other locks, too, several years ago."

GOSSIP OF THE HOUR CAUGHT AT CITY HALL

ARRANGEMEITS were made during the special session of council yesterday afternoon for an asphalt paving on North Pryor street from the railroad tracks to the junction with Peachtree street. From a statement made by Councilman Key, it appears that the Messrs. Venable will bid against the Southern Paving and Construction Company for the work.

Directly after the session began the resolution which empowered the mayor to let the Pryor street contract to the Southern Paving and Construction Company upon the same terms that the Peachtree street asphalt is being laid, was repealed. This was done on motion of Councilman Key.

Two measures were then introduced, one authorizing the chief engineer of Atlanta to advertise for bids for the Pryor street asphalt paving and the other instructing the city clerk to advertise in the official organ of the municipality the fact that the asphalt paving will be laid.

Having thus accomplished the purposes for which the special session was called, council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

During the session of the aldermanic board which immediately followed the meeting of council the measures in the matter of the Pryor street asphalt were concurred in by the alderman and they will now go to Mayor Howell for his signature.

Aldermanic Board Had Session.

The regular meeting of the aldermanic board was held yesterday afternoon. The board always assembles on the Thursday following a regular meeting of council. Few matters of importance were considered by the board yesterday. It was a very brief session.

Sidewalks Given Away.

An ordinance giving Walker P. Inman the right to excavate under the sidewalks at the corner of Edgewood avenue and Exchange place came to the aldermanic board from council yesterday with the favorable recommendation of the street committee and the favorable action of council noted upon it. The aldermanic board sent it back to council because of the fact that the city was not, he declared, to be absolved from responsibility for accidents that might result from the excavations.

Council usually requires a clause in such ordinances providing that the title to the property is to remain in the municipality and that the city may demand the right to use its property at any time, but such provisions were not in the measure which was read yesterday and no mention was made of inserting them.

The custom of excavating under the sidewalks has been in progress for many years. A large number of Atlanta buildings now use the city's sidewalks and pay no rent for them. Alderman Welch made a fight upon this subject when he was a member of the aldermanic board and wanted to demand rent from those who use the sidewalks but he could not convince his confreres of the propriety of his position and nothing was done about the matter.

Bridge Work Is Delayed.

Work is at a standstill on the Peters street viaduct because of the failure of certain of the steel parts to reach the city. Grant Wilkins, the contracting engineer for the work, has received the invoices for the steel work and is every day expecting its arrival.

Mr. Wilkins has been put on notice by Mayor Howell and Chief Engineer Clayton that no more payments will be made on the bridge until after it has been completed and is ready for use. There are no differences between Mr. Wilkins and the city officials regarding the matter and he is apparently as anxious to complete the work as they are.

The delay was caused by the change in the plans for the bridge, more steel having been made necessary by the change from a wooden to an asphalt flooring.

City Hall Closed Yesterday.

The city hall was closed yesterday afternoon for the purpose of allowing the city officials and the clerks in their departments to visit the Southern Interstate fair on Atlanta day.

By order of the mayor all offices were closed at noon and shortly afterwards the place was as deserted as it is on Sundays. Nearly all the clerks went to the fair grounds with their families to enjoy the half holiday.

Mrs. Ryan's Claim Paid.

The aldermanic board yesterday afternoon concurred in the favorable action of council upon the claim of Mrs. John Ryan for $1,900 damages because of the change in the grade of Whitehall street from Garnett to Brotherton streets. The sum is what the chief engineer estimates will be required to adjust the home of Mrs. Ryan to the new grade.

The award to the claimant was made by a board of arbitration which met in the office of the mayor and which heard all the evidence in the case.

No Committees Will Meet.

This is the off week in the city hall. Except for the meeting of the board of water commissioners on Wednesdays and the meeting of the aldermanic board on Thursdays nothing is done by the legislative department of the municipality on those weeks that begin with sessions of council.

During the latter part of next week there will be meetings of the standing committees, but until then affairs at the hall will be rather quiet.

No Developments in New Viaduct.

There were no developments yesterday in the proposition to sell the Nelson street bridge to the Southern railway for a sufficient sum to construct a new branch bridge to the Mitchell street viaduct and leave the city a sum of money with which to make other improvements.

As was stated by The Constitution yesterday morning it is the wish of Mayor Howell to construct a new bridge from Nelson street to a point about one-fourth the distance across the Mitchell street viaduct. If he can do this and by the same tranaction secure enough money to make other local improvements he will favor disposing of the Nelson street bridge to the Southern railway, which is anxious to acquire that property because of the increase space the railroad would have for freight purposes.

A tentative propostion of this kind is said to have already been made to General Agent J. S. B. Thompson, of the Southern, and some kind of an answer is expected in a few days.

The Peters Street Barbecue.

City officials are whetting their appetites for the Peters street barbecue which will be given next Thursday at the junction of Walker and Peters streets. The cue is to be given for the purpose of celebrating the completion of the improvements that have been made on Peters street during the past two years.

Speeches will be made by a number of city and county officials and by some who want to be city and county officials. The Peters street entertainment is expected to be the most notable gathering of those who are in politics and those who want to be in politics that Atlanta has had for several years.

Complain of Sewer Flushers.

Officials of the department are again renewing their complaint of former years about the flushing of sewers. The waterworks men declare that the flushers of the military department turn on and shut off too suddenly the water from the mains, thus causing water hammers which jar the machinery at the pumping station.

It is probable that the officials of the water and sanitary departments will have a conference about the matter and endeavor to reach some adjustment.

CURRENT COMMENT.

McKinley at Antietam.

(Private Dalzell in Washington Post.)

McKinley's monument is the finest on the field. The inscription struck me as most touching, fitting and truthful. "To the memory of William McKinley, commissary sergeant of the Twenty-third Ohio volunteer infantry, who had, under fire, served coffee to his comrades at the front on the evening of the battle, September 17, 1862." Not President McKinley, not Major McKinley, not Governor McKinley, not Congressman McKinley, but simply "William McKinley"—that's how it reads, and for once the truth, and the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, is told in memorial marble and bronze and granite.

Modern Methods in the South.

(From The Southern Farm Magazine.)

It is amusing to see how often northern writers will attempt to belittle the agricultural interests of the south without having any information concerning the subject upon which they write. A little settlement in the hill lands of Alabama or Georgia, a truck patch in the Everglades of Florida, a farm on the slopes or on the tops of the Appalachian mountains, a district 30 miles from the railroad, are no more fit places to study the agriculture of the south than the small clearings on the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts or on the Adirondacks of New York are for the study of the agriculture of the north. These writers should visit the best portions of middle Tennessee, the valleys of east Tennessee, the rich loess region of west Tennessee, the fertile lands of the Shenandoah valley, the blue grass regions of Kentucky, the black lands of Alabama and the river districts of Virginia, the cotton districts of eastern North Carolina and the sugar growing districts of Louisiana, and learn that there is something better than bull tongue plows in use among the farmers of the south. It is sublimely ridiculous to send out such silly statements concerning the south. The unfairness of such representations is not creditable to the press of the north.

Gambling in Hot Springs.

(From The New York Press.)

From Hot Springs, Va., comes the news that the frisky crowd down there is gambling for high stakes. "Bridge" is the most popular game with the New York and Boston element, but a "rapid" set from Pittsburg and Chicago clings to poker. These damp days are conducive to gambling, and in the hotels the parlors are filled with card-playing guests. In the evenings the ardent gamblers retire to the rooms of guests, and until early in the morning the click of the chips may be heard. A young married couple from Buffalo are extremely popular because they had their inlaid roulette wheel brought on. In their room at night a chosen half dozen play this most alluring game. A few conservative families gasp at the proceedings.

Powers of the Average Man.

(S. M. Crothers in Atlantic Monthly.)

The factor which is overlooked by those who fear the ascendancy of any quixotic notion, is the existence of the average man. This individual is not a striking personality, but he holds the balance of power. Before any extravagant idea can establish itself it must convert the average man. He is very susceptible, and takes a suggestion so readily that it seems to prophesy the complete over throw of the existing order of things. But was ever a conversion absolute? The best theologians say no. A great deal of the old Adam is always left over. When the average man takes up with a quixotic notion, only so much of it is practically wrought out as he is able to comprehend. The old Adam of common sense continually asserts itself.

Judge Gray on the High Bench.

(From The Boston Herald.)

There is a report going round that President Roosevelt has Judge George Gray in mind as Justice Shiras' successor in the United States supreme court. The president undoubtedly has a high opinion of Gray, as shown in the appointment to the strike commission, and he has been consulting him in the matter of the latest Delaware appointment. Judge Gray was appointed to the United States circuit bench by President McKinley as a reward for throwing his convictions overboard and signing the Paris treaty for Philippine annexation, and afterward voting for ratification in the United States senate. President Roose-

Wants the Whipping Post.

(From The Philadelphia Press.)

Judge Ivory G. Kimball, of the Washington city police court, believes the whipping post should be again set up in the District of Columbia for the punishment of husbands who beat and maim their wives. In speaking on this subject Judge Kimball said:

"No punishment is too severe for a man who beats his wife. Still if they are sent to jail their families are left to shift for themselves. We need legislation whereby such offenders can be punished without injuring the family. In my opinion, the whipping post is the proper punishment for the man who assaults his wife."

TALKS ABOUT ATLANTA.

Thomasville Times-Enterprise: Atlanta is hifalutin since she had a horse show and has changed the names of a lot of streets for high sounding appelations.

Calhoun Times: The Atlanta city council has changed the names of the streets of that city so often that half the people don't know whether they are living at home or visiting somewhere else.

Gainesville News: Atlanta's horse show is over and the women are wondering why they paid so much money for so little clothes.

Boston Globe: Atlanta points with pride at her horse show as new evidence that she has attained the proportions of a metropolis.

Brunswick Journal: There's absolutely no use in Jacksonville being jealous of Atlanta's growth and prosperity. They are remote enough from each other to exist without the other. The Jacksonville papers might take the hint.

Dothan, Ala., Siftings: Atlanta always furnishes some of its citizens for all disasters that occur anywhere on earth. She also responds to all charity calls wherever turned in from.

Augusta Herald: Atlanta leads the southern cities because, like a band leader, she knows how to blow her horn.

PRESS DAY THIS AT ATLANTA FAIR

Walthour Will Ride Ten Miles Against Ten Horses.

Champion Bicycle Rider Confident of Winning in Sensational Contest With Ten of the Fastest Racers at Piedmont Park.

Yesterday was Atlanta day at the Southern Interstate fair at Piedmont park and during the afternoon and evening great crowds divided their time between the race track and the Pike.

Quite the feature of the occasion was an exhibition drill before the grand stand. The red shirt battalion with Drum Major Peel in his great white shakko made a great showing and when the fifes struck up "Dixie" and the bugles interpolated a number of the army calls, the big grand stand fairly shook with the cheering. All of the intricate maneuvers were executed in perfect style and every member from the magnificently uniformed leader to the mascot goat were showered with the plaudits of the people. A number of the visiting horsemen were unanimous in expressing their opinion that there was not such another organization in the country.

In riding one of the bucking broncos Sage Brush Jim, one of the vaqueros, narrowly missed a bad fall. As soon as the cayuse was released he immediately bolted for the platform across the track from the grand stand and bucked straight up on to the elevation. In trying to throw himself from the saddle, the rider's foot caught in the stirrup and the horse started to buck off of the platform. A couple of the other cowboys finally succeeded in catching the outlaw and after getting him on the track, Jim again mounted the mustang and rode away.

In the bareback Indian pony race, Chief Powder Face won by a nose. All through the afternoon and evening great crowds thronged the Pike, where a number of special performances were given in honor of Atlanta day.

This is Press day at the fair and the special programme arranged for the visiting newspaper men and Editor William R. Hearst, the distinguished guest of the occasion, is given in another column.

Walthour will again try to win a 10-mile race on a bicycle against ten of the fastest running horses on the track. Walthour will be paced by his racing motor and as the track conditions are far better than Tuesday, the Atlanta champion is confident of success.

Each of the ten horses will run a mile and arrangements have been made to make the breaks in the relays even. It will be remembered that Tuesday the horses had all of the best of this end of the proposition. All of the special free attractions will be continued and the management intend to make it one of the greatest days of the fair.

Entries for the regular races are given in another column.

Tomorrow the fair will close with Children's day and special prices and performances for their amusement.

HAVE YOU ANYTHING FOR SALE

The October 26th Edition of The Weekly Constitution Will Reach the Homes of 200,000 Buyers Throughout the South.

Do you want to sell your farm, your cattle, seed of any kind, implements—anything which appeals to the best class of farmers in the south? Have you a bargain of any kind in household or farm goods to offer? If so, you should have an advertisement in The Weekly Constitution of October 26, which will be 200,000 copies and which will completely cover the southern states from Virginia to Texas, included. To send one postal card to each of 200,000 homes would cost you $2,000 for the cards alone, to say nothing of the labor and expense of addressing them. You can put a three-line advertisement in this edition and have the assurance that it will go into each of 200,000 homes—the best in the south—at a cost of only $2.25. Should you want more space, add 75 cents for each additional line. Seven words count a line. One inch of space, single column, will cost you $10.50 for insertion. More space in exact proportion. October 26 is not far off. Rush your copy, together with money to pay for same. Remember, we guarantee that you will reach 200,000 homes throughout the south. There is no better section than the south, financially speaking. People in the southern states have more money this fall than they have had in over twenty years.

Address all copy, with money for same, to ADVERTISING MANAGER CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA.

MORGAN WILL PUSH CANAL.

Alabama Senator Will Call Up Subject at Extra Session.

Washington, October 22.—While President Roosevelt designated in his proclamation calling congress into extraordinary session on the subject of Cuban reciprocity for consideration, Senator Morgan, of Alabama, has indicated to some of his colleagues his intention of introducing a resolution bearing upon the canal question. Mr. Morgan will endeavor to show that the Panama route now is beyond consideration and he will urge that it is the duty of the president, under the Spooner law, to construct the canal immediately by the Nicaraguan route.

Fobs.

Where is the man who doesn't long for distinction in his dress? We remember this when we select such accessories as fobs, and make it a point to choose only those which are unique and individual. There isn't another store in the south that offers the swell collection of fobs which our cases boast. The charms show the most artistic designs—Indian heads, Egyptian effects, and the Scarabaeus, in the rose gold, polished or Boston finish.

TIMELY CONFESSIONS OF A CIRCUS PRESS AGENT

SEVEN years ago the Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth made its last visit to Atlanta. It was brought here on fifty-six cars. Now its contracts with the Southern, which will bring it here next Sunday morning, and the Central of Georgia, which will take it from here to Macon, calls for the transportation of eighty-two cars. Referring to this fact, Whiting Allen, the veteran newspaper man and circus agent, said yesterday:

"Some curious conditions have arisen in the circus world which peculiarly affect such circus agents as myself, who have been in the business for more than a score of years. Since the show was last here, as is well know, it has toured nearly all the countries of Europe. So many novelties and other features were found there that it has been necessary to almost double the size of the show when it was last seen here. As a result the show has at least reached a point where its enormous size is most embarrassing to the agents. Their complaint is a singular one at first glance, but is easily understood when explained. This show is the first one so large that there is no necessity for the use of the exaggerated figures in describing it. Indeed, Mr. Bailey gave the most positive orders before we started out upon the tour and while we were preparing the advertising matter that no exaggeration must be employed. All of us are guilty of exaggeration to some extent, and I might say, especially when we refer to our own importance, learning, position, etc. As a matter of fact, the Barnum & Bailey show has always been so much larger than any of the others that we did not have to indulge in much exaggeration, but still we could not escape it to some extent. For instance, one show given to using grossly exeggerated figures have stated for years that their daily expenses were a sum far in excess of the biggest gross receipts they have ever taken in during their career; their tent was 520 feet by 250 feet in size, while its actual size was 380 by 180 feet; their seating capacity was 15,000, when their utmost capacity was 4,700, and kindred statements. If we told the truth then we would suffer so by comparison that we were forced into the habit of using exaggerated figures ourselves, but we strained our consciences as little as possible.

"Now that we are so big that we can afford to tell the truth some of the actual statistics may prove interesting. Our daily expenses are known only to Mr. Bailey, and he won't tell what they are. It is safe to say that they are double those of any other show. Our main tent is 486 feet long by 225 feet wide. Instead of having twelve rows of seats as we formerly had, we now have twenty, and if every seat is sold we will have just 200 less than 15,000 persons inside. We have over 600 head of horses, counting in the ponies. Some local baker has a contract to furnish for use on next Sunday and Monday 3,000 one-pound loaves of bread. I do not know how much hay and oats are consumed by the horses, elephants and camels, of which we have thirty elephants and twenty camels. The amount of meat eaten by animals and men is enormous, but I cannot give you the exact figures. Our payroll last week included no less than 1,234 persons with the show, and seventy-two persons in advance of the show, fully twice as many as have ever been carried by us before, and we have always carried the largest number of any show in the world. Our performers are in number double those of any previous year, and every one is a star in his particular line, and the finest that money can hire on either side of the ocean. Our corps de ballet, used in the spectacle, is the largest ever employed by any sort of a show traveling or stationary in this country and includes eighty-three English graduates of the ballet schools of London, and forty male dancers from Vienna; forty trained American choristers also sing in the spectacle.

"But the enormous size of the show is not the most satisfactory feature to our patrons. That is the effort that is made to make everybody comfortable who comes to see us. For that purpose we have first, a solid though portable grand stand upon which are placed 3,000 full sized comfortable chairs. We have fifty-two boxes, each separated from the other by nickelplated iron railings and containing six chairs each. We also have 3,200 of the old-style circus reserved seats with folding back, and then to complete the seating arrangements, we have about 8,000 of the ordinary circus seats, but in front of every one of them is a foot rest sunk six inches lower than the seat in front, so that you may sit on one of them without having your neighbor behind you poking his feet into the small of your back. Now, for every seat sold there is a separate ticket printed for each performance. Everybody who enters the main tent, no matter how much or how little they have paid, holds a coupon showing just what seat he is to occupy. When these tickets are sold we know the capacity has been exhausted and no amount of money can gain admission for anybody. The gratifying result is that while we may turn thousands away from the door there will be a seat for everybody inside, and not a person will be seen standing. We have a large corps of ushers trained in the best theaters in the country to seat the audience, and look after its comforts. We have also most commodious sanitary arrangements with male and female attendants. By abolishing all forms of selling on the seats, and by never yielding to the temptation to overcrowd the tent, we insure a greater degree of comfort than has ever been known before. Some doubting Thomases may ask if Mr. Bailey is running his show for fun. I can answer that question truthfully by saying no, but I can with equal verity say that he is running it as a matter of pride and with a view of keeping his army of faithful followers employed. Wealthy to a point where money has no attraction for him, he has made his show so large and expensive that his margin of profit must be small no matter how big the business. But his pride is gratified by the general acknowledgment in both Europe and America that he is the king of showmen, and that his show really is the greatest show on earth."

VISITING M. D.'S ARE REELECTED

Children Who Are Suspended Are Likely To Lose Their School Seats.

All the members of the board of medical visitors for the public schools of Atlanta who served during the last year were reelected at a meeting of the board of education which was held yesterday afternoon at the Boys' High school. Dr. L. P. Stephens, president of this board, has called a meeting of the members for this evening at 8 o'clock in the Boys' High school, and a full attendance is desired. The plans of D. W. Winburn, for the two new schools, to be erected soon, will be discussed in regard to sanitation, ventilation, and light, and other important business will be brought before the board.

The board of medical visitors includes many of the most prominent physicians in town and is as follows:

Calhoun—Dr. A. W. Calhoun, Dr. M. Hull and Dr. S. Barnett.

Ivy—Drs. A. G. Hobbs, M. Hoke and E. B. Block.

Walker—Drs. W. C. Robinson, J. G. Earnest and A. H. Baskin.

Davis—Drs. Roy, W. B. Parks and J. N. Brawner.

Marietta—Drs. E. C. Davis, V. O. Harden and W. J. Asher.

Williams—Drs. J. S. Todd, A. W. Stirling and J. R. Garner.

State—Drs. J. L. McDaniel, L. M. Crichton and W. M. Cawhern.

Boulevard and Edgewood—Drs. R. R. Kime, C. J. Vaughan and C. E. Murphy.

Crew—Drs. L. Amster and Floyd McRae.

Girls' High School—Drs. W. S. Kendricks, J. E. Summerfield and E. Van Goidtsnoven.

Formwalt—Drs. C. G. Giddings and S. A. Visanska.

West End—Drs. T. D. Longino, W. A. Crowe and W. Jay Bell.

Ira—Drs. J. P. Rosser, Dunbar Roy and L. B. Clarke.

Boys' High School—Drs. L. P. Stephens, J. M. Crawford and W. S. Goldsmith.

Bell and Night School—Drs. Bernard Wolff, T. H. Sims and L. C. Fischer.

Fair—Drs. J. C. Olmsted, W. C. Warren and J. Gaston.

Fraser—Drs. T. V. Hubbard, George Brown and C. E. Boynton.

The matter of insuring the pianos in the different schools was referred to Councilman Warren by the board of education. These pianos have been bought by contributions of teachers and children.

In the case of the suspension of a child, the board of education decided that the seat would hereafter not be reserved for the child until the term of suspension was over, provided that the school rooms were full and another child was an applicant for the seat.

The finance committee was directed to consider the plans and specifications for the two new school buildings at once and to report as soon as possible for the board. The committee will meet this afternoon in Hamilton Douglas' office to consider this matter and a special meeting of the board of education will be held at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon for the purpose of hearing and acting upon their report.

The city council was asked to lay asphalt on Courtland street in front of the Boys' High school. Superintendent Slaton was asked to attend to this matter.

On motion, it was decided to suspend the rule requiring teachers of the high schools to meet in normal class on the fourth Saturday of each month.

Miss Zoe Cannon, a supernumerary at the Fair street school, was allowed by the board the pay of a second grade teacher for the time she was engaged in looking after the extra first grade at Fair, until a permanent teacher was elected.

The resignations of Miss Maud Allen, of the second grade B, Davis street school, and of Mrs. W. E. Padgett, a supernumerary at Boulevard, were accepted, and Miss Kate Moyers was elected teacher of the second grade B, Davis street school, and Miss Virginia Hardin was elected a supernumerary.

The petition of Professor B. S. Davis for an increase in pay, was referred to the finance committee.

The salary of Miss Nellie Dozier, of the Girls' High school, was increased from $700 to $800 a year from this date.

Miss Sergeant was allowed to leave the city from Wednesday of one week to Monday morning of the next without loss of pay in order to attend the meeting of an educational body in Chicago.

The expense account for the month was rendered to the board. It amounted to $19,232.74. Three bills for equipment of the manual training department were approved by the board.

HULIN IS DEAD, YET ALIVE.

Strange Case in Court at Knoxville, Tenn.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 22.—For a third time Silas Hulin, the supposed victim of a murder, was resurrected and appeared alive and well in the court room last night as the chief witness in the habeas corpus proceedings brought to have Clarence Peak, who is under sentence of eighteen years for the murder of Hulin, liberated.

The court, however, dismissed the petition, holding in effect that Silas Hulin is dead to all intents and purposes and that the court had no legal right to interfere with the conviction and judgment which had been properly secured. An appeal was prayed to the supreme court. Two years ago Peak killed a man, who was identified as Hulin. He was tried and sentenced. In the meantime Hulin appeared, but the supreme court disregarded his presence and affirmed the sentence on its merits as tried below.

DENVER FAILED TO MAKE GOOD

Second-class Cruiser Couldn't Make Her Contract Speed.

Boston, October 22.—The second class protected cruiser Denver failed to make her contract speed, 17 knots an hour, in the government's trial test off Cape Ann today.

The Denver averaged 16.28 knots, and while the tidal corrections probably will be in her favor, they will not be sufficient to bring her up to the required speed.

CHANGES IN LAW ARE SUGGESTED

Railroad Commission Discusses Arbitration Cases.

Uniformity in Taxation of Corporations Is Impossible Under the Present Arrangement. View Taken by the Commission.

In its annual report, which has just been submitted to Governor Terrell, the railroad commission suggests some important changes in the law relative to the arbitration of corporation tax assessments.

The commission shows that under the present system of arbitrations, where every case is submitted to a separate board, uniformity in taxation, which is required under the constitution, is practically impossible. If the members of the commission are to continue as arbitrators in these cases, it is suggested that they shall act as a body, determining each case.

The report deals with the work of the commission during the year, and again stresses the importance of the enactment of certain legislation extending the powers of the commission with reference to requiring railroads to accept freight from each other at terminal points, and with regard to compelling them to furnish adequate sidetracks. Another feature is the recommendation with regard to the power of mandamus. Under the present laws the commission is lacking in adequate power to enforce its orders, and to collect fines for violations. What is desired is the power of instituting mandamus suits to compel compliance with the commission's orders and with the laws under which it operates.

Arbitration System Is Bad.

Then follows the arbitration feature, with regard to which the commission says:

"In addition to these matters, which relate to the duties of the commission devolved upon them by the original act creating the board, the members of the commission beg leave to call attention to a subsequent provision of the law, passed in the year 1894, by the terms of which the members of the commission were made ex-officio arbitrators on behalf of the state in the settlement of disputed valuations upon tax returns submitted by the several railroad, express and telegraph companies to the comptroller general. This system of ascertaining values by the reference of disputed returns in each case to boards of arbitration, has been put to a thorough test during the present year, and the commission is fully persuaded that there should be some change in the present law upon the subject. When it is borne in mind that upon each separate contested return there must be organized an independent board of arbitration, each board, not necessarily but usually composed of persons other than those who sat upon any other board, it will be readily seen that it is utterly impossible to bring about any system of tax assessment upon corporate properties which could be even approximately uniform. The general assembly provides no standard of value by which to estimate the value of either the tangible or intangible property of railroad companies. Instead of taxing the corporation as a going concern, and in such way as would reach every element which enters into the value of its properties, it has endeavored to separate into distinct items the various articles of personal property which go to make up its possessions, and the real property of the company, and also its intangible property, and valuing each separately, endeavors by this means to ascertain the value of the corporate assets as a whole.

"With all respect to the general assembly, it occurs to the commission that this system cannot result in anything short of confusion, and especially is this true when it is remembered that these valuations are referred for settlement to as many separate boards of arbitration as there happens to be contested tax returns. The constitution of the state requires that taxation shall be uniform, and it is respectfully submitted that the principle of uniformity can never be applied to any system of taxation formulated upon such a basis.

"The commission would respectfully recommend to the general assembly that if it shall be the purpose of the general assembly to continue the members of the commission in the discharge of this particular line of duty, that the public services will be better promoted, and the public interests better advanced, if the whole question of the valuation of railroad property for taxation was submitted direct to the railroad commission.

"If the general assembly, acting upon this suggestion, should adopt this means of ascertaining the value of the properties of the public service corporations, specific provision should be made by statute, for such returns to the commission of the operations of such corporations as would enable it at all times to understand and appreciate the elements of value which enter into the corporate properties. Powers should be conferred upon the commission to make such examination of the corporate books as would enable it intelligently to pass upon the value of the corporate properties."

Property in Good Condition.

In conclusion the commission states:

"The commission from time to time, during the current year has taken occasion to inspect the physical condition of the properties of the railroad companies of this state. They are found to be in good condition. Many depots have been constructed at various points during the year, and many are now in process of construction. Indeed, upon a careful review of the whole situation the commission is of the opinion that with the changes in the law hereinbefore suggested, there would be no reason to apprehend that the people of any section of the state would suffer as a consequence of their wants of proper railroad service and facilities."

BOND DENIED YOUNG MULLENIX

Sent to Tower on Arson Charge Without Bail.

Judge Nash Broyles Severely Reprimanded Prisoner During the Trial Yesterday—Charged With Trying to Fire Saloon.

Alonzo Mullenix, the young white man arrested Wednesday afternoon by Call Officer W. R. Jones, suspected of having fired the saloon of Charles Calloway, 142 Decatur street, on Wednesday morning, was yesterday bound over to the state courts by Recorder Nash Broyles on a charge of arson. The recorder sent the young man to the Tower without the privilege of making bond.

"You are the biggest fool I have ever heard of," remarked Judge Broyles. "The idea of trying to burn a saloon in broad daylight, while people were on the inside. I will just bind you over to the state court for arson without bond."

Evidence against Mullenix was strong and the recorder expressed the foregoing sentiment in rendering his decision.

Before announcing that he would bind the prisoner over Judge Broyles looked directly at him and asked:

"Are you crazy? Have you or any of your people ever been in the insane asylum?" The defendant responded in the negative.

Calloway, proprietor of the saloon, was the main witness. He testified that Mullenix came into his place of business Wednesday morning and endeavored to secure settlement of a fi. fa. which the saloonist holds against Mullenix's father in law and mother in law for a debt alleged to have been contracted between the parties when Calloway was in the grocery business some time ago. Calloway stated that he declined to settle on terms suggested by Mullenix and that the latter then left the saloon.

Calloway testified further that about an hour later, in the neighborhood of 10 or 11 o'clock, Mullenix came back into the saloon, and without buying a drink or stopping, walked directly to the rear of the place, where there is a large wooden box containing coal, wood, some excelsior and rubbish. Calloway was in the front of the building and he said that he looked up to discover flames leaping out of the box and also that he saw Mullenix run out of a side door near the box. The saloonist then rushed to the rear and extinguished the fire before it had done any damage. Mullenix was arrested late in the afternoon on an East Lake car, corner of Decatur and Butler streets, by Officer Jones.

The defendant made a statement, denying that he started the fire. He admitted being in the saloon and in answer to a question stated that he ran out to catch a car.

CONVICT CONTRACTS SIGNED

Lessees of Convict Labor Making Arrangements With the Commission.

Several of the contractors for convict labor were at the office of the prison commission yesterday for the purpose of signing their contracts and furnishing bond. This completes the trade and they will be ready to begin working the convicts whose labor they have secured as soon as the present contracts expire on April 1 next.

Among those who signed contracts yesterday and gave bond were W. M. Toomer and W. B. Hamby, of Ware county. They secured the largest number of men leased under any one contract, 500, and gave bond for $110,625, the amount of the first year's hire.

John J. Flowers, of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Flowers Lumber Company and of Flowers Bros. Lumber Company, also signed the contracts for his two companies and furnished bond. These companies will work fifty men at Blakely, Early county, and fifty at Jakin, in Decatur county.

The bond of the Gress Lumber Company, of Milltown, was also made yesterday and that of the Chattahoochee Brick Company will be made today. The Gress Lumber Company gets the fifty men which were awarded to W. E. James, of Berrien county.

BAD FOR THE BUCKET SHOPS.

New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges Reach Agreement.

New York, October 22.—The New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges have finally settled their differences over the anti-bucket shop agreement relating to quotations. Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans exchange, has been here for several days and has had conferences with officials and members of the local cotton exchange with the view of settling the dispute which arose several months ago when New Orleans was asked by New York to sign an agreement not to furnish New York cotton quotations to bucket shops.

A definite understanding is said to have been reported, which is mutually satisfactory. By the terms of the new agreement the New York cotton exchange controls its quotations as under the original contract which New Orleans refused to sign. The New York exchange will in return sign a like agreement with the southern exchange.

ROAST IS GIVEN BAILIFF BARNES

Judge Broyles Declares Guilty of Moral Wrong-Doing. Maize Fined.

During the trial of a case in police court yesterday morning Recorder Nash Broyles took occasion to vigorously criticise Bailiff M. F. Barnes, of Justice of the Peace Bloodworth's court, characterizing the action of the bailiff in a certain justice court matter as nothing less than legal blackmail.

Bailiff Barnes was a witness in the police court case and evidence was introduced to show that he had settled an assault and battery case for the sum of $4.50, costs in the case, without the consent or knowledge of the prosecutor. It was the facts in this matter, as told by witnesses, that caused Recorder Broyles to direct a broadcast roast at the officer.

"Your action in this matter is nothing less than legal blackmail," declared the judge, "and the facts should be presented to the grand jury. I have investigated the code in an effort to ascertain if there is not some charge on which I can bind you over to the state courts, but I find there is none.

"You may not be technically guilty of wrong doing, but you are morally guilty. You should be fired from your job, and Judge Bloodworth should do this as soon as he learns the facts. If I was a justice I would fire you in an instant.

"I know that Judge Bloodworth has no cognizance of this irregularity and you have simply fooled him about it. Judge Bloodworth is an honorable gentleman, and I am satisfied that he would have no hand in any such business."

Maize Is Fined.

The case on trial before Judge Broyles involved a charge of disorderly conduct against Joe Maize, a negro, the circumstances having direct relation with the alleged irregularity in the justice court. The evidence showed that Maize had impersonated an officer, representing himself to be both a bailiff and a detective, and Recorder Broyles fined him $25.75. In default of the fine the negro was sent to the city stockade.

The case dates back to a recent trial in police court, in which Mamie Marshman, colored, of 8 Taylor street, figured as defendant. She was fined $5.75 by the recorder on the charge of fighting Julia Evans, colored, of 7 Taylor street. The Evans woman later swore out a warrant before Judge Bloodworth, charging the Marshman woman with assault and battery. On the trial Judge Bloodworth bound her over to the city criminal court under a bond of $50.

The woman was waiting in the court room, unable to make the bond, and it is at this juncture that Bailiff Barnes is said to have intervened. The Marshman woman testified yesterday that the officer came to her and informed her that she could settle the case on payment of $5 costs. The woman did not have this amount and she said that the bailiff deputized Joe Maize to go out with her so she might borrow the money.

She stated that Maize accompanied her to a money lander, but that, failing to secure the money there, he next took her to one of her friends, where she obtained the necessary amount. She testified that Maize then took her back to the court room, where she paid Bailiff Barnes $4.50 and the remaining 50 cents to Maize, after which she was released. Julia Evans testified that she did not authorize a settlement of the case, but that on the other hand she wanted the defendant prosecuted.

Barnes Denies Wrongdoing.

Bailiff Barnes denied the statement that he had settled the case without authority, he claiming that the Evans woman came to him and said that she would allow the case to drop if the other woman would pay the court cost. He further claimed that he did not send Mamie Marshman out to borrow the money, but that as she was crying to see her baby he permitted her to go to her home in custody of Maize. He denied that there was any wrongdoing in his action.

The matter found its way into police court through a report to Policemen Lanford, Norman, Ivy and Cowan by the Marshman woman. The officers later made a case against Maize.

SOCIETY

Miss Gray's Luncheon.

OF the many entertainments given in compliment to Miss Frances Johnson and Lieutenant Hayden, whose marriage took place last evening, none proved more enjoyable than the buffet luncheon at which Miss Jennie Gray entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of her grandfather, Mr. Walker P. Inman.

Sixty guests enjoyed Miss Gray's hospitality, these including the attendantst of the Johnson-Hayden wedding, and the bride's most intimate friends.

Appropriate to the season, chrysanthemums were the principal flowers used in the elaborate and artistic decorations, enhancing the interior beauty of the Inman home. Palms and ferns were used as a background for the glowing yellow flowers, the palms banked in the hallway, and the ferns with yellow chrysanthemums banking the mantels and cabinets, and filling vases and bowls on all sides.

In the dining room, where the elegant luncheon was served from the exquisitely set table, and buffet, the decorations were most artistic.

The centerpiece of the table in yellow chrysanthemums had a profusion of yellow tulle, combined, in its arrangement, streamers of the tulle drawn to the edge of the table at intervals, and there held in place by silver candle sticks, their shades of yellow silk chrysanthemums. The bonbons were in yellow, that color predominating in the minor appointments of the table.

Miss Gray proved herself the ideal young hostess, receiving her guests with cordial grace, and imparting to the occasion that spirit of hospitality that completed its success.

She wore a most becoming toilet in white lisse, painted in yellow flounces, and with her stood, besides the lovely guest of honor and Mr. Hayden, Mr. William H. Inman and Miss Cordelia Gray.

Miss Johnson wore white louisine silk and Irish lace. Miss Cordelia Gray wore an elegant toilet in white lace, and Mrs. Inman was beautiful in black Brussels net and lace.

To Mr. Evelyn Harris.

LAST night at his residence on Peachtree street, Mr. Roby Robinson entertained a party of twelve gentlemen at dinner in compliment to Mr. Evelyn Harris, whose marriage to Miss Annie Louise Hawkins takes place Tuesday evening.

The table decorations were an artistic combination in yellow, white and green, the centerpiece being a bank of yellow chrysanthemums, bordered with asparagus fern.

The silver candlesticks surrounding it had shades of green and silver, and the bonbons were in white and green.

The congenial party invited to meet Mr. Harris included Mr. Clark Howell, Mr. Frank Fleming, Mr. Fred Lewis, Mr. Dan Carey, Mr. Henry Grady, Mr. Marion Jackson, Mr. Eugene Black, Mr. Edward Inman, Mr. William G. Humphrey and Mr. Lauren Foreman.

Turner-Craft.

A PRETTY wedding at St. Phillips church Wednesday night was that of Miss Viola Turner and Mr. Warren Moore Craft, of Winthrop Beach, Mass., which occurred at 8 o'clock.

The bride is an attractive and popular young woman and she was particularly pretty at the wedding in her traveling gown of blue cloth and harmonizing hat, her bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Frances Ire Gere as maid of honor and her brother, Dr. Malcolm Turner. The maid of honor wore a dainty toilet of pink silk mulle with picture hat in pink and she carried bridesmaid roses.

Mr. George J. Yunat was best man and Rev. Albion W. Knight officiated.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Craft left for their home in Massachusetts.

Garrett-Boyd.

MRS. WILLIAM J. GARRETT has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Emma Louise, to Mr. Warren Newcomb Boyd, on the evening of Tuesday, November 3, at half-past 6 o'clock at her home, 194 Washington street.

The wedding will be a simple, quiet one, at which only relatives and the small circle of intimates will be present, but the fact of the marriage is of a broad, friendly interest. Miss Garrett has a large acquaintance and as many admirers through her personal charm and the influence of her literary and philanthropic pursuits, and Mr. Boyd has a wide popularity in the worlds of culture and business.

The only attendants at the wedding will be Miss Augusta Garrett, the bride's sister, and Mr. Donald Stewart Boyd, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride will be gowned in the soft new palais de soie and the maid of honor will wear white chiffon over yellow.

The spacious house will be brilliantly decorated in yellow and white, chrysanthemums to be the prevalent flower, and a reception and supper will follow the ceremony.

Johnson-Hayden.

ST. MARK Methodist church was the scene last evening of a beautiful wedding, being that of Miss Frances Johnson and Mr. Charles Noble Hayden, lieutenant in the Seventh cavalry.

A profusion of yellow chrysanthemums and palms were banked about the altar, these colors being carried out in the reception after the ceremony and in the gowns worn by the bridesmaids.

At half-past 8 o'clock the wedding party slowly entered the church, the ushers coming first, followed by the attendants, who entered in couples down the two side aisles.

The maid of honor, Miss M. A. Phelan, came in alone, just ahead of the bride, who entered with her father, Mr. Joseph H. Johnson, Sr., and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Christian A. Bach, lieutenant United States army.

Dr. Alonzo Monk officiated and during the ceremony the attendants formed a half circle around the bride and groom, making a pretty picture as they stood against the background of soft green foliage and flowers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Annie Burnett, of Athens, first bridesmaid; Miss Effie Beale Phelan Miss Sarah Peel, Miss Irene Hand, of Pelham, Ga.; Miss Louise Gay and Miss Jennie Gray; groomsmen, Mr. Joseph Brown Connally, Captain Kennington, Lieutenant Troup Miller, Lieutenant Butler, Lieutenant Lewes Brown, Lieutenant Frank Kelley, Lieutenant Spring.

The ushers were Mr. Lynn Werner, Mr. Frank Brock Meador, Major Joseph Van Holt Nash, Mr. Travis Huff, Mr. Ulric Atkinson and Mr. Palmer Johnson.

The bride's gown was of white liberty silk, simply but exquisitely fashioned, and her boquet was of lilies of the valley. She is one of the most beautiful young women in the state and it is much regretted by her friends in Atlanta that she will not make this her home.

Miss M. A. Phelan wore a lovely gown of yellow silk and carried white chrysanthemums, while the bridesmaids were gowned in white and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The ceremony was followed by a large reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Brown in Inman Park. Here the decorations were quite elaborate and consisted of chrysanthemums, yellow being the predominating color.

After a trip north, Mr. Hayden and his bride will make their home at Chickamauga Park.

Five O'Clock Tea.

MISS BARBARA ADAIR will be the pretty hostess at a 5 o'clock tea this afternoon at her home on Washington street, the occasion to be in compliment to her guest, Miss Sickley, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The decorations will consist of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums and in the dining room the table will present a lovely appearance, the centerpiece to be of the chrysanthemums.

Between a hundred and a hundred and fifty guests will be present and Miss Adair will be assisted in their entertainment by Mrs. Julian Field, Mrs. Benson, Mrs. J. B. McCarthy, Mrs. G. W. McCarthy, Mrs. Frank Stewart and Miss Martha Boynton.

To Mrs. Biddle.

MRS. E. G. M'CABE and Mrs. J. K. Ottley entertained at a pretty and informal luncheon yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Mrs. Ottley's home on Peachtree in compliment to Mrs. Mabel Biddle, of California.

Those invited to met Mrs. Biddle were Mrs. E. P. Chamberlin, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Walter Cothran, Miss Mitchell, Mrs. E. L. Connally, Mrs. Edward Chamberlin, Mrs. Percival Sneed, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. E. M. McCarthy.

Euchre Party.

THE card party at which Mrs. Henry Herman Hirsch entertained on yesterday morning in compliment to Miss Annie Louise Hawkins was one of the pleasant small affairs of the week.

The decorations were pretty and effective and consisted of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, and after the game a dainty luncheon was served.

The score cards were in the shape of hearts and the prizes, which included a hand-painted vase and a picture, were won by Miss Nell Earnest and Miss Eva Wilby, while the guest of honor received as a special prize a rookwood vase.

Mrs. Hirsch wore a lovely gown of blue cloth trimmed in cream lace with a touch of lavender velvet, and Miss Hawkins was gowned in pale gray silk.

Those present were Mrs. Junius Oglesby, Jr., Mrs. John Hill, Miss Nell Earnest, Miss Frances Carter, Miss Analse Cay, Miss Eugenia Oglesby, Miss Bessie Shaw, Mrs. Randolph Sweeney, Miss Cora Toombs, Mrs. Paul Goldsmith, Miss Eva Wilby and Mrs. Robert Davis.

Maigne-Driver.

New York, October 22.—(Special.)—Miss Florence Estelle Maigne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Maigne, of Brooklyn, and Mr. Giles Clifton Driver, of Atlanta, Ga., were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Sixth Avenue Baptist church, the pastor, the Rev. C. R. McNaity, officiating. Palms and chrysanthemums formed the decorations.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Edythe Maigne, who wore a biscuit colored gown of voile and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride's gown was of tan crepe, trimmed with old lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The best man was the groom's brother, Hamilton Scott Driver.

After the wedding reception at the home of the bride's uncle, Oscar Maigne, 97 Sterling place, Mr. and Mrs. Driver left for a three weeks' tour in the south. The couple will reside in Brooklyn.

To Mrs. J. B. Cobb.

MRS. HUGH N. WILLETT was hostess yesterday afternoon at an elegant reception in honor of Mrs. J. B. Cobb, professor of English at Wesleyan college. The guests, to the number of one hundred and thirty, or more, were alumnae and matriculates of this famous institution, and in every respect the event was a brilliant one.

The remarkable feature of the occasion was the election for the third time of Mrs. William Lawson Peel president of the Atlanta division of the Alumnae Association.

This action of the large membership present, which was taken unanimously, was well conceived, and reflects credit upon the organization. Wesleyan's fame lies not merely in the fact that it is the oldest woman's college in the country, but that it has always maintained a standard of education in keeping with its age and dignity. It is known even beyond the south as an institution of eminent superiority, and, therefore, it is appropriate that the careful choice of an alumnae president who would worthily represent the institution should have resulted in the election of Mrs. Peel. From the intellectual and from the social standpoints she was wisely chosen to stand for the college, and her third election to the office, while it is a compliment to Mrs. Peel, will in her acceptance mean honor to the alumnae.

After the election, Mrs. Cobb, the charming guest of honor, invited all those present to attend the reunion next Thursday and Friday of the Wesleyan alumnae and matriculates at the college, when their entertainment will be beautiful and the sentiment of the occasion memorable. About forty of Mrs. Willett's guests pledged themselves to go and there will probably be even a larger representation from Atlanta, because the reunion will be an event important in the history of the women of Georgia.

Elder-Smith.

Indian Spring, Ga., October 22.—(Special)—The wedding of Miss Rosa V. Elder to Mr. Robert Lee Smith, of Macon, was a most brilliant social function, occurring at the home of the bride, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The home is elegantly adapted for such an entertainment. The two front parlors were beautiful in their decorations, one in white roses and the other in pink begonias. The marriage was solemnized in the spacious hall, a beautiful bower forming a background, was formed of palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums.

At the strains of Lohengrin, played by Miss Singleton, of Macon, the bridal party entered as follows: Five daintily gowned little girls, M. A. and Estell Lindsey, Ruth Carmichael, Gertrude Smith and Ethel Aram, bore the ribbons forming an aisle. Then came the ushers, Dr. Eugene B. Elder, of Macon, brother of the bride, and Mr. H. W. Bullard, of Macken, an intimate friend.

The groom entered with his best man, Mr. C. H. Huthinson, of Jonesboro.

The bride entered from an opposite room on the arm of her sister, Miss Effie Elder.

She was queenly in her wedding robe, which was a creation of soft white material with exquisite handwork of lace. She is always handsome, but never so beautiful and lovely as on this occasion. Her flowers were bride roses. The soft tulle veil was caught by a spray of orange blossoms.

The ceremony was most beautiful and impressive, performed by Dr. J. L. White, of Macon.

Many costly presents were received. Special mention must be made of the magnificent display of cut glass.

A large number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Atlanta, Macon, Jackson, Locust Grove, McDonough and Flovilla. Among them was Mr. Corbin, of Macon, head of the Macon Grocery Company, of which Mr. Smith is a valuable salesman. Hon. Charles L. Bartlett, a relative of the bride, was also present.

The going-away gown was a stylish tailor-made suit of rich brown camel's hair, with a dash of white, and hat to match.

The punch room was brilliant in decorations of crimson, presided over by Misses Beatrice Elder, Bessie White and Louise Smith. The room set apart for the display of the elegant presents was beautiful and effective in golden rod and autumn leaves.

After a trip to Washington city, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends at the Arcadia, Macon.

The Indian Spring and Flovilla railroad was chartered the entire day to convey the wedding guests to and fro. The interior of the cars were tastefully decorated.

LOU DILLON TROTS TODAY TO LOWER WORLD'S RECORD

Memphis, Tenn., October 22.—Lou Dillon, the speedy daughter of Sydney Dillon, with a mark of two minutes for a mile, will be sent against the world's trotting record tomorrow at the Memphis Driving park track. The mare will be accompanied by two runners and will be driven by Millard Saunders. The consensus of opinion among horsemen generally here tonight is that with perfect weather conditions a new mark will be given to the world. The greater performance of Dan Patch today, when he paced a mile in 1:56 1-4, suggests that the track is better and faster than at any time in its history.

WOMAN HUGGED TO DEATH BY GREAT BOA CONSTRICTOR

Berlin, October 22.—A Berlin woman was squeezed to death by a boaconstrictor at Volklingen, Prussia, last night while giving a performance in a menagerie. The spectators thought at first that her screams and frantic struggles, as the snake tightened its coil, were part of the show and applauded and cried: "Bravo," at the realism of her acting.

The attendants, however, saw the woman's danger, ran in and beat the snake and stuck it with knives. The woman was dead when released.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF FOOTBALL

Quarter Back Withnell of St. Louis Eleven Succumbs to Injuries.

St. Louis, October 22.—The first fatality on a local football field had its climax today when John Withnell, quarter back of the St. Louis university eleven, died after an operation. Withnell's injury was sustained in practice Tuesday.

CLOSE SCORE IS EXPECTED

Techs Round Into Shape for the Game with Georgia.

The Tech football team still continues secret practice at Piedmont park and the men are rapidly rounding into form.

Atlantans are all anxious to see a good game on Saturday and are looking forward to a close score. The two contests so far held at Piedmont park were both run away affairs in which the losing eleven never had a chance to score, and did not make their distance more than once. In the Mercer game, the Tech colors were triumphant, and Mercer did not make her distance a single time during the game. And when Tech had the ball in the Clemson game the conditions were the same. The Clemson men broke through the line, ran around the ends, slipped through tackles and guards and jackled their men with loss on nearly every occasion. In one instance, however, a gain of 8 yards was made, and the Tech rooters went crazy with the excitement of the moment. The rest of the time the Blacksmiths had their hands full in preventing the Clemson backs from making more than 20 yards at one buck.

Saturday, however, will see a different kind of game. The rival eleyens of the state will line up in a fight for the state championship, and the contest is bound to be a warm one. Both are using every means in their power to aid in the development of their men, and the coaches are busy devising new plays for use in this important game.

One thing is certain. The score will be far more even than it has been in any game played so far this season on a local gridiron. The style of ball played by Georgia and the Techs is of the kind which is technically known as straight football, and straight football of such a kind as seldom results in a large score. The best that Georgia did last year was a score of 29 to 0 in her favor in the Davidson contest. And few large scores have been rolled up against opposing teams.

The rooters of both colleges are anxiously awaiting the day of the game, and a larger crowd is expected than has attended any previous game played here this season. At all events, the game will be well worth seeing. A large number of Georgia men will probably come to the city in order to witness the contest.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

By Earle E. Griggs.

From out the west there came to us
With beaming smile
A man whom we cast round a welcome arm
And every wile
We used to show him that the heart
Of Atlantans all
Beat the rythm of hospitality
At every call.

From out the press there went to him
With wondrous care
The very vitals of south's welcome free
Beyond compare;
And gathered 'neath the arch of Dixie's blue
Press met press
And gave sweet memories to him who came
From out the west.

Tribute to Mobley.

Columbus, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—At Hamilton yesterday, Judge Butt appointed a committee from the Harris bar, consisting of Captain L. L. Stanford, B. H. Wilton, R. A. Russell and J. B. Burnside, to draft suitable resolutions on the life and character of Colonel J. M. Mobley, the dean of the Hamilton bar, who died just after the last spring term of Harris superior court.

Lineville's National Bank.

Montgomery, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—The secretary of state has received a certified copy of the declaration of incorporation of the First State national bank, of Lineville, Ala. Its capital stock will be $50,000. Fifteen thousand dollars has been paid by the subscribers before the filing of this declaration. The names and residences of the subscribers are John S. Jemison, Birmingham; R. L. Ivey, Lineville, and J. M. Leverett, of Lineville.

To Take Part in the Drill.

Columbus, Ga., October 22.—(Special.)—The City Light Guards, under command of Captain John P. Illges, left tonight for Macon, where they take part tomorrow in the interstate military contest at the Georgia state fair. Some twenty-five of the members of the company went over to Macon.

WOMAN CHASES SNATCH THIEF

Negro Boy Snatches Mrs. R. E. Dixon's Purse and She Pursues Him.

An excited woman, yelling for help and chasing a negro boy along the streets in the vicinity of Gilmer and Moore streets, created excitement about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. R. E. Dixon, of 166 Gilmer street, was doing the screaming and she was after a negro who had snatched her purse at the corner of Gilmer and Moore streets. The boy outsprinted his pursuer, however, and succeeded in making his escape. The police are now looking for him.

Mrs. Dixon ran after the negro a distance of about three blocks and made determined efforts to catch him. A number of people were along the streets, but by the time they ascertained the cause of the chase, it seems, the fugitive had gotten away.

Call Officer W. R. Jones hurriedly responded to a message received at the police station and made a thorough search for the thief, but obtained no trace of him.

Mrs. Dixon had been out yesterday morning to visit a friend and was returning to her home at the time of the theft. At the corner of Gilmer and Moore streets she was approached by the negro boy, who suddenly seized the purse and wrenched it from her hand, at once dashing away, with Mrs. Dixon in close pursuit. The purse contained some small change and the keys to Mrs. Dixon's residence. The thief is described as being about 12 or 14 years of age.

SISTER GAGGED BY BURGLARS

She Was Also Beaten and Tied to the Floor.

Wheeling, W. Va., October 22.—One of the Catholic sisters, aged about 18, of St. John Orphan home for boys, at Elm Grove, one of the city's suburbs, was beaten, gagged and tied to the floor at the home last night by four burglars, all supposed to be negroes.

The sister was the only occupant of the home at the time with the exception of three children and was defenseless. When discovered later her head was badly bruised and she was delirious. When revived she stated that all the marauders wore masks, but that she thought they were all negroes.

AUBURN IN A GAME TODAY.

Will Meet Tuscaloosa in the Alabama Capital.

Montgomery, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—Tomorrow the lovers of football will have an opportunity of seeing two of Alabama's colleges, Auburn and Tuscaloosa, battle for the state championship.

These two colleges have been rivals for years in all athletic sports. Auburn generally wins the football games and the university the baseball games.

There is not much doubt which way the game will go tomorrow, as Auburn has an exceptionally strong team and the university boys have been playing poor ball.

Both teams arrived here tonight, and retired almost immediately so as to be in the pink of condition on tomorrow.

WORLD PACING TIME IS LOWERED TO 1:56 1-4 BY GOOD DAN PATCH

Handsome Son of Joe Patchen, Without a Wind Shield and Driven by McHenry, Goes a Mile in Marvelous Time at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., October 22.—The third day of the harness racing at the Memphis Trotting Association's track was made memorable by the magnificent performance of Dan Patch in a trial against time. The handsome son of Joe Patchen made the mile in 1:56 1-4, clipping three-fourths of a second from the world's record of 1:57 held by Prince Alert and lowered his own record by two and three-quarters seconds. The mile was paced without a wind shield and at the finish Dan Patch seemed as fresh and vigorous as at the start.

The demonstration that greeted the new world's pacing champion as he flashed under the wire was a memorable one. Horse owners who stood about the track before the starters' stand had caught the time with their own watches and before the official time was flashed out across the track they set up a mighty shout and threw hats and caps high into the air. The shout was caught up by the people in the grand stand, the space before it and on the club house grounds, and the victory of the new pacing idol was proclaimed in a long, hoarse roar that rose and fell and reached its climax in a frenzy of noise as Driver M. McHenry pulled up before the judge's stand and doffed his hat in acknowledgement of the acclamation. The trial was made with two runners to set the pace, the sulky preceding the pacer carrying a canvas strip between the wheels. The quarter was reached in 29 seconds, the half in 58 and the three-quarter pole in 1:27 1-4. As the horses swung into the stretch Dan Patch was pushing the forward runner so closely that scarcely a hand's breadth intervened between his nose and the back of the driver of the forward sulky.

The performance of Dan Patch, in setting a new world's record, was a surprise to even his most ardent admirers. The betting was 3 to 5 against lowering the record of 1:57. Scarcely any one had displayed sufficient enthusiasm in the bay son of Joe Patchen to suggest that he might equal the record of the champion Prince Alert, and certainly no one had predicted that he would excel this wonderful mark of 1:57. But he went the mile with so little apparent exertion that tonight his admirers are predicting that he will still further lower the world's record should he start against it with weather and track conditions as favorable as they were when he made his wonderful mile today.

With the exception of the 2:08 class trot the events of the card went to favorites, all in straight heats, except the first race, which required a third start. In the 2:08 trot Monte Carlo, the favorite, had the second heat at his mercy, only to break and lose it within a hundred yards of the wire.

Nervolo, driven by S. Hudson, took the 2:08 pace in straight heats and had endurance and sufficient left to annex the last event of the day, the half mile dash.

Summary:

2:10 class trotting, $1,000: Walnut Hill won second and third heats and race; George Muscovite, second; Topsy, third. Best time, 2:08¼.

2:08 class pacing, $2,000: Nervolo won two straight heats and race; Star Hal, second; King Direct, third. Best time, 2:04¼.

Trotting, amateur drivers; Dolly Dillon won two straight heats and race; Queen Wilks, second; Franker, third. Best time, 2:06¼.

Dan Patch to break 1:59 pacing: Time by quarters: :29; :58; 1:27¼; 1:56¼.

2:08 trot, $1,000: Fereno won two straight heats and race; Hawthorne, second; Monte Carlo, third. Best time, 2:05½.

Half-mile dash, pace, $400: Won by Nervolo; Fanny Dillard, Rsecond; Chestnut, third. Time, 1:59.

BY WAYS IN FRONT IN RECORD TIME

Third Choice in Betting Wins the Feature at Worth.

Dr. Stevens Second and English Lad, the Heavily Played Favorite, Was Third—Race Not Truly Run—Winner Gained by Interference.

Chicago, October 22.—By Ways, third choice in the betting at 7 to 2, won the all-aged handicap at Worth today and equaled the track record of 1:45 3-5 for the mile and 100 yards. Dr. Stevens was second and English Lad, the heavily backed favorite, was third.

The race was hardly a truly run one, as everything back of the winner met with some kind of interference. Weather clear and cool; track fast.

FIRST RACE—Mile: Nellie Bawn, 108 (D. Hall), 10 to 1, won; Blue Mint, 103 (L. Wilson), 5 to 1, second; Fingal, 108 (H. Phillips), 11 to 10, third. Time, 1:41 3-5. Eva's Darling, Compass, Give All and Worthington ran.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs: Tokalon, 110 (D. Hall), even, won; William Wright, 108 (Pollak), 9 to 2, won; Trojan, 97 (S. Bonner), 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Foresight, Fly Lady, Avenger, Kleinwood, Pat Hammon, William Parrish and Yaritomo ran.

THIRD RACE—Mile and a hundred yards: By Ways, 90 (S. Bonner), 7 to 2, won; Dr. Stephens, 100 (Ferrell), 5 to 2, second; English Lad, 94 (H. Phillips), 12 to 5, third. Time, 1:45 3-5. The Don, St. Tammany, Flo Bob and Franglbie ran.

FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs: Golden Rule, 104 (Adkins), 1 to 5, won; Dolly Hayman, 95 (M. Lowe), 20 to 1, second; Callant, 90 (H. Phillips), 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:26 3-5. Introductory ran.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and a quarter: Tancred, 100 (L. Wilson), 6 to 1, won; Dodie S., 98 (J. Booker), 8 to 5, second; Antolee, 101 (S. Bonner), 13 to 5, third. Time, 2:08. Irascible, El Ghor and Chicago Girl ran.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs: Bummer, 103 (J. Booker), 11 to 5, won; Henry McDaniel, 102 (L. Wilson), 9 to 2, second; Stem Winder, 103 (Ferrell), 9 to 2, third. Time, 1:12 3-5. Rag Tag, Beauty and the Beast, L. Wagner, Nervator and Floral wreath ran.

CLERKS TO STRIKE TOMORROW.

Birmingham Merchants Say They Can Fill Vacant Positions.

Birmingham, Ala., October 22.—(Special.)—The friction between the Local Clerks' Union and the Retail Merchants' Association promises tonight to develop into a universal strike tomorrow. The clerks have a close and strong combination, it is stated, but the merchants say the country towns of Alabama and Georgia are full of retail salesmen who will gladly come to the places of their employees. If they strike, a committee of the clerks' association has been engaged today in soliciting funds for the purpose of establishing a cooperative retail store in this city for the employment of the striking clerks. A member of the committee said tonight that $10,000 had already been subscribed to the store project.

The merchants, on the other hand, are angry with the morning paper here because it does not roast the clerks' strike movement, and have raised a subscription of $25,000 as a nucleus to establish an opposition morning daily here.

The clerks will meet again tomorrow night and will cast the final die one way or the other. There seems to be no doubt but that they will strike.

Time, :27½, :52, 1:20, 1:34.

Post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily. Second, driving. Winner, W. C. Capps' b. g., by (imp.) Rossington-Heckla. Dr. Gurnsey raced Crosby off his feet to stretch, then drew away and won as he pleased. Whitsie and Ermack had a bumping match on second turn, in which the latter was thrown hopelessly out of it. George Ketchum had no excuses.

49 FOURTH RACE—One and a sixteenth miles, purse $200, 3-year-olds and over; penalties; allowances:

Time, :20½, :52, 1:19, 1:46, 1:54.

Post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily. Second, same. Winner, James R. Hand's ch. m., by The Bard-Athalaric. The winner raced Ida Penzance into subjection to top of stretch, then drew away and won easily. Hucena off poorly; ran all around the field; finished strongly. Edna Lowe was completely outclassed. Missile ran to the mark.

50—FIFTH RACE—Four and a half furlongs, purse $150, all ages; allowances:

Index.	HORSES—	Wt.	St.	¾	Str.	Fin.	Jockeys.	O.	C.	P.

Time, :25½, :51½, :58.

Post 3 minutes. Start good. Won driving. Second, easily. Winner, John Naylor & Co.'g b. g., by St. George-Nan. St. Noel just lasted long enough to stall off Queen L's rush. Royal Athlete quit at head of stretch. Has Gift prefers a longer distance.

HELLO RAN FIRST IN WINGED FOOT

Quoted at 11 to 5, He Won By a Short Head.

Juvenal Maxim in Front Until Near the Finish When Hello Came With a Rush and Shoved in Ahead—The Favorite Third.

New York, October 22.—Hello, at 11 to 5, won the Winged Foot handicap for 2-year-olds, 6 furlongs, at Brighton Beach today. Juvenal Maxim made the running to within a few yards of the finish, when O'Neil brought Hello up and he won by a short head from Juvenal Maxim. Sweet Gretchen was third, 5 lengths back.

In a head and head finish all through the stretch Mabel Richardson won the handicap, one mile and a quarter from the favorite, Coughnawaga. Two favorites won. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Five and a half furlongs; Dimple, 109 (Redfern), 8 to 5, won; Grayful, 109 (Michaels), 3 to 2, second; Niskayuna, 109 (Hicks), 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:08 1-5. Escobar, Wizard, Jasper and Hydranges ran.

FAVORITES WIN PIEDMONT RACES

Wiseacre Gets Second Event in a Nose Finish.

St. Noel Hurries Home in Last Race, Besting Queen L by a Neck. Royal Athlete Quit and Bell of Minco Fell.

It was favorites day at the Piedmont park races yesterday and while there were no long shots among the winners, there was a goodly line hurrying to the book makers after every event.

Some very rough riding in the first and third events drew reprimands from both the officials and the spectators.

In the first race Joe Buckley had the confidence of the talent and hurried around the track, winning as he pleased. Dr. Crockett was sharply cut off at the first turn and Mountain was forced to pull up. Heroine stopped badly in the run home and was never a factor in the race.

Wiseacre and T. G. Scarbrough fought it out all the way down the stretch in the second race. Wiseacre had the best of it by a nose, but another stride would have bested the nose finish for the 6 to 1 horse. Pinkey B was five lengths to the rear for third place. Apparently Lord Beach was a bit vexed about something, for he sulked and refusing to run, was pulled up. Wiseacre, the winner, was bought at private sale from John Croker while at the park last week.

Dr. Gurney had it all his own way in the third. After racing Crosby off his feet he drew away at the stretch and won with apparently no more exertion than an exercise gallop. Whitsie and Ermack bumped into each other on the second turn with Ermack getting much the worse of it. George H. Ketchum had no excuse to offer.

Welsh Girl finished in jig time in the fourth event with a large number of the spectators behind her at even money. Ida Penzance, a some time winner during the present meeting, at 15, to 1, went to the slates at these same figures, but was raced into subjection by the winner. Hucena developed much at the last and Edna Lowe was out of the running.

St. Noel won the last event by a neck margin, Queen L crowding him all the way down the stretch, Royal Athlete quitting at the last turn. Belle of Minco fell with R. Head up.

The rest of the story of the day's races is told in The Constitution's form chart.

J. R. Croker arrived yesterday from Latonia with Arack, 5 years old; Phil Esher, Race Banter, Back Number and Bodul, 3-year-olds, and Dick Ripley and Tennesseean, 2-year-olds. Some of the string, if not all, will probably appear during the remaining two days.

The Weekly Constitution of

MONDAY, OCT. 26TH

Will Reach 200,000 Homes

The best in the south. Postoffice receipts will be furnished to prove that 200,000 copies of this issue have been mailed to that many homes from Virginia to Texas inclusive. The south is better off financially today than ever before. Farmers have dollars now where they have had dimes heretofore. They can buy anything they need.

A one inch ad. in this entire edition, reaching 200,000 homes, will cost you only $10.50. More space in proportion. A "for sale" ad. of 3 lines will cost you $2.25; for each additional line add 75 cents. Seven words count a line.

If you were to send only a postal card to each of 200,000 homes, the cards alone would cost you $2,000 plus cost of addressing them.

The Sunny South of Oct. 31st will reach 100,000 homes of City and Village folk throughout the south. Its circulation is very high class.

A one inch ad. in this issue for $3.50. A four line "for sale" ad. $1.00. More space in proportion

Will furnish postoffice receipts to prove that 100,000 copies were mailed. Send in your copy at once

NEWS WAS BEARISH AT THE OPENING

Which Was Unchanged to a Decline of Five Points.

WEAKNESS WAS SHORT LIVED

Bulls Availed Themselves of the Position to Start Prices Upward and Tone for Most of Day Was Active and Firm.

New York, October 22.—The cotton market opened easy at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points following cables that were not as good as expected, larger receipts at leading ports than estimated yesterday, and excellent weather reported over the south. This encouraged realizing and some selling for a reaction, but offerings were limited and the bulls soon availed themselves of the situation to start prices upward and for most of the session the market ruled active and firm. There was heavy buying on the advance that was credited to leading Wall street shorts and the bull leaders supported the market until October reached 9.87, December 9.94, January 9.93, March 9.98 and May 10.01, the latter price being the highest so far for the season. At this level the covering became slightly less prominent, and after the wide advances of the last few days many longs showed a disposition to take profits, and from a net gain of about 7 to 17 points the market was sold off in the afternoon and closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 10 points.

The estimated receipts for the leading points tomorrow were about the same as last year and the southern spot markets were again generally firm and unchanged to 1-8c higher. Exports, however, were lighter and a reduction in the ocean rate from New York to Liverpool seemed to indicate less demand for accommodation from this port. While the advance was in progress there was further talk of a December corner; in fact, all sorts of rumors tending to unsettle bear confidence were in circulation. The cables, which at first were considerably lower than due, showed a firmer market later on reports of quick settlement in the Japan-Russian controversy which also helped the bulls in the local market. Total sales estimated at 700,000 bales.

Review of the New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, October 22.—Spot cotton firm and in good demand. Holders were asking 1-8c above board figures, which buyers hesitated to pay. Sales 12,050, including 9,550 to arrive. Quotations advanced 1-8c.

Futures were active today, and at times the market had something of the appearance that it had last summer, when the bull campaign was at its height. The country is flooding the market with buying orders. This action is regarded by many as sustaining the assertion of almost in sight. At the opening prices were from 1 point below to 3 points above yesterday's closing figures. By noon prices had been driven up 10 to 12 points. Heavy realizing sales later in the day carried the market down to within a few points of the opening, the list at the close showing net gains of 1 to 6 points.

Futures ranged as follows in New Orleans yesterday:

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, October 22.—The dry goods market is not declining any in strength, but there is a slight inclination to an increase of conservatism caused principally by the financial situation. Buyers do not seem inclined to anticipate their wants, and yet here and there more or less is being done for spring, and sellers are securing their prices.

The following was the range of cotton contracts in New York yesterday:

Cothran & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 22.—The market gained more ground today, and before noon prices were about ⅜c higher than during the early part of the month. Trading was fairly active, and the tone proved firm. The cotton for sale early in the day was limited, and as buying increased prices advanced rapidly. There was short covering in volume and more or less buying for foreign account. The buying for Europe has been the feature of the market for some time. No signs of any falling off are in evidence and until the demand lets up prices are not likely to recede. The market has now advanced to a point where profit taking on the cotton bought lower is the part of wisdom. A large lot of cotton was taken Monday on the break, and all this cotton shows a big profit. The profit taking yesterday and today has diminished the long interest, but it will require an active spinning demand to carry the market on upward. Still there is nothing in the outlook to induce short selling. We would hardly buy cotton at this level, though a scare on the part of spinners would carry prices higher. It is too dangerous to buy on an advance of ½c this week, and we would wait now for a good break, or not buy at all. Receipts are not as large as the trade expected in comparison with the export movement, receipts are rather lighter than otherwise. This may bring spinners in at any moment, and for this reason short selling is dangerous. There was every reason to buy cotton two or three weeks ago, when the bottom dropped out and the best people were buying. Now it's a very different proposition. Outside factors are as conflicting as ever, and there is the danger of war in the Far East. We would be surprised to see much of an advance over 10c at this season, and in case the south starts to sell prices may react sharply.

We are now running our new Distillery and making Stone Mountain Corn Whiskey to supply all the people. The quality is better than ever. Order just one gallon or less and be convinced.

The Howell Jones Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 22.—Liverpool treated us to a surprise this morning, early cables being some 3 to 5 points lower for futures and 6 points down for spots. This together with prospects for larger receipts and exported better climatic conditions in the belt, opened the local market unchanged to 5 points lower, weak outside longs selling. Eager professionals took all the cotton offered and an upward tendency was started; the market becoming active, the shorts nervous, covering on a liberal scale. In the later dealings news began to assume a more bullish aspect and Liverpool recovered her loss on the close, making a firm undertone during the greater part of the day. The belief is gaining ground that the crop has deteriorated and some statisticians seem to be willing to admit that the crop will be under 11,000,000 while it is still figured that 11,500,000 bales American cotton will be required for the world's consumption. Port receipts today 45,290 bales, against 44,471 last year. The market was steady at 4 to 10 points higher.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter.

New York, October 22.—The cotton market this morning was somewhat under bearish pressure. The opening prices were 1 to 3 points lower for the near months, while the distant options opened about 3 to 5 points lower. Cables were rather surprising to both sides this morning. Liverpool's opening prices being about 3 to 5 points lower. Generally fair weather prevails over the gulf states, but with increasing cloudiness. The temperature changes have generally been slight throughout the southern states, and the temperatures continue below the normal at most stations. Rain is predicted over the southeasern districts tonight and Friday. Oherwise generally fair weather is expected. A fall in the temperature is predicted in the northwestern temperature Friday. With the exception of 2 points lost in December and January around the opening, the market steadily advanced without a reaction to the early part of the afternoon, scoring an advance of 16 to 18 points. In the latter part of the afternoon, the market became weaker, and lost 7 to 8 points of its gain. Receipts at all ports are estimated for the day at 46,000, against 44,000 last year.

DECEMBER WHEAT WAS FREELY SOLD

On Lowering of Cash Premiums and Increased Country Acceptances.

OUTSIDE MARKETS EASIER

December Closed at a Loss of 1-2 to 5-8c—Corn and Oats Were Up 1-4c at the Close—Provisions Closed 2 1-2 to 10c Higher.

Chicago, October 22.—The lowering of cash premiums in all markets and anticipations of increased country acceptances in the northwest were influences that caused free selling of December wheat today and weakness was manifested in that market, the close being ½@⅝c lower. December corn closed 1-4c higher, oats were 1-4c up and January provisions were from 2½@10c higher.

General selling of December wheat was the chief feature of trading today and lower prices were recorded. December opened barely steady on favorable weather and on easier cables, being 1-8c higher. The heavy selling of yesterday was also a bear factor early, as was also the easier tone in all outside markets. Elevator interests and longs sold freely the first hour, and with scarcely any demand December slumped to 79 3-8c. A report from Minneapolis to the effect that there was little demand there for cash from millers was a factor in depressing prices, and December closed at 79½@79 5-8c, a The market was quiet and steady later loss of ½@5-8c. The May delivery was comparatively firm throughout the day on a good commission house demand. Clearances 1,900,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 904,800 against 1,296,620 a year ago. Receipts 51 cars, none contract; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 515 cars, a total of 566 against 762 last week and 1,084 a year ago.

A better demand for corn existed than for some time, and the market ruled firm. Local traders were generally bullish, influenced by the recent good cash demand and by continued receipt of reports from nearly all sections of the corn belt showing poor results from huskings. Commission houses bought freely of both December and May, and there was some selling of May by provision interests, but efforts were light. Closing prices were steady with December 1-4c higher at 44 after selling between 43 7-8 and 44¼ @44 3-8c Receipts 287 cars, 15 contract.

Firmness characterized trading in oats, due largely to the better tone in corn. There was considerable covering by local shorts and the selling was scattered but mostly by longs with profits. After ranging between 35½@35 3-4@35 7-8c, December closed 1-4c higher at 35 5-8c. Receipts 192 cars.

Provisions were quiet, but a trifle firmer, aided by an advance of 10c in hogs. The only feature was a fair demand for lard by brokers. January pork closed 5c higher at $11.87½; January lard up 2½c at $6.55 and ribs 10c higher at $6.22½.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat, 90 cars; corn, 425 cars; oats, 215 cars; hogs, 13,000 head.

The Howell Jones Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, October 22.—The chief feature in the trading in wheat was the selling of December, due to the lowering of cash premiums and the prospects of increased country acceptances in the northwest. That month was weak and at the close showed a decline of 1-2 to 5-8c. May was steady with a good commission house demand. Clearances 1,900,000 bushels. Primary receipts 904,800, against 1,296,620 last wear.

Commission houses bought freely of both December and May corn and a better demand existed than for some time, the market ruling quite firm. The recent good cash demand and reports from very nearly the entire belt as to poor husking, inclined local traders to the bull side. The market closed steady with December 1-4c higher at 44c.

The better tone in corn influenced a firm tone in the trading in oats. Local shorts covered and the longs with profits were chief sellers.

Provisions were featureless except for a fair demand for lard. Hogs were 10c higher, which imparted a firm tone to the market. January product closed 2 1-2 to 10c higher.

Cothran & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, October 22.—Wheat—While general trade in wheat has not been on a very large scale, there has been free liquidation in the December kind, and that option has gone from 1 1-2 premium at the close yesterday to 7-8c over today. It is presumed that the elevator interests have sold the December wheat on reports from the northwest, which indicates a free movement of wheat in that country. Offerings for shipment from Duluth were more pronounced, but the demand slow at prices ranging about 1 1-4c under the previous week. One of the features of wheat has been strong premium at which October wheat is held. There is no doubt but what the improved weather in the northwest has caused a change of sentiment in that country, as their markets all show much lower closings than yesterday. The question has arisen of late, what has become of all the wheat? and we might note here that compiled reports of statistics of the department of commerce and labor showing per capita consumption of certain products in the United States for a series of years, give wheat and wheat flour 6.50 bushels per capita for 1902. Toward the close Armour bought openly heavily of December and presumably same for May through brokers. The close was tame with crowd much mixed as to the course of values.

Corn—The reports coming in from the country have been quite unanimous as to the poor returns on corn which is being husked, and on this many of the commission houses were found to be good buyers and the market advanced sharply. The provision crowd were the heavy sellers on the advance, and the market receded under these offerings. These reports are likely to continue and with the great shipping demand which has taken place lately it would seem that corn would work to a higher level.

Oats have been sympathetic more or less with the other grains, and a number of local operators have bought quite freely. There has been little or no trade outside of this buying and the market was barely steady.

Provisions have kept within a narrow range all day. There was more local buying of lard early by packers, while the selling was mostly by houses with stock yard connections. Only a moderate trade in ribs and cash trade in meats poor, while in lard there was only a light demand. An estimate was given on our stocks will show as follows: Pork 10,000 barrels; lard 84,500 tierces; ribs 33,500,000 pounds.

Baxter & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, October 22.—Trade in wheat was active during the morning, the feature being pronounced weakness in December in all markets, apparently the result of selling of December and buying of May in the way of closing up of spreads. Rumored more liberal offerings of spring wheat in the interior of the northwest had some effect. There was considerable commission buying of May. Actual receipts of both spring and winter wheat, however, continued disappointing, and in this respect there appears to be little or no change in the situation. Weather was fine for fall work and for moving grain. Cables were dull, showing little change and foreign trade in futures was unimportant.

Corn was fairly active and strong, advancing in face of the weakness in wheat on some covering and commission house buying, with reports of less favorable husking returns than expected, although actual receipts of corn are increasing.

Oats sympathized with corn, with moderate trade. Offerings were reported comparatively light and claim of renewed buying by large interests is made. Actual western receipts are increasing.

Provisions were very quiet but very steady. Live hogs were higher and good export buying of lard is reported.

Atlanta Brokerage Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, October 22.—There was further selling in the wheat pit today and the market sought a lower level, but there was evidence of support from strong interests on the lower levels, and shorts were buyers on all advances. The cash situation was somewhat better and the demand from the seaboard was better than expected. Cables were not up to expectations, however, but the foreigners seemed inclined to buy on the lower prices, which was exactly what the local trade had been looking for. The prices during the early session advanced with a considerable amount of snap, but the later portion of the day was devoid of interest. But close observers stated that there is now a general disposition to hold their product, the impression prevailing that substantial increase is imminent.

The corn market was rather sluggish. Professional interests continued to work on both sides of the account, and in consequence the bears were rather nervous. The Price Current confirmed an increase in the country movement, and the offerings were quite liberal today. The export business was slow. The foreign advices were disappointing. And on the declines there was some corn for sale. The primary movement was fair and the clearances were only moderate. Crop news was generally bearish and the general impression prevailed that the weather was favorable for the drying of corn.

There was a fair demand for oats. Prominent commission houses took on a large amount, and shorts covered. However, on the better levels there was a better class of offerings, which operated against the price.

Provisions—The market was supported on all shaded spots and buying was good on the higher levels. Sentiment late was mixed, but traders inclined to wait.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 22.—A reaction in Liverpool was quickly recovered under a sharp demand from the continent, where operators are not only buying cotton in America, but also contracts in Liverpool. On the opening a small decline was established to be quickly recovered on buying by southern exporters, whose offers of last evening were accepted abroad. This demand continued until after the noon call, forcing a scattered short interest, made last evening, to cover. When this advance was established, the exporters began selling, as they were able to buy cotton in the south. That the planters were meeting the advance more freely had been previously felt by the selling orders which came from the south. An increase in the receipts is expected from the large business recently done, which should bring about a reaction. Crop advices, however, show no improvement, and the tendency is to adhere to small crop ideas. The spot market was steady at unchanged prices.

Cotton Seed Oil and Meal.

New York, October 22—Spot cotton seed oil remained dull, but there was a fair demand for late October and November delivery at steady prices. Prime crude, f. o. b. mills, 28@29c; prime summer yellow 39½@40c spot; October 37@37½; off summer yellow 35@37c; prime white 44c; prime winter yellow 44c.

Memphis, October 22.—Cotton seed oil—Car load lots per gallon, prime crude 27½@28c; off crude 21@24c; prime summer yellow 32@33c; off summer yellow none; choice cooking summer yellow, less than car load lots, 42c. Meal—Prime $20.25@20.50; off $19. Cake—Prime $20@20.25.

New Orleans, October 22.—Cotton seed oil easier; prime refined in barrels 35c; off refined in barrels 34c; prime crude loose 28c.

THE NORTH POLE POLAR.

Bruin was ambitious, and, like many of us, his ambition was always getting him into trouble. He was a Polar bear, and lived amid the ice and snows of the the Far North. One day, overhearing a conversation between two Arctic explorers, he said to himself, for he usually talked to himself, not being able to get any one else to listen to him: "I wonder if I couldn't find that North Pole they talk so much about. Here these follows come from way off to the south, and freeze most of themselves and starve the rest, to find something that must be floating around loose up here, where I've lived all my days. By jinks! I'll find it."

For days he wandered on in his uncertain search until one day he saw in the distance something sticking out of the water that he was sure was the North Pole. "It's a pole, anyway," he said to himself, "and I'm sure it's far enough

north to be a North Pole. "I shall be famous if I find what all these men have been looking for so long."

So he crawled along on the ice to where a ship had foundered and left one of its masts sticking out of the water.

"That's it," cried Bruin, eagerly. "At last I have it. I shall hold it till some one comes."

So he climbed to the top.

But no one came, of course.

"Oh! dear," thought he, "how long shall I have to wait for some one to tell my discovery to. This is getting tiresome."

Yes, and it was getting dangerous, for the ice drifted away and left him stranded. For all I know, he's there yet.

"Good gracious!" said he. "What's the use of finding a thing you can't take home to show any one?"

That's true. What is the use?

STATE CHEMIST HAS NOT SEEN IT

Dr. McCandless Knows Nothing of the New Cabbage Snake.

Dr. J. H. McCandless, state chemist, was very much surprised and put out over the report from Gainesville yesterday quoting him as an authority on the recently discovered cabbage snake or worm, which is said to have caused much damage and widespread alarm in the northern part of the state.

"I know nothing whatever about these cabbage worms," Dr. McCandless said yesterday, "and the report from Gainesville that I have analyzed them and pronounced them violently poisonous is wholly unfounded and untrue. I cannot imagine how such a story originated. No such matter has ever been referred to me. I have never seen one of the animals that is said to be doing the damage, nor has anybody ever suggested that I make an examination of any infected cabbages, so far as I am aware. In fact, I have had nothing whatever to do with the matter, have never heard of it before, and cannot understand how I could be connected with it."

The story in question came from Gainesville and stated that after examining one of these infected cabbages the state chemist had "reported that there was enough poison in the thing to kill fifteen persons."

One of these cabbage worms was sent to the department of agriculture from Hall county several days ago, but it was referred to State Entomologist Newell, along with the letter accompanying it, and not to the state chemist as the inference seems to have been. Mr. Newell examined the thing and wrote a letter to Hall county, but it did not contain anything to justify such an opinion as was attributed to the state chemist. Mr. Newell stated that the worm was the common "eel worm," or "hair worm," that it was parasitic in its nature and akin to the tape worm and others of that class. He then went on to state that there was nothing dangerous about the insect, unless it should a parasite in the intestines of the person eating the cabbage containing it, just as the tape worm does. In any event he was satisfied that there was no danger of its producing death.

In order, however, to be thoroughly satisfied on the subject Mr. Newell has sent specimens of the worm to Washington for investigation and analysis, and he is now awaiting a report.

The finding of these worms in cabbages in north Georgia has caused no small amount of concern, and the people of many counties in that section have naturally scratched cabbage from the bill of fare, though, as is well known, it is one of the most important of country dishes. The report from Washington on the nature and character of the cabbage worm will be awaited with considerable interest.

NET CHANGES FOR MOST PART TRIVIAL

Failure of the Allegheny Bank Caused Scarcely a Ripple.

MARKET EASILY ADVANCED

The Late Reaction in the Market Was a 2 Point Drop in Copper, and the Close Was Steady With Losses Predominating.

New York, October 22.—The movement of prices of stocks today was again inconclusive, the net changes being for the most part trivial. Losses predominated at the end of the day, but the market had quite generally advanced in the face of early unfavorable developments. The suspension of an Allegheny bank, growing out of the failure yesterday of the Federal National bank of Pittsburg, caused scarcely a ripple in the market, although reports showed the continued necessity of precautionary measures at Pittsburg, such as refraining from trading in bank stocks and the provision of a $2,000,000 safety fund amongst the banks. London also affected this market unfavorably owing to a fresh outbreak of fears of war between Russia and Japan. The labor disputes on the Manhattan and the Pennsylvania railroad systems were under discussion in Wall street, but did not seem to be regarded in the trading. Dissatisfaction was expressed with the conditions in the coal trade growing out of a large accumulation of steam sizes of anthracite and the active competition thereby produced with the large production of bituminous coal for shipment to the seaboard. The latter traffic is reported to be in a semi-demoralized condition, and at the same time the assertion gained currency that the attorney general of Virginia contemplated a proceeding to contest the control by the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio. The effect of these developments was not more than nominal, and did not prevent an advance, which included representative stocks in most of the prominent groups, the coalers not excepted. The character of the market seemed to have changed so far that instead of selling stocks on every piece of good news, as has been the case recently, there was a disposition to buy stocks on unfavorable public announcements, thus arguing the tendency to accumulate stocks. The very broad and active bond market, which has showed progressive increase for several days past, afforded an example of the same tendency. With funds accumulating in reserves and a growing ease in the money market, there is no longer any expectation that high interest rates will be permanent, and on this assumption high grade bonds are attractive at the present level of prices. The special demands upon local money supplies by reason of the troubles at Baltimore and Pittsburg have not affected the ease of the local money market. One reason for the prevailing ease seems to be that the heavy railroad borrowings, expected to develop this fall, have not come into evidence. This is corroborative of the reports of curtailment in betterment work by the railroads, and is capable of an unfavorable interpretation. But it has served to ease the pressure on the money market. Deposits at the subtreasury today for transfer to New Orleans were $350,000, following the deposit for a similar purpose yesterday of $325,000. This is convincing evidence of a much freer movement of the cotton crop, which the very large port receipts of today also testify to. The prospect of the resulting larger supply of bills in the exchange market is viewed with satisfaction. The movement of funds to the west is still small, although New York exchange at Chicago fell to 15c discount today, compared with the recently prevailing premium. The principal factor of the late reaction of the market was the drop of nearly 2 points in Amalgamated Copper, which absorbed practically all of the attention in the market after the announcement of the decisions against it in the Montana litigation. The market closed steady.

The bond market was broad and strong. Total sales, par value, $2,632,000.

United States 3s and the new 4s advanced ¼ and the 2s and old 4s ⅛ per cent on the last call.

Money on call steady; lowest 1¾ per cent; highest 2½; ruling rate, last loan and closing bid 2½; offered at 2½; time money easy; 60 days 4 per cent; 90 days and six months 4½@4¾; prime mercantile paper 5½@5¾.

Atlanta Brokerage Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, October 22.—The stock market displayed considerable strength at times today and the firmness in most instances was ascribed to strong buying for the account of powerful factions. The Standard Oil Company was credited with buying St. Paul on an active scale, and there was a good demand in the loan crowd for St. Paul, Pennsylvania, New York Central and Canadian Pacific, showing that the short interest in these high-priced specialties was still of formidable proportions. The London market for Americans was dull and lower and the stocks offered from abroad by arbitrage houses are being taken by local interests. The financial disturbances in Pennsylvania and Lockport are without much effect on the more conservative interests, as for all of the failures which have occurred thus far, there has been a special cause, and under the circumstances in the absence of any general uncertain-

ANOTHER BANK GOES TO SMASH

First National of Allegheny, Pa., Closes Its Doors.

Pittsburg, Pa., October 22.—Early today Vice President R. J. Stoney, Jr., of the First national bank, of Allegheny, issued the following statement, after a meeting of the officers and directors with the clearing house committee of the Pittsburg Clearing House Association, which lasted from 8 o'clock last evening until this morning:

"Allegheny, October 21.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the First national bank, of Allegheny, held this evening, October 21, 1903, it was resolved that, although the bank has ample assets to pay all of its depositors in full and leave a handsome surplus for the shareholders, yet its supposed connection with the Federal national bank, of Pittsburg, has created wide distrust and caused a run on this bank to such an extent that we feel it to be our duty to place the bank in voluntary liquidation, and the officers of the bank and directors have decided to make application to the comptroller of the currency to take necessary steps to accomplish this purpose.

"JOHN THOMPSON, President."

The First national bank, of Allegheny, was organized in January, 1864, and has a capital stock of $350,000, a surplus of $100,000 and undivided profits of $34,871. The directors of the bank are connected with some of the most important plants of Allegheny.

Many rumors during the past few days have connected the bank with the Federal, and for two days people have demanded their deposits after learning of the condition of the Pittsburg institution. The clearing house combination bankers have a very sanguine opinion of the general situation, but the two banks so unfortunate at this time were found to be beyond immediate reach of aid, although both are inclined to be solvent and in good condition. The correspondents are: New York, National Park bank; Philadelphia, First national; Chicago, First national.

ty, it would appear that the optimists have good reasons for pushing their claims. The conditions of influence, including the monetary situation and the trade statistics were given considerable attention and had some effect on sentiment, and the shorts displayed considerable uneasiness. But the market displayed considerable recuperative power, and the offerings were readily absorbed. The market for outside securities was on a limited scale, and the demand for bonds was not quite as active as heretofore. The market for governments was quiet, with a good demand for the better class of high dividend paying bonds.

Cothran & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, October 22.—The market was feverish and unsettled today, but on the whole the tone was firm and prices well supported. Copper was a feature advancing to 38⅝, selling down to [illegible] on Clancy's decision and rallying after its announcement. Unfavorable rumors were in circulation and met with denial, but the failure of a business concern at Annapolis, with liabilities of $400,000, was announced. The advance in the standard railroad shares prevented the development of bearish feeling or any selling movement, but as the uncertainty regarding the relation of Amalgamated to the Boston and Montana company has not been removed the feeling in the last hour was very much mixed. A majority of traders look for lower prices, but for no break, owing to the strong support which the market is receiving from banking interests. Pig iron prices were reduced from 25c to 50c a ton and work at the Superior Iron Mines has been curtailed. We look for an irregular and unsettled market tomorrow.

Baxter & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, October 22.—Today was extremely irregular and passed through alternate phases of strength and weakness. The full faction wholly ignored the Pennsylvania bank failure. Reassuring advices again were received from Pittsburg, and the institution itself was not large enough to excite particular anxiety. Prices advanced about 1 to 1½ per cent, with some issues scoring larger amounts. People's Gas went up ½, Jersey Central gained 2, Louisville and Nashville 1½, and Rock Island preferred 3 per cent. London's trading was without much significance, but commission house business flattened out considerably. In the early afternoon the market became dull and showed a sagging tendency. For the time speculation halted till the decision announced adverse to the Copper Company, and there was temporary weakness in that stock, but the list later rallied to best points of the day. In the late dealings Copper developed fresh weakness, selling at a price 2½ under best figures of the day. This induced selling in the general list. St. Paul showed an advancing tendency just before the close, and this helped the market, but the closing tone was irregular and unsettled with weakness very pronounced in New York Central, Tennessee Coal and Iron, Baltimore and Ohio, Louisville and Nashville, Union Pacific, Car Foundry preferred, Sugar, Copper, Missouri Pacific, and a few others.

The Howell Jones Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, October 22.—Gains predominated in the opening dealings in stocks, which were on a smaller scale than usual. Considerable strength was displayed at times, the firmness being attributed generally to strong buying for the account of powerful factions. London was dull and lower for American, but the stocks offered through arbitrage houses were readily taken by local interests. The Pittsburg and Lockport, Ills., financial disturbances had little or no effect on sentiment. Railroad earnings, trade statistics and the monetary situation were regarded favorably. Decisions against the Amalgamated Copper Company affected sentiment to a certain extent and caused considerable selling, but considerable recuperative power was shown and a fairly good undertone was noted during the greater portion of the day. The close was dull but steady.

The Metal Market.

New York, October 22.—Spot tin advanced 15s in London at £116 15s and futures were unchanged at £117 7s 6d. Locally steady at 25.87 1-2@26.12 1-2.

Copper advanced 2s 6d in London, spot closing at £54 17s 6d and futures at £54 13s 9d. Locally quiet; lake 13@13.12 1-2; electrolytic 13; casting 12.62 1-2.

Lead advanced 1s 3d to £11 2s 6d in London, but was unchanged here at 4.50.

Spelter closed at £20 12s 6d in London, 2s 6d higher. Locally firm at 6.12 1-2.

Iron closed at 49s 3d in Glasgow and at 42s 9d in Middlesboro. Locally slightly lower on some grades. No 1 foundry, northern, $15.50@16; No. 2 do. $15@15.50; No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1, do. soft, $14.75@15.25.

St. Louis, October 22.—Lead dull at $4.25. Spelter quiet at $5.45.

Atlanta Brokerage Co.'s Cotton Letter

New York, October 22.—Cotton futures in the cotton market opened easy in tone with first prices at a decline of 5 points to unchanged. The irregularity was the result of rather indifferent cables and reports of improved climatic conditions in the belt. There was also prospects for larger receipts and developments of this character discouraged buying. But the cotton coming out was readily taken by professional shorts. The advancing tendency was accompanied by increased activity and shorts became nervous and covered on a liberal scale. The late Liverpool cables announced a recovery from the early weakness, and this put the bulls on a better footing from the future development of the market. Private advices from various sections of the belt were bullish and in this fashion the bulls were somewhat exultant, but the bears sold their cotton regardless of prospects. The consumption is at its highest point, and the cotton mills are buying all the cotton they can get. Spot markets today were firm in tone under a fair demand and the receipts were figured at 45,000. The close was steady with prices very well maintained.

A Good Fourth Ward Corner.

We have a corner lot fronting 100 feet on Fort street, between Decatur and Edgewood avenue, occupied at present by a 2-room house.

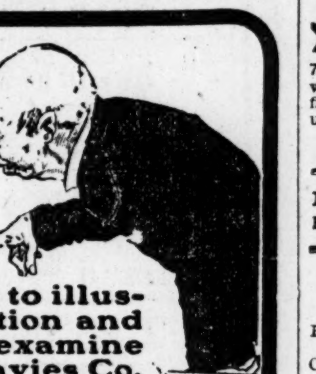

This is one of the best renting sections in Atlanta for negro tenants. It is just the lot for three double negro houses which rent at $7.50 a side.

We can sell this lot for $1,200. Built up in double houses it would represent an outlay of $3,300, which would yield an income of $45 a month, or over 16 per cent on the investment.

This proposition may not appeal to any one who is making 16 per cent with his money; but to any one who has 3 per cent money lying in a bank it ought to furnish abundant food for thought.

Bruce, Jones & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, October 22.—The cotton market in most respects today was a repetition of that of yesterday and several days previous. Liverpool came in 4 points lower, but immediate cables told of the recovery of this loss and closing which was 5 points up from the opening. American market opened 1 to 6 points lower, remaining practically steady around opening level for the first two hours, then advanced 17 points, carrying May to 10.01, and July to 10c. Profit taking took off 7 to 8 points of the advance, the market closing steady at an advance for the day of 10 points. Weather as a rule continues favorable, but receipts are not as heavy as looked for, ports today being only 46,000, against 44,741. Notwithstanding the apparent strength of the market, we think sales around present level will show some profits, but we would hesitate to go short permanently.

New Orleans, October 22.—Sugar quiet; open kettle centrifugal 3 1-8@3 1-2; centrifugal whites 4 1-4; yellow new crop 4; seconds 2@3 1-4. New cane sirup higher at 35. Molasses dull; centrifugal 5@18.

Baxter & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 22.—Despite the good rise of the past few days, cotton showed greater strength in the early market than was expected. The news from Liverpool was not encouraging at the start, but after a while prices became steady and the result was an opening here of only 2 to 3 points decline. The weather news was of no special importance, but the large majority of crop accounts continued bullish, and in most cases decidedly so. It is evidently decided that a short crop will be made, and the fact is now realized. It follows that the market will feel the effects from now on of the spot demand. This has been very active for some days and accounts of the rise if continued futures will further advance, as spinners cannot fail to see, as the season advances, that not enough cotton will be made to meet consumption. New York rose sharply near noon. Everything favored buying. New Orleans was active in bulling and receipts of the day were but 46,000, against 44,000 last year. Shorts were growing more nervous, and those who estimated no injury by the freeze of Monday were fearful of another cold snap as a result of colder weather indicated for tonight. Liverpool gained 10 to 22 points and closed firm. Our ware house stock fell to the small figures of 50,000.

Foreign Finances.

WANTED!

A Lumberman, experienced in all departments, to take active charge of a large Lumber Plant. Would sell a half interest in the business to right party. To a capable party, without money, would pay a handsome salary and give an interest in the profits. Address "D," Care Atlanta Constitution.

CLEARANCE SALE.

In consequence of having to rebuild and give my 95 Whitehall street store a general overhauling, for which plans and specifications are now in the hands of an architect, I will begin to sell at 7 West Mitchell street in a few days, regardless of profits, sale to continue until all are sold, a large lot of goods such as every family needs, consisting partly of bowls and pitchers, odd bowls or basins, white granite water pitchers, coffee mills, block tin dish pans, coffee pots, sugar bowls, tin wash basins and lots of other goods too numerous to mention here. In the meantime my beer, wine and liquor trade will be continued at 95 Whitehall street, except I may have to ask the honorable mayor and council to temporarily allow me to move to 7 Mitchell street during the progress of the work.

PETER LYNCH.
